Meeting hears candidates, taperecorder

By VINCENT DURANT

Four of the five candidates in the upcoming provincial election for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough attended the all-candidates meeting held in Cooper last Wednesday evening. The fifth, the sitting member for the riding, progressive conservative candidate Clarke Rollins, sent a Sony taperecorder to speak for him.

The taperecording was of Mr. Rollins' question and answer session with officials of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited during the March 16 meeting held at Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc to discuss the possible use of Mount Moriah, just north of Cooper, as a site for the disposal of nuclear waste.

To operate the recording device, and answer any questions from the audience, Mr. Rollins sent his associate Carl Reid.

However, to the most-often asked question: "Where is Mr. Rollins, since he cannot attend this meeting?", Mr. Reid answered that he did not know.

He did say that he felt that Mr. Rollins was opposed to the site for nuclear waste disposal being located in the Madoc area. He said that Mr. Rollins had taken the officials' (of A.E.C.L.) word for it when they told him that no further exploration within the Mount Moriah area would be undertaken without the prior consent of the both levels (provincial and federal) of government.

When asked why Mr. Rollins would accept the word of two civil servants who had nothing to do with the political decision on the Mt. Moriah question, Mr. Reid said: "don't you believe anybody?" Under pressure on the issue of Mt. Moriah and where Mr. Rollins stands on the matter, Mr. Reid said, "When he (Mr. Rollins) left the stage that night (March 16)...he considered the matter was closed...I personally don't think he's done a great deal on it since."

He then went on to say of Mr. Rollins, "...maybe he's being naive."

Unfortunately, the tape which Mr. Rollins had sent to the meeting was not clearly heard by the audience. During the playing of the tape a local Citizen's Band radio transmission was picked up by the recording machine, with the result that Mr. Rollins statements were several times interrupted by C.B. communications.

The other four candidates at the Cooper meeting were opposed to the proliferation of nuclear energy development on the part of the Canadian and Ontario governments.

Bill Hawthorne, Jr., who is the only independent candidate in the riding, talked more of water than nuclear pollution during his speech to the 39 local residents present for the candidates' debate.

"My campaign is based on clear water," said Mr. Hawthorne, in stating the platform on which he hopes to garner votes in the June 9 election.

"I've dealt with the Environment Minister since 1969," he said; and then went on to produce the first of nine lawyers' letters which he proposes to release to the press during the remaining days of the campaign. Each apparently shows that the Ontario government knew about the water pollution problems in Moira lake and, according to Hawthorne, did nothing about it.

Gary Beamish, the Social Credit candidate in the campaign, said that he felt the government should have a referendum on the question of whether or not to locate a nuclear disposal site at Mt. Moriah.

Admitting that he had not come prepared to discuss nuclear energy, Mr. Beamish said that he felt that under a responsive government, the elected officials should follow the will of the people. He called for the election of a more responsive government.

Mr. Beamish relinquished part of his speaking time to his party's leader, Mr. Reg Gervais, who said: "In 1963 Mr. Couette (then the head of the Social Credit party of Canada) defeated Mr. Diefenbaker (the then Prime Minister) on that subject (nuclear energy). If you'd listened to Mr. Couette, we wouldn't be here discussing it tonight."

The next speaker to be heard from, NDP candidate Elmer Buchanan, lashed out at the present government in Ontario. "The Davis government like corporations better than it likes people," he said.

In talking of the proposed site for nuclear disposal, he said he felt that the government had already made a decision. "The only thing they haven't decided to do is tell the truth," he said.

On the subject of the industrial waste which has caused pollution of the rivers and lakes of Ontario, Mr. Buchanan said that "an N.D.P. government would impose fines, real fines...not just a license fee to continue polluting."

He went on to say that if the Davis government is returned to power in the June 9 election the people of Ontario would experience more waste and squandering of natural resources in the future; "and more shameful treatment of...senior citizens." He did not elaborate on his last statement about the shameful treatment of senior

Man found guilty of 1976 bombing

Edmund Alexander Ray of Bannockburn was found guilty May 16 of charges arising out of a bombing incident in October, 1976 in Millbridge. Ray was found guilty of setting a bomb in a mailbox and another in a car. The car bomb was successfully defused before it could go off. He was also found guilty of possession of an explosive device for unlawful purposes.

Ray is currently being held by the Ontario Provincial Police pending sentencing on June 13.

Jack Booth has worked long hours getting everything in top condition for the opening of the 1977 lawn bowling season in Madoc. In the above photo Jack is shown putting the finishing touches on the bowling green in preparation for this week's opening of the season.

Lawn bowling to get underway

After much hard work on the part of the grounds-keeper, Jack Booth, and with the fine co-operation from the warm spring weather, things are looking pretty good for Madoc's upcoming lawn bowling season.

The club, which boasts 35 members, will be opening this week.

President of the club for this year, Percy Locke, would like to see the membership increase, especially among the younger people of Madoc.

Mr. Locke doesn't see any problem in having enough bowls (the equivalent of bowling balls in regular alley bowling) to go around for prospective new members. "There's maybe half a dozen sets (of bowls) down there," he said. "As far as new members go, we'd have enough bowls alright."

On the question of which night new members or people interested in learning how to lawn bowl should show up, Mr. Locke said, "if we knew they were coming on a Wednesday night or a Friday night, rather than a bowling night, ... and somebody showed them how to bowl, they'd soon start to get a kick out of it."

He said that Tuesday and Thursday nights are reserved for team bowling, and new members would likely not get the special attention they need in order to learn the rudiments of the game if they chose to come on either of these nights. "You've got to get a little instruction on it," he said, in talking of learning the game.

Besides Mr. Locke, the executive of the Madoc Lawn Bowling Club for this year consists of Carl Whitmore, Vice President; Mrs. Dr. Beatty, Secretary; and Mrs. Roswald Dafeo, Treasurer.

The club house for the Lawn Bowling Club, located next to Trinity United Church on St. Lawrence Street, is used as a Senior Citizens' drop-in centre during the daytime in the summer. It has kitchen facilities, tables and chairs, and serves as a gathering spot for people out shopping or out for a walk.

This year Mr. Locke would like to see renovations made to the lighting system at the Lawn Bowling Club to improve night playing there.

The current lighting system is old and, according to Mr. Locke, breaks down quite often.

"We've got to do something with the lights," he said.

He went on to say that they have been looking into the possibility of getting some lights out of the old arena for use at the club.

"We haven't got a lot of wealthy members," he said. "We can get a grant (from the Ontario Government). But to get a grant, you've got to put up a dollar for their dollar. And so, to get into it in a big way, well, I don't think we've got enough money. But if we could get those (arena) lights ... if they lit that arena, they ought to light the bowling green!"

Man charged

Second-degree murder charges were laid against a Stoney Creek man last Thursday in connection with the stabbing death of his brother on May 21.

Charged by Ontario Provincial Police was Gerald Douglas Arnott, 28, of Stoney Creek.

The incident, in which James Arnott, 30, received several stab wounds to the chest and back, occurred at a cottage on Lake Skootamatta, police said.

Hungerford man dies of injuries

A Hungerford man injured in a farm accident on Sunday, May 15, died two days later in the Belleville General Hospital.

Ronald Hagerman, 43, of Roslin, had been admitted to the Intensive Care Unit of the hospital following an accident on the farm of Harry Sayers, Lot 1, Con. 1, Hungerford Township, in which a truck in which he was driving went into a 12-foot sand pit.

Also injured in the accident, and still in the Belleville Hospital, was Harold Geen, 50, who is reported in satisfactory condition. Mr. Geen suffered an injured left elbow, abdominal injuries and lacerations. Besides his wife Helen, Mr. Hagerman is survived by his two sons, Roger and Brian.

Dear Editor:

The feature article of the New York Times Magazine last April 10 reviewed the appalling history of the nuclear recycling plant at West Valley, New York. I had heard of some of the individual incidents at this facility over the years of its operation, but had no idea of the enormity of the personal and economic losses. As I read the chronicle of dangerous errors and failures, and especially of the estimate of a billion dollars to "decommission the plant and clean up the mess", I could think of only one good thing about the whole affair. At least, I thought, it is a decisive lesson. Surely no one would now dream of repeating New York's mistake.

Apparently I was wrong. Only a few days after reading the Times article I spoke to someone who had visited mutual friends near Madoc. She had not read the article in the Times, but described what seemed to be another West Valley being planned for Hastings County. When I arrived here last week to ready my cottage for the summer I learned that it is indeed true that an area north of Madoc is being considered as a site for a major nuclear fuel centre with waste disposal and plutonium extraction.

It is difficult for me to imagine how the experience of others might be disregarded on so important a matter. Perhaps the full disclosure of the failures at West Valley is too recent to have had full effect, but failure is the general rule at other such installations, as the Times article points out. Sooner or later, nuclear fuel recycling turns out to be bad news for the affected communities. The reason, as the Times article so clearly shows, is that "even the best planning and administration available could not cope with ordinary lapses in human judgment". The idea that nuclear recycling in Ontario would somehow be different is unrealistic. It will do no good for designers of a new facility merely to take note of the errors of the past and take pains not to repeat them. Every new facility as enormously complex as a nuclear waste recycling plant will invent a long list of new kinds of accidents and failures. The only past mistake that can profitably be avoided is the building of such a facility.

I doubt that Hastings County would have to wait as long as West Valley to feel economic loss. What tourist will want to spend his meagre vacation time in the shadow of a plutonium extractor, when he is perfectly free to go elsewhere? Those who might be inclined to sail on Moira Lake or fish in the Black River may remember Cattaraugus Creek and head for less suspect waters. It would seem that the Skootamata, on which my property lies, is less likely to be affected, but if I had known in 1969 when I bought the land that a major nuclear installation might be built within fifteen miles I would have bought elsewhere.

I hope that residents of this area will inform themselves about nuclear energy in general and about plutonium problems in particular, and that they will insist that their elected officials do all they can to avoid another West Valley in this county. I hope that they will be able to retain the charming and wholesome surroundings that my family and I have enjoyed so much every summer for the past eight years.

Dear Editor:

The national board of the Canadian Postmasters and Assistants Association has asked me to compile the history of our organization.

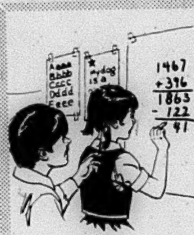

For this reason, I am asking your readers to contribute items of interest such as amusing anecdotes, photographs, clippings of important postal events, and stories from the pioneer days of mail handling in Canada. I am especially interested in hearing from past and present members of the C.P.A.A. and their families.

All material will be acknowledged on arrival and a receipt issued. It will then be returned to the contributor as quickly as possible.

Thanking you for your assistance, I am,

From the Inside Looking Out

A few weeks ago I sat with a group of school principals and studied a chart which covered a large section of a classroom wall. The heading at the top read "Learning Outcomes - Mathematics, Grades 1 to 6."

At that moment I wished that I could have had one hundred or more parents sitting there with me and studying that document. They would have been pleased.

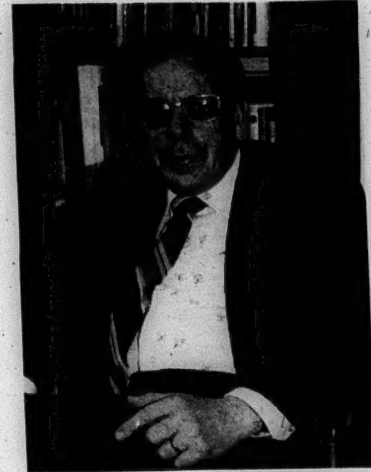

In my last column I spoke about Learning Outcomes as a thrust in Hastings County education designed to get back to basics in the best sense. The goals: state clearly what the student is expected to know or do, set a standard of achievement and measure how well the student meets that standard.

It occurred to me, as I looked at the chart that all those parents would be delighted. There in very carefully worded statements were the skills and knowledge a student would need to know in Mathematics to the end of Grade 6.

One important distinction must be made clear. This knowledge and these skills are not expressed in terms of what a teacher would teach, but in terms of what the student would learn as a result of his experience.

In doing this we have added another important element to our new approach. We have challenged the teacher at the key point in his work. For him or her the question becomes not "did I teach the student?" but "did the student learn?" Student achievement, carefully planned and carefully measured becomes the all important standard by which we measure the success of both the student and the teacher.

It is a long way from mathematics, Grades 1 to 6 to Learning Outcomes for grades 1 to 13 in all subjects and all skills which are part of our educational program in today's Hastings County Schools. But all over the groups of teachers are getting together to work on Learning Outcomes. All over the county they are testing them in the classroom. All over the county groups of teachers are sharing what they have learned. Already there is good reason to believe that out of this new commitment there is emerging a better education for our children.

One extra word. Sometimes parents feel that as June approaches and the days get warmer and school is coming to an end that attendance of their children is not important. The opposite is so often true. These last critical weeks before final evaluation are often crucial. Good attendance is more important than ever.

CHSS Army Cadets hold inspection in Belleville

Twenty-five army cadets from Centre Hastings Secondary School took part in an annual inspection held in the Belleville Armouries last Sunday.

The Cadets, members of the Cadet Corps 385, Madoc, were accompanied to the inspection by their instructors, Captain James Thompson and Lieutenant Robert Johnson.

The inspection, which was combined with that of the members of Cadet Corps 2818, Belleville, included several demonstrations by the cadets.

The CHSS cadets were called upon to give a demonstration of first aid and casualty evacuation, section tactics and took part in several displays set up for the large audience of family and friends of the cadets on hand for the ceremony.

The inspecting officer for the afternoon's parade was MPP Hugh O'Neill, the liberal member of the riding of Quinte in the provincial legislature.

In addressing the assembled cadets, Mr. O'Neal spoke highly of the record achieved by the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in the two World Wars.

He went on to say that he would encourage young people to join Army Cadets because, "it fosters enthusiasm and gives responsibility to youth."

Also on hand for the ceremonies was Jack Ellis, MP Hastings.

Following the demonstrations by the

PRINCIPLES

1. Freedom can be sustained only in a society without discrimination based on race, colour, sex or creed. It can best be preserved in a society committed to justice and the rule of law and to democratic institutions based upon the British Parliamentary System.
2. Fairness and equality of opportunity can be guaranteed only by a government prepared to ensure that power is not used unfairly by any group in society, including government itself.
3. Real freedom can be achieved and maintained only when government is prepared to limit its own growth, power and costs.
4. The strength, prosperity and unity of all Canada is vital to the future well-being of all the people of Ontario. The preservation of that unity is Ontario's primary national goal.
5. In a fair and free society, government must delineate and protect the following rights of the individual:
  - a. The right to build a secure future for one's self and one's family.
  - b. The right to seek and earn fair wages.
  - c. The right to seek and earn fair profits and fees.
  - d. The right to work in peace and safety.
  - e. The right to be protected from unfair or unlawful practices in the market place or the labour force.
  - f. The right to a fair and equitable tax system.
  - g. The right to pursue personal fulfillment, growth and self-improvement.

COMMITMENTS

The Progressive Conservative Government of Ontario affirms its commitment to each of the following tasks.

1. A commitment to a target of one hundred thousand new jobs each year for the next decade.
2. A commitment to the continued security of food supply for all Ontarians. This is to be achieved through: the preservation of farmland; increased per-acre production; effective marketing of surplus agricultural exports and continued support for the farming community.
3. A commitment to a target of 900,000 housing starts over the next ten years in Ontario.

We affirm that the Progressive Conservative Government will uphold these principles and commitments as a guarantee of personal freedom, economic security, and stability in Ontario. We affirm our belief that social justice for all can be assured only through dedication to high quality programs of health and education that serve all with competence, equity, effectiveness and affordability.

how a Progressive Conservative Government will lead Ontario in the years immediately ahead.

I believe it reflects an understanding of the way of life and the human needs and aspirations of people throughout this Province. It provides a plan to keep Ontario strong and dynamic—a place in which the need to preserve the best of the past is balanced with the need for future growth.

The Progressive Conservative Party is committed to these goals. I ask you to join with me in translating this Charter into action by voting Progressive Conservative on June 9th."

The next speaker in the candidates' portion of the meeting was liberal candidate Dave Hobson.

He outlined what he saw as a psychology of growth in nuclear power since World War II, with Canada competing with other nations in the field.

He said he sees the present government as being unwilling to now withdraw from the race for the development of more and more sophisticated nuclear technology.

However, he said in speaking of what he saw as the need to break away from the current road to greater development of nuclear power generation plants, "somebody has to do it."

Mr. Hobson saw as part of the current energy problem the fact that, in his opinion, Ontario Hydro has oversold water power. He said that the crown agency of the Ontario government sold off much of its water power resources to the Americans, and now must turn to nuclear power as a short-term solution to Ontario's energy shortage.

"Ontario Hydro didn't plan well at all", he said.

As an alternative to the course of action being proposed by the Davis Government, nuclear energy, Mr. Hobson offered the suggestion that small, water-powered generating stations be set up on the rivers of Ontario. He also suggested that greater use be made of solar generating stations, and that costs of alternate sources of energy be made tax deductible to give people more incentive to seek such alternative methods of generating power.

Following the speech by Mr. Hobson, Carl Reid, an associate of Clarke Rollins, played a tape recorded address to the audience.

The tape recording was made the night of March 16, and involved the question and answer session which Mr. Rollins had with officials of Atomic Energy of Canada during their address to the people of Madoc at Centre Hastings Secondary School.

At that meeting Mr. Rollins had received assurances from A.E.C.L. that nothing further would be done in the area of Mount Moriah until both levels of government, federal and provincial, had had consultative discussions on the matter.

Following the speeches by the candidates, the floor was opened to questions from the public.

A number of people wanted to know why Mr. Rollins could not come out to meet his electorate. To this Mr. Reid answered that Mr. Rollins' schedule was booked solid, and had been for the previous four weeks;

William Hawthorne, Jr. speaks to the crowd during the all-candidates meeting held in Cooper last Wednesday evening. Mr. Hawthorne is the only independent candidate in the campaign for the provincial riding of Hastings-Peterborough in the June 9 election. To the right of Mr. Hawthorne are Dave Hobson, Liberal

thus giving him no opportunity to schedule any all-candidates meetings.

Next came a question by Mr. Hobson, asking whether Mr. Rollins knew that supposedly the two levels of government had already gotten together on the question of the location of a nuclear waste disposal site in Ontario. Specifically, Hobson referred to a recent article in the Toronto Star dealing with a 'secret' communique between Ross Campbell of AECL and Ontario Hydro, and stated that the ground rules under which the promise was made to Mr. Rollins by AECL had now changed.

Mr. Reid stated that he did not know whether Mr. Rollins knew about that, which led Maurice Goulah, one of the area residents in the crowd, to suggest that perhaps Premier Davis would know about it "when he comes to Madoc on June 4 for his dish of strawberries."

"Why don't you ask him, then," Mr. Reid retorted.

Monty Dennis, another local resident, wanted to know whether Mr. Rollins would be attending the Stirling candidates meeting, or any others which may be scheduled during the campaign.

"No," replied Mr. Reid.

Mr. Dennis then questioned whether democracy was not being seriously eroded by the fact that the sitting member would not come out to meet with the people on issues of importance to them.

Mr. Reid replied that he thought a sign that democracy was working was the fact that the Porter Royal Commission of the Ontario government had given a grant to the Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution (CORG) to assist them in presenting a brief on nuclear waste disposal.

To this Ron Vastokas, the chairman of CORG and a resident of Queensboro, stated that, although the commission had given $2500 to aid in the study, the files of AECL were still not open for scrutiny to either CORG or the public.

He cited this as an example of less-than-adequate democracy, and said that under the present system it is apparent, with regards to the people of Ontario, "that their rights are not fully advanced."

Public Forum

Educational Television can be, and is, an effective way to provide learning opportunities to residents of rural communities who have neither the time nor the money to go off to expensive schools and colleges.

There are two important considerations: - Since everyone's tax dollar foots the bill for educational TV, all communities must have equal access to the benefits. - Local communities must have a say about the programming.

Car wash held to raise funds

In the first money-raising venture to be undertaken by the Madoc and District Kinsmen Club since they became chartered in April, $129.50 was raised last Saturday at a car wash held at Kramp's BP gas station.

The car wash, however, took a back seat to the other features designed to occupy customers' time while their automobiles were having a bath.

One such feature was the opportunity to throw softballs at a target in an attempt to dunk Kinsman Bob Ash into a tank of water. Needless to say, this became a favorite pastime for not only customers, but Bob's fellow Kinsmen as well.

The money raised from the car wash will go towards Kinsmen community-support programs.

A ring buoy should be available at your pool or dock. Learn to throw it properly; then practice.

Couple celebrates anniversary

By Mrs. Frank Meeks

On Friday evening, April 22, 1977, a surprise 41st Wedding Anniversary party was held at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Bert Stein, Denbigh.

Mrs. Stein is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. George Sallans of Vennacher and Bert is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Robert Stein of Denbigh. The couple were married on April 22, 1936 at the United Church Manse at Denbigh. Rev. Ogden was the officiating clergyman and the attendants were Louise Stein and William Liedtke. Both were able to attend the celebration.

The couple have two children, Leonard of Ottawa, and Kathleen (Mrs. Manfred Keller) of Denbigh, and four grandchildren.

Bert owns and operates a saw mill at Denbigh where the couple has lived all of their married life.

The Steins were presented with a gift of money, and several other beautiful gifts, which they will always treasure.

There were 41 relatives in attendance, who came from Schutt, Harwood Lake, Belleville, Corbyville, Roblin, Pembroke, Eldorado and Denbigh.

The room was decorated with white and pink streamers and bells. A two-tier wedding cake, which was decorated for the occasion with the number 41 on it, sat in the center of the table.

The highest loser for the month was also a tie, between Irene Martin and Helene Reid, both girls received a beautiful polyester rose for their determination and will-power. They will have to divide the time for wearing the crown in half to give each girl a chance to wear this beautiful piece of jewellery.

The meeting closed with the girls repeating their pledge.

Come to Church this Sunday

Rev. EVERETT HAWKES
St. Peter's Presbyterian Church

During the past seven years, since my arrival in Madoc, the village of Madoc has seen many changes. People have died or left for other places. Businesses have closed while others have opened. Buildings have been torn down and others erected. Several ministers have left and others have taken their places. There have been changes in the Village Council, changes in the staffs of both the Secondary School and Public School. A new arena now serves the Village and its surroundings.

Doubtless other changes are on the horizon. While the imminent closing of the Marmoraton Mine will have its effect, the opening of new businesses in the Belleville area will probably easily compensate in the number of job opportunities — though not necessarily for the same people.

Madoc will also be affected in the near future, as it has been affected in the past, by its involvement in the changes which occur on the Provincial, National and world-wide level, i.e. changes in government policy such as education, changes in communications and travel, changes in social and religious attitudes.

As I take this opportunity, given by the Madoc Review and the Madoc and District Ministerial, to express my appreciation to the people of Madoc (both within my own congregation and by others having no connection with it), for their friendship and many expressions of kindness and good will, I wish to share with you a single thought regarding change.

Change is not to be feared, but it is to be respected — especially as it affects our religious life — our relationship with God. Our adjustments to change are not always successful. As the village of Madoc steps forward into the future I pray that the people of the Village as a whole, and particularly the constituency of the various churches, will meet the impending changes never forgetting the kindly admonition of our Lord, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." If you and I steadfastly remember that our chief treasure is at God's side, then the changes which may sweep over the world and over Madoc need not disturb that most precious of all treasures — our relationship with God.

Mr. Tom Quinn, of Stoco, was also a guest. ## Cooper meeting fails to satisfy residents' expectations

"We've called this meeting because of Mount Moriah."

With these words Mrs. Jean Bailey, chairperson for the evening, kicked off what was to become a very lively, and sometimes heated, all-candidates debate in Cooper last Wednesday evening.

The meeting, to which were invited all of the candidates vying for the provincial riding of Hastings-Peterborough in the upcoming June 9th election, was held in the Cooper Meeting Hall.

Once before this hall had echoed with the voices of area residents seeking solutions to what many believe is a 'fait accompli' on the part of the Federal and Provincial governments in putting a nuclear disposal site at nearby Mount Moriah.

And, just as that previous meeting, held on April 5 of this year, accomplished nothing concrete; so too did last Wednesday's meeting leave many of the 39 local residents in attendance bewildered.

"What have we learned about nuclear waste", asked one such resident at the conclusion of the meeting. She went on to say that she had hoped to gain some knowledge at the meeting, but was disenchanted by all the double-talk and political rhetoric which she had heard.

Indeed, three of the four candidates who turned out for the meeting expressed surprise at the statement by the meeting's chairperson that the meeting was "called to discuss the dispersal site and what we can do to prevent it being here (at Mt. Moriah)."

Apparently the meeting's organizers had told local residents that they would be attending a meeting to discuss with the candidates the issue of nuclear waste disposal and the impact which a disposal site would have on the Cooper area of Hastings County. The candidates, however, came prepared to discuss other issues of a more far-reaching nature.

Judging by the reaction of the crowd, the meeting seemed to fall far short of the expectations of most of the residents of the area.

cadets, awards were given out to those cadets who excelled during the past year. The awards given to the cadets from CHSS were as follows: the Kincaide Award for the best cadet was given to Frank Kelly and was presented by Mrs. Kincaid; the Legion's Leadership Award was presented to Wayne Blair by George Widdows, president of the Madoc Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion; Best in Ranks Award went to Roy Matachaskie, and was presented by Lt. Robert Johnson; Best Non-Commissioned Officer was awarded to Ron Adams by Capt. Thompson; Best Girl Cadet went to Tammy Adams, and was presented by Lt. Robert Johnson; Best Rifle Shot went to Wayne Blair, and was presented by George Widdows of the Legion; and the Most Improved Cadet Award was given to David Ross by Capt. Thompson.

Following the awards ceremony a certificate was presented to Capt. Thompson in appreciation for the work done by the CHSS Cadet Corps during the Trooping of the Colors for the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario in October, 1976. The certificate was presented to Capt. Thompson by Commanding Officer J.D. Iwing.

The Best Girl Army Cadet award was presented to Tammy Adams during the annual inspection of the CHSS Army Cadet Corps in Belleville last Sunday.

Queen's jubilee to be broadcast

History will be made on June 7 in more ways than one. The date marks the 25th anniversary of Queen Elizabeth II's accession to the throne. And the hour-long coverage of the Queen's Silver Jubilee Thanksgiving Service from St. Paul's Cathedral, London on CBC-FM at 7:20 a.m. will be the first ever stereo link across the Atlantic.

Describing the procession, the service and the music will be Tom Earle, who joined CBC News in 1953, and became CBC London correspondent in 1971. Earle, a veteran of Commonwealth affairs, will convey all the pomp and circumstance of this ceremonial occasion.

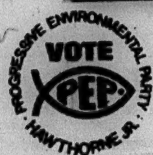

The June 7th Silver Jubilee Service will be integrated into CBC-FM's The Eric Friesen Show. In the last hour of this music and artsnews show on that date (9-10 a.m.) Donna MacDonald interviews the Master of the Queen's Music, Malcolm Williamson.

That same day, highlights of the Service will be heard on AM at 11:30 a.m. At 9:30 edt, there will be live coverage of Her Majesty's Message to the Commonwealth from the Guildhall in London. Both broadcasts will be incorporated into CBC Radio's Morningside.

Halfway house helps parolees in Peterborough area

Turning Point, a Peterborough halfway house for parolees from penitentiary, is living up to its name. Founded in 1975 with a $60,000 grant from the United Church, it is now helped by that church, other denominations, community organizations and concerned individuals.

Turning Point is making a difference whether a parolee returns to the community or to prison, says a report by Cobourg Presbytery of the United Church, presented at the Bay of Quinte Conference. Rev. Joseph Sullivan, a Roman Catholic priest and one of the project's current leaders, describes Turning Point as "a suffering community."

Parolees generally stay three to four months while establishing a new life style, making new friends and joining outside organizations. They are either placed in an institute of learning or advanced study, or helped to get work if that's what they prefer.

"They are subject to routine just as in prison, but they are finding their place in society," says Don Bailey, who helps run the house. A former prisoner himself, he helped start three homes in Winnipeg before moving to Peterborough.

Mike Provin, co-ordinator of parolees in Peterborough, says everyone released from federal institutions is supervised until expiration of parole. Turning Point increases the chances that parolees will make it in society, he adds.

It's fun to learn to swim the Red Cross Water Safety way. When you swim, swim with a buddy, never alone.

School students enjoy trip

On Friday, May 27, 280 excited youngsters with their teachers and supervising parents left Madoc Township Public School for the Metro Toronto Zoo.

Arriving at the zoo with only 2 minor mishaps, a lost bus and child and one-half hour to find each, everyone pressed eagerly forward.

They had free run of the park except for one appointment with the Canadian Domain Train Ride. This train takes you on a 25-minute excursion around the perimeter of the park to view our Canadian animals in their natural habitat. It was during this ride that the guide told them they were not in a "zoo", as such, but in a zoological park where animals are raised and housed according to their continent and in keeping their surroundings as natural as possible. A total of six miles of paved paths lets visitors wander all around this beautiful park to view all the animals.

Then the long walk started. First nearly everyone went to the African displays, as these animals are the ones the children are least likely to see.

What a treat was in store for all. The elephants were taking a bath. Totally submerged, they pushed and played and rolled on each other. In the same compound a mother hippopotamus was feeding her baby under water also.

Next they saw rhinoceros covered in mud, zebras, gibbons, leopards, lions and giraffes. These animals were either eating quietly or having their midday rest.

The fur seal was out in the open in large tanks but you could also go down the stairs and view them underneath the water. Much to the children's delight the seals playfully "attacked" the windows where the kids held up brightly coloured hats or scarves.

For the biggest treat of the day they Beverly and Leonard Holmes and family of Oshawa spent the weekend with her parents, Winnie and Allen Ketcheson and attended the Broadworth-Rollins wedding in Queensboro Church Saturday.

Alma and Minnie Moorcroft spent Victoria Day at Presqu'il with people friends and bird friends. The very unusual find was a Wilson's Phalarope; also one Dowitcher, seen occasionally along the shore.

On Tuesday evening Vera Burnside, Minnie and Alma Moorcroft attended a U.C.W. meeting in the Tweed area at the home of Vera's daughter Isabel Martin.

went inside the African Pavillion. There the gorillas put on a spectacular show. The children shrieked with laughter, as did teenagers and adults alike. Their antics were so human in that they showed off, pouted, bullied and generally tormented each other until one was provoked. Then the air was filled with vengeful cries as the chase was on, over and under the water, up the trees, around and through the rubber tires with no one seemingly getting hurt. They literally had to drag the children away to see the other exhibits including small crocodiles, a pigmy hippo and many beautiful African birds.

With time running short they went to the North American exhibits to see the polar bears. Again you could view them from on top or underneath. One young fellow was rolling on his back in the water cuddling a small rock while another was amusing visitors underneath the water at the windows.

Quickly they viewed. Eurasian animals such as a sleeping tiger and a blinking father tiger, shaggy two-humped camels and sleeping ostriches. Between 12:00 noon and 3 p.m. on a hot day is not the time to see active animals unless they have water in their compound!

Because time ran out they were unable to see the Australian exhibits and the kangaroos and the rest of the North and South American exhibits.

The children were very tired but enthusiastic as they turned eastward on the 401 Highway and started for home. They would like to go back sometime.

A very big thankyou to the parents who went along as supervisors, and whose help was so very much appreciated.

Ontario. The scholarships are based on a person's academic and social abilities. My science project and my position as head girl at school helped me win it I think," she said.

In the experiment she entered in the Canada-Wide fair this year, Jan may well have discovered a method of protecting plastics at high temperatures and over long periods of time. The project is currently undergoing patent, but requires two more years of research.

"Some people have told me, including a plastics corporation, that I might have a patentable plastic. But it is only undergoing patent now and there will have to be two more years of testing before a patent could appear. I'm very excited about it," she said.

She is also excited about the trip to California.

"Although I am involved in biology a lot, I also hope to study physics and chemistry. I'm looking forward to July because I will actually be able to see hundreds of people pursuing careers in science and I'll be able to see the types of experiments they are conducting. Just that will be a help because everything has happened so quickly I'm still a little stunned by it all," she said.

Jan's experiment last year concerned air impurities and human reflexes, but after watching a chemistry film at Centre Hastings Secondary School she conceived her plastics experiment. She conducted her laboratory research at Queen's University with the assistance and supervision of Dr. K.B. Russell.

"A few years ago, three United States astronauts died in a fire on the launch site and this accident was the catalyst for many people to step up research of the type Janet is doing. What is needed is a plastic that will resist high temperatures and Janet's future research could possibly be the key to finding a solution," said John Sandford, president of Canadian Admiral, an aeronautical engineer who headed the design team for the space shuttle before assuming his present duties.

The Canada-Wide Science Fair is the national final for hundreds of local and regional science fairs held across Canada. It is funded by the Youth Science Foundation, a non-profit organization in Ottawa.

"The primary objective of the Canada-Wide is to encourage Canadian youngsters to pursue careers in science and Janet's abilities prove that objective is very worthwhile," Sandford added.

In California the five students will visit the space shuttle, the first reusable space vehicle, prior to its first free flight and landing test. It will be carried aloft on the back of a 747 jet and jettisoned off to soar to a landing on a dry lake bed. Its first flight into space is scheduled for the early 1980's.

When the shuttle begins operating it will carry scientists and equipment to and from space and will open up space exploration and development.

The group will also tour Rockwell International micro-electronics laboratories and will visit Disneyland and Universal Studios. Three of the five students are from Calgary and other is from Sudbury, the site of next year's Canada-Wide fair.

Man injured in motorcycle crash

On Saturday, May 21, a Honda motorcycle went off the Stoco Road and crashed into the south ditch, causing $1,000 damage to the vehicle and sending its driver, James Louis Allore, to the Belleville General Hospital.

Allore, who told police that he swerved to miss a vehicle which was coming towards him on the wrong side of the road, suffered cuts and bruises to his head. He is from Belleville.

The vehicle which caused Allore to swerve and lose control of his motorcycle did not, according to him, stop at the time of the accident. A passing motorist took Allore to the B.G.H.

7th; the box of the 1950's and 1960's; a military ammunition box modified for emergency use in the 1945 election; and

[on top] the present box of lightweight plastic.

Ballot boxes and voting rules change

Make it simple, make it fair, make it efficient.

That's the approach of the Ontario Election Office to the mechanics of ensuring Ontario's approximately 5 million eligible voters get the best chance possible to exercise their franchise on June 9.

Ballots, ballot boxes, forms and voting rules -- they are the result of years of trial and error, study and improvement.

"The improvements we've made mean a fairer democratic process, and one more efficient and rational than ever before," says Roderick Lewis, Ontario's Chief Election Officer.

In Ontario's 31st general election on June 9, it is at the polling place that the voters get a glimpse of this aspect of Ontario's modern election system.

What they see as they cast their ballot, and the rules governing the process, are a long leap from even a generation ago.

For instance:

- a deputy returning officer will put the marked ballot into a box of lightweight plastic, of modern design, and capable of being strip sealed with tape. This compares with the heavy metal ballot boxes used a few years ago that resembled strong-boxes.

- In the voting compartments ensuring complete privacy, the voter will unfold a ballot that is easy to read and understand, simple to mark without spoiling the ballot and fair to all the candidates. That compares with ballots of previous years that could be confusing, and in some cases, unfair to candidates.

- As for rules, voters can use a pencil provided in the compartment or use their own pen or pencil. The vote counts so long as the mark - preferably an "X" - is made in the circle after one candidate's name. That sounds straightforward and not revolutionary. But it's a leap forward from the days when the use of a pen would cause rejection of a ballot, and when your mark on the form had to be a "cross". If it wasn't a cross of some kind, the vote often was thrown out and not counted.

"The evolution of ballot boxes, ballots and voting rules has been a slow process," says Mr. Lewis, who is working on his ninth general election.

The present ballot boxes date only from the 1971 election. Prior to that, Ontario relied on borrowed federal boxes plus some of its own.

This was a chancy arrangement, since a federal election could be called for the same period as an Ontario vote.

Mr. Lewis' father - Alex C. Lewis, Chief Election Officer from 1939 to 1954 - discovered just how chancy it was following the Second World War.

When federal and Ontario elections in 1954 almost coincided, Mr. Lewis had to make a rush purchase of military ammunition boxes from Ottawa, had them drilled with ballot slots, rivetted with clasps and equipped with locks.

In the late 1960's, the Ontario Election Office was set up on a permanent basis on Lombard Street, in downtown Toronto. For the first time, election material and equipment - including ballot boxes - had adequate storage.

"This made it possible for us to order our own ballot boxes and keep them from election to election, rather than trying to find storage space in the basement of the Parliament Buildings," Rod Lewis says.

It also eliminated lost and strayed boxes. "We used to find old boxes in local court houses around the province," Mr. Lewis says. "One time, we found 20 of them hidden behind a wall of a municipal building that was being demolished."

The heavy, safe-like, metal ballot boxes have given way to the present lightweight plastic boxes that can be stacked five together in cartons for shipping and storing.

Ballot boxes, once voting begins on election day, must be secured (locked and sealed) until votes are to be counted and must be secured again for transporting to returning officers for final, official vote counts. The safeguard on the present plastic box is a strip seal that can't peel off without destroying the seal. Workers in each polling place have two sets of seals - one sealing the box during the vote, another to seal it before delivery to the returning officer.

"The traditional metal and lock weren't necessary for ballot boxes," Mr. Lewis says. "They must only be able to stand up to wear and weather, and don't have to look like a burglar-proof safe."

The ballot, on which voters make their choices from among candidates, has undergone a substantial change too, along with the rules governing what is a "good" ballot - one that will count in the vote, and what is a "bad" one - a ballot that is marked improperly and will be rejected during the vote count.

The present ballot lists candidates alphabetically by surname - names numbered one, two, three and so on, to help voters who may be unfamiliar with the language to find their candidate. Candidate's names are printed so that they all line up on the right, flush against the circles (white circles against a black background) in which the voter makes his mark.

"This design, and all the experimentation that went into it over many years, isn't just a frivolous, fussy matter," Mr. Lewis points out.

"Voters must make a mark in the circle opposite the candidate of their choice. Before we lined up names flush against the circles, we were getting marks made in the black space following a short name. The present format is designed to be fair to candidates and of course ensure that the voter actually casts his vote as he intended to do."

Voters, entering a polling place on election day, are given a ballot - after a deputy returning officer and poll clerk have checked the name on the list of eligible voters. Within a small cardboard voting screen which ensures complete privacy, the voter marks the ballot preferably with an "X", hands the folded ballot to the deputy returning officer who drops it in the ballot box.

What happens if you inadvertently mark an "X" in a circle you didn't intend? The procedure is simple. Take the ballot to the deputy returning officer who will mark it "cancelled" and give you a new ballot form.

Radiation Kills

Avoid Radiation -
Vote For Dave Hobson

Dave Hobson was on your side at the Madoc Nuclear Meeting held to protest the proposed radiation dump site. This alone shows Dave Hobson's strong responsibility to the people. We need a strong responsible man to represent our needs. A vote for Dave Hobson is a vote against the Nuclear Dump site.

More cars than TV's

Householders own more cars than television sets, washers, dryers, or air conditioners and there are more than twice as many cars as houses in this country, according to the Automotive Information Council (AIC).

No other consumer product is as complicated or as misunderstood as the family car, a misunderstanding that sometimes leads to frustration when automotive service is involved.

A popular belief is that auto service is simply a matter of "take out the old part and put in a new one", much like replacing a tube in a television set. In truth the possible combinations of problem causes and solutions are so infinite that no two may be exactly the same.

Auto service involves three very important factors, according to AIC: vehicle complexity, necessary judgement decisions by the service technician and the vehicle owner.

Today's vehicles are extremely complex. The automobile has about 15,000 parts and more than five miles of electrical wiring. Many of its components and systems depend on inter-related parts to function properly, like the steering and suspension system, for example.

Further complicating auto service today are increasingly more sophisticated government-required emission control devices and safety equipment, plus popular consumer options like air conditioning, power steering and power brakes.

This doesn't include the special skills and knowledge required to service today's cars. For one technician to service your entire car, he would have to be an electrician, glass cutter, welder, air conditioning technician and radio repairman.

In addition to basic mechanical ability, he would require a knowledge of physics, chemistry, mathematics, hydraulics, as well as the knowledge he must have to use precision measuring tools to locate, diagnose and apply correct technical information to problem solving.

The second factor is judgement. There is no practical way in the shop to simulate the way shock absorbers actually work under driving conditions, so technicians must use a certain amount of judgement. Most shocks lose their effectiveness after about 20 to 25 thousand miles - sometimes sooner.

It's easy to make clean-cut repair or replacement decisions that don't involve judgement - a broken spring or bald tire. But it's more difficult - and subject to more guessing - when the repair or replacement decision calls for a value judgement based on experience.

Judgement decisions usually are more difficult in the case of older, high mileage cars. As the car ages, repair costs invariably go up and trade-in value goes down. At some point the car owner may have to face a job that'll cost more than his car's worth.

MEMORIALS

KELLER - In loving memory of a wonderful father, father-in-law and grandfather, Percy Keller, who passed away suddenly on May 29, 1976.
The blow was great, the shock severe.
We little thought the end was near,
And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
More each day we miss you,
Father,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed and always remembered by Bessie, John, Diane, David, Doug, Darrell, Kathie, Blaine and John.

KELLER - In loving memory of a dear husband,
father and grandfather,
Percy Keller (Pat) who passed away so suddenly on
May 29, 1976.
Sad was the parting no one can tell,
So sudden on earth, the sorrow fell.
The blow was hard, shock severe,
Who fell asleep without goodbye
But our memories of you will never die
As you worked so hard
We miss you more than anyone knows
As we look at the things you always prized
As each day passes the emptiness grows
The tears we shed we can wipe away
But the ache in our hearts will always stay.
There is no one who knows the grief we bear
When the family comes home, and you're not there,
For there sits your vacant chair.
Sadly missed by your wife
Edith & family.

NAYLER - Clarence and Vivian Nayler, always remembered. Nayler Family

SEABORN - In loving memory of a dear husband,
father and grandfather,
Don, who passed away June 4th, 1975.
As time unfolds another year,
Memories keep you ever near.
Sadly missed by wife Diana, children and grandchildren.

STRIPED SKUNK

NEPHETIS NEPHETIS

Skunks are well known to most Canadians, usually by reputation rather than firsthand experience. The animal's best known feature is, of course, its ability to discharge twin streams of musky fluid from the anal orifice, which it does with uncanny accuracy when it feels itself threatened.
The great confidence it feels in its defensive equipment is partially responsible, no doubt, for its somewhat placid and sluggish nature.

Skunks are primarily nocturnal and have few natural enemies, the chief being the great horned owl.
Other carnivores avoid them unless desperate for food.
There is a popular notion that skunks cannot eject their musk if they are lifted off the ground by the tail - this is not true.

The brightest star in the sky, Sirius the Dog Star, is three times the size of our sun.

Marsh World

SALAMANDERS — These lizard-like animals are in fact amphibians, related to frogs and toads. The eggs are laid in shallow water and hatch into a larva resembling the adult, but with frilly external gills. After several months the larva matures, loses its gills and leaves the water. Its time on land is spent in cool moist places where it feeds on insects, small fish, worms and other small creatures. The adults overwinter in protected places, returning to the water in spring to breed. Salamanders range in size from 3 inches to over one foot in length.

- Class "D" refers to vehicles such as stake trucks which exceed 18,000 lbs. gross vehicle weight, provided any towed vehicles are not over 10,000 lbs.

The new regulation gives the busy farmer more freedom in assigning full or part-time helpers to drive his farm vehicle — for example, during seeding or harvest time. If he or they hold Class "G" licences, the Class "D" farm vehicle may be driven provided it's owned by the farmer, registered and licensed as a "Farm Vehicle", and used for present on behalf of the Hastings-Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association during the rally held in Madoc last Saturday. Mr. Rollins has his arm around his son, Tommy.

Campaign hits high gear in area

Smith sees need for limited use of nuclear power

MADOC - Speaking to the members of CORP (Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution) at a public meeting held in the Kiwanis Centre last week, Liberal leader Stuart Smith said that nuclear energy generation will be required in Canada during the 10 to 15 years it takes to develop alternate sources of renewable energy.

More than 50 people turned out for the meeting which was called to discuss the problems surrounding the current use of nuclear energy in Canada.

Speaking on behalf of CORP at the meeting was its chairman, Ron Vastokas. He outlined the organization's position on the matter and invited Dr. Smith to state the Liberal Party's policy on nuclear energy.

Dr. Smith spoke of what he saw as a need for a "crash program for the development of renewable sources of

Hobson, the Liberal candidate in tomorrow's election for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough, and Mrs. Mary Kalsner, the Liberal candidate in the Quinte riding.

Local garage changes hands

Tom Deline, who has become well-known as a busy car salesman in the Centre Hastings area over the past three years, has purchased Armstrong's Garage on St. Lawrence Street East. He will continue the Ford-Mercury dealership, formerly operated by Mr. Ed Armstrong.

Mr. Deline will be doing his own selling of Mercury cars and Ford trucks for the time being. In the service department, the following staff has been employed: Bud Monkman, service manager; Bill Baker, (Mechanic) service technician; Milt Robinson and Lyle Smith. Mrs. Mary Pigden has been hired as secretary-bookkeeper.

Grand opening ceremonies are scheduled to take place this Saturday afternoon. Entertainment will be provided in the east lot at the garage, with John McCann and the Western Hayriders providing music. Roger Snider is to be on hand as master of ceremonies with Little

Special education graduation held at CHSS

On Wednesday June 1st, Graduation Exercises were held for those students who had successfully completed the Special Education Programme. Approximately 40 students, parents and teachers were present for the official ceremonies.

The programme began at 12 noon with a delicious luncheon prepared by the Special Education girls under the supervision of Mrs. Pyear and Mrs. Sine. The presentation of awards followed.

Driver Education Certificates were presented to Doug Nugent, Stafford Bristol, Lloyd Morrow and Jim Chalk.

Awards were given to the top student in each academic subject. The recipients were as follows. English - Don Blake, Math - Doug Nugent, Physical Education - Lloyd Morrow, Woodwork - Randy Coe, Home Economics - Kathy Tebworth.

The Valedictorian address for the class of '77 was given by Lloyd Morrow followed by a full length feature movie for the students and guests.

Six accidents investigated by OPP

During the past week the Madoc Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police were kept busy investigating six accidents in the area. Three people were charged as a result of the mishaps, and four were sent to hospital with injuries. Damages in the accidents totaled more than $6,500, the police report.

MADOC - The Liberals and Conservatives pulled out all the stops during the past week in what is shaping up to be a neck-and-neck race for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough in tomorrow's provincial election.

Both parties had their provincial leaders in the area in the last-ditch effort to outpace the other in tomorrow's voting.

The riding, traditionally Conservative, was won by Clarke Rollins in the 1975 election by less than 2500 votes. This marked the first real challenge to his leadership since he first won the seat in 1959.

Runner-up in the 1975 race was Liberal Dave Hobson who managed to take 37.4 per cent of the vote to Rollins' 47.7 per cent. The NDP candidate took only 13 per cent of the vote.

First of the leaders to come to the area last week was Dr. Stuart Smith, leader of the Liberal Party of Ontario.

Dr. Smith arrived on his campaign bus Tuesday afternoon and, after some mainstreeting during which he met with the local residents spoke at a meeting held in the Kiwanis Centre.

The meeting had been organized by the members of CORP (Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution), and dealt mainly with the problems inherent in any decision on the part of the Federal and Provincial governments to locate a nuclear waste disposal site in the Mt. Moriah area just north of here.

Dr. Smith's audience of approximately 60 at the Kiwanis Centre was dwarfed, however, by the reception received by Premier Davis when he came to the area on Saturday.

Billed as a 'Strawberry Social', the premier flew in by helicopter to talk to the more than 2,000 enthusiastic supporters gathered at the recreation centre.

Premier Davis spoke glowingly of his 18-year association with Clarke Rollins, and of the faith he has in the outcome of tomorrow's balloting in the Hastings-Peterborough riding.

"I don't mind making that prediction," the premier said, "Clarke will beat that Liberal (Dave Hobson) soundly."

Saying that he and Clarke Rollins share a concern for the rural people of Ontario, Mr. Davis said that Mr. Rollins "...is very symbolic of what our party is all about."

Following his address, Premier Davis was presented with a gift from Terry Pigden on behalf of the local Progressive Conservative Association. Also, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Rollins were presented with flowers.

Strawberries and ice cream were served while Mr. Davis strolled around the arena talking to supporters and well-wishers after the official part of the afternoon's rally.

On his way back to his helicopter, Mr. Davis stopped to discuss the possible location of a nuclear waste disposal site at Mt. Moriah with Adam Godfrey, the campaign manager for the New Democrat candidate in the upcoming election, Elmer Buchanan.

Several people carried placards outside the meeting protesting the pollution of the local lakes, and rivers, the radon gas problems recently encountered in Deloro, Bancroft and elsewhere in the Province, and the possible problems if a nuclear waste disposal site should be located north of here.

Up, up and away! A blimp advertises a meeting held in Ottawa last Friday night to give the area residents an opportunity to hear Premier Davis. Both Premier Davis and Liberal leader Dr. Stuart Smith were in Madoc last week to meet with local residents and to drum up support for their respective candidates in tomorrow's provincial election.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

In view of the unease caused in this community by the mooted storage for nuclear waste in Mount Moriah, the enclosed clipping should be of pressing interest to local residents.

Leakage of storage facilities in this area would have enormous and unpredictable results, due to the countless strain-cracks in the bedrock of the region through which liquids would, and do, percolate. No direction or area would remain safe. Added to this is the network of lakes and rivers that could and would be affected - the Black, Lingham, Moira, Skootamatta, and Infinitum.

As a former geologist with the Great Tech Corporation, prospecting for uranium, I know whereof I speak.

Yours truly,
 C.W. Greer.

Editor's Note: The clipping referred to by Mr. Greer was taken from TIME magazine, April 4, 1977, issue. It dealt with the leakage of plutonium from wastes of a nuclear-weapons plant in Colorado which entered the water reservoir of Broomfield, Colo. Residents of that town are demanding that the Federal Government (U.S.A.) spend $30 million to create a new water supply for the citizens.

Dear Editor:

It is with some apprehension that I look forward to the election results on June 9, 1977.

Lately I have watched T.V. commercials sponsored by the P.C.'s that appears to have no other message than to assure the electorate that Wm. Davis is an honest man. The Aristothelian tradition it was a fundamental basis for the democratic system that men should be ruled by leaders possessing the basic virtues. Legally nothing essential has ever been pinned on Mr. Davis however morally he may have to produce much stronger reassurances to the electorate than he can purchase through naive advertisements.

Did he really know what he was doing when he blew Millions of Dollars on the Monorail system and Spadina Expressway?

Are you working within the legal framework of our constitution where you permit the collection of tobacco taxes before parliament's final approval as you did in 1976 and again in 1977?

Do you have Ontario at heart if you are neglecting energy in your platform for the next government?

As Minister of Education in this province and subsequently as Premier you must bear the responsibility for the fate of our youth. Our schools and universities have been expanded beyond the requirements producing a generation of highly educated unemployables. The large mass education in large classes may teach the text of the education material but leaves large holes in the needs of these kids for recognition and moral education. The centralization of control has furthermore added to lack of teacher incentive and that opportunity for teachers to fully utilize their individual strengths.

Through the minimum wage laws you have legislated the youth out of the job market by eliminating the competition aspect of working for a little lesser wage than those with experience competing for the same jobs.

Jobs:

There was time when employment opportunities existed in rural Ontario. Then the big blue machine moved in creating the blight presently plaguing our small villages and hamlets.

Your choice of large industry and business as your bed-fellow has had some severe repercussions on the Province you have at heart. It may be good for the Party because these business grants must pay their bribery fees to the party in order to reign free of tax obligations and those regulations necessary to protect our environment and the small farmer, retailer and workers.

The end result to quote a couple of examples is that fresh bread and milk free of chemicals are no longer available to our citizens. The multitude of jobs formerly available to rural Ontario producing these products have also been effectively eliminated. Yes, Mr. Davis, I should thank you for having no other choice but to eat bread saturated with, I believe, embalming fluid to maintain an artificial degree of freshness, to pay my share of welfare and unemployment insurance to the fellow that used to bake fresh wholesome bread and to pay a much higher price for the loaf of bread itself than the small baker could produce it for. My share of income tax, sales tax, etc., is, of course, also increased in order that Westons, Christie and their like can have their protection from your party.

Do you remember the Hydro Head-Office Transaction, Mr. Davis? Are you legally honest, morally honest, or honest at all to your otherwise great Province?

I sat at a beautiful lake to write this letter to you. The lake is green with obnoxious flowing bacterial and algae growth. At one time it invited tourist trade but it can not be neglected forever. Mr. Davis. We need some honest men in government. So honest they do not have to pay advertisement cost to assure that honesty is part of their moral makeup but so honest that they shall be known honest by their deeds!

Ken Schultz-Nielsen

New mill rate struck for Madoc

At a special meeting of the Madoc Village Council, held on May 30th, the new budget for the village was approved and a new mill rate established for the 1977 fiscal year.

The approved budget calls for a $24,000 reserve fund to be set up to provide for future water and sewer capital works, and was prepared by Bryce McLean of Humpage, Taylor McDonald

GARY BEAMISH

Party: Social Credit Party of Ontario
 Candidate: Gary Beamish

Platform: This information on the platform and policies of the Social Credit Candidate in the upcoming provincial election was gathered in an interview with him on Sunday, June 5, 1977.

The three-pronged policy taken by the Social Credit candidate in the Hastings-Peterborough riding is (1) Back to the people; (2) Back to fiscal responsibility; and (3) Back to the Bible.

In terms of fiscal responsibility, Mr. Beamish talked of balanced budgets, which he said "is our number one priority. The Social Credit Party ruling British Columbia is... the only known level of government, on a provincial, federal or municipal (level), that is operating within the context of a balanced budget. "That is something to consider. When everyone else talks about it, we do it," he said.

Mr. Beamish went on to say that part of the means of having a balanced budget within a province would include the selling of provincial bonds to the residents of the province. He cites the situation in BC where, as he says, "the people were willing to invest in the local economy, rather than have the province go down to New York to borrow more money. Davis (Premier of Ontario) borrowed $300 million, I believe it was a week and a half ago, in New York. Now the premise was, well, we can't raise this money locally, so you have to borrow it from New York."

On the subject of provincially-run lotteries to raise money for public projects, Mr. Beamish said that he would "prefer to see something on the municipal level.

depicting the theme of student employment, were Tracey Morrison, first place; Julie Smith, second place; and Dwayne Adams, honorable mention.

Meeting discusses land use

A public meeting was held on Thursday May 26th in the Town Hall regarding the proposed Land Use By-Law for the Village. All members of Council were present with the exception of Daryl Kramp. Niall Carney, Director of Planning of the Hastings County Planning Board was the guest speaker.

Mr. Carney explained that the proposed 'Mtg.', page 7.

Decision 1977

"Wintario put a lot of what were considered to be good lotteries out of business. The Diabetics Lottery, which only offered $10,000 (for example). How can you stand up against $100,000?"

"Basically, Wintario is just another form of government advertising", he said. "It's a regressive form of taxation within itself."

Asked whether he would make the interest income on municipal bonds provincially tax exempt in an attempt to induce residents to buy them, Mr. Beamish said that the Social Credit Party would create incentives. He did not clarify what these incentives would involve, however.

Speaking of the "Back to the People" plank in his platform, Mr. Beamish said "the greatest incentive that we have to get the prod on is our youth. People say that they can't get jobs. Well, I just graduated from University and I've turned down two jobs, and I've got two part-time jobs now. So, the jobs are there! It's just that the people want to be spoon-fed now. And under the current unemployment system and the current welfare system; well, if the people want to go out and work while they're collecting that, they get docked. So, that takes your incentive away."

"We've (the Social Credit Party) been advocating for thirty-some years the guaranteed annual income. We'd make sure that that income was small enough so that a person could not really survive on it; and they would have to go out and get part-time work. But this part-time work would not be deducted...and that would get a lot of working women out of the work force."

"Right now, you have to have husband and wife competing as working partners to keep one household together. If the whole family gets a guaranteed annual income - we are toying around with $50 a week right now - ...that way the wife's part-time income is fully met by the rest of her family getting the $50 per week, so she doesn't really have to work."

"There are 300,000 people out of work right now. I can assure you, there are more than 300,000 working women in the Ontario economy, and those who want to stay in can probably stay in."

"But there is a job which lots of women have: that is raising a family. And to date, they are doing a pretty darn poor job of it, because, in my own humble opinion, they're off at work and the husband's off at work and the kids raise themselves."

Of his "Back to the Bible" stand, Mr. Beamish said, "everybody needs a set of guiding principles with which to organize their lives. We have so many people that are just lost. A lot of our youth are just wandering around, and they don't know what they are looking for."

Awards night draws large crowd

A new venture at C.H.S.S. has been termed highly successful after over 400 turned out for last Thursday's first evening Athletic Night. Several former athletic stars of the school were in attendance, as were many parents, teachers' spouses and present students.

The program got underway with a steak barbecue between five and seven o'clock. A slight drizzle was falling as the evening began, but no one seemed to mind carrying their plates inside to the cafeteria.

Shortly after, in the gymnasium, a nostalgic film presentation, entitled Centurions of the Past, showed scenes from as far back as 1962. Many memories flashed back to those who saw football players, graduates, cheerleaders, badminton teams, basketball teams, favourite coaches and many others on the three-way projection. A later film presented the 1976-77 Centurions.

Athletic awards were presented to the top sports of the year by Barry Pyear, with Carm Donato making the announcements.

The highlight of the program was the presentation of the Athlete of the Year Awards. These went to the following students: Junior Girl, Nancy Watson, grade 9; Junior Boy, Stewart McEwen, grade 10; Senior Girl, Debbie Lahey, grade 12; Senior Boy, Joe Brooks, grade 13.

During the football presentations, Coach Stan Riviere was called to the stage, where he was presented with a football, which had been autographed by the members of the Senior team. Mr. Riviere will not be returning to Centre Hastings Secondary School in September. Here, the Top Offensive award went to Randy Trumble; Top Defensive player, Blaine Wickens; Top Lineman, Vic Miller. Mr. Pyear also mentioned Joe Brooks and first-year Steve Lawrence as two outstanding players of the year.

The Senior Boys Volleyball team captured the Bay of Quinte Championship and took fourth place at C.O.S.S.A. Wayne Andrews was named Most Valuable Player (MVP) for the team, because of his 'fantastic serve'.

Mr. Donato described them as "one of the best Junior volleyball teams ever at C.H.S.S." when he presented the team's M.V.P. award to Stewart McEwen. They won the Bay of Quinte Championship with no losses and also captured third place at C.O.S.S.A.

In the girls Junior division of volleyball, Mary Lou Palmateer received the M.V.P. award, and it was a two-way tie for Darlene Francis and Gail Meehan in the senior team. The Juniors took third place in the Bay of Quinte play-offs and the Seniors, "a most positive, congenial team" according to Coach Donato, finished third in the Bay of Quinte championships.

Marnie Welch was named M.V.P. in the girls midget basketball. Her team finished third in the Bay of Quinte League.

The 'rookie' girls Curling Team took fifth in the Bay of Quinte play-offs. Susan Brownson received the M.V.P. award for this team. In the boys Curling, Leslie Martin (skip) was named for the award.

In the Wrestling Division, Larry Parks was presented with the 'Rookie of the Year' award and Graham Gough, the M.V.P.

Connie Armstrong was named the Most Improved Gymnast and Mary Lahey the M.V.P. of the girls Gymnastic team. In the boys team, Gary Mumby was awarded the M.V.P. honour.

Most valuable badminton players were Anne Hegadoren of the Seniors for the girls and Tom Lawrence of the Juniors for the boys.

The first-year Senior Girls Soccer team was praised for its efforts. Donna Lee received the M.V.P. award. In the Junior Girls Basketball, Mary Lou Palmateer was named the M.V.P.

Coaches Barry Pyear and Bob Cooke felt the most valuable player awards in the track and field division were exceptionally difficult to select. Joe Brooks and Laura Welch were the recipients of these awards.

With guitar in hand, Dave Henderson entertained with some self-composed verses about some of the physical education teachers at a break in the award presentations.

Following this program, a reunion was held in the Kiwanis Centre.

Pigden's Gallery

This lovely old white church with its gleaming spire is beautiful in its simplicity of design. The care given it over the years is mute evidence of the part it has played in the community for one hundred and nineteen years, and the respect shown for the faith it represents.

The church was erected in 1857 and dedicated at special services — the original church was established in the early 1830's when services were held in Bradshaw's schoolhouse, later known as Hazzard's Chapel.

Hazzard's Corners received its name from the "Hazzard" families who lived round about the Corner and from whom the land was purchased for both church and cemetery — for the sum of fourteen dollars. A photostatic copy of the deed of land hangs in the church, specifying the exact location at the junction of Elzevir Road and the eighth line, 5 miles North of Madoc village.

Until 1887 Hazzard's Corners was supplied by Bible Christian, Episcopal and Wesleyan Methodist ministers from Madoc. In that year Queensboro Charge was formed under the Methodist Church, continuing so until 1925 when they united with other denominations to form the United Church of Canada.

Class meetings, revivals and tea-meetings were an integral part of community life; the various community gatherings in the form of "bees" — barn-raising, corn-husking, quilting-bees, etc., all indicate a neighbourliness and sociability; farming was prosperous, the community was growing.

The church built in 1857 was too small for the increasing attendance and in 1871 the wings were added, necessitating the six square pillars; and the entrance porch was enclosed in the church proper, with a vestry added to the west end of the church.

The church can accommodate 200 people in its old hand-hewn seats, and some of the original church furniture is still in use; e.g. pulpit, minister's seat and wood stoves.

Adjacent to the church is the cemetery with stones dating back to 1843 or earlier. People from other communities and denominations brought loved ones here to their last resting place, as it was the only "burying ground" for miles around.

In September of 1957 the congregation was joined by friends and former ministers from far and near to celebrate the Centennial of the Church.

A guest book in the entry indicates interest of many people from many places, friend and stranger alike, who "just stopped by to visit the lovely old church!"

He said that he felt the "Candu reactor is safe enough," but emphasized that he felt all forms of 'breeder' reactors (which use re-cycled plutonium, and which were recently banned by President Carter in the United States) should be outlawed in any future energy development scheme for Canada.

"We are not prepared to get Ontario into the plutonium business. Plutonium would just be a disaster," he said.

posed Land Use By-Law would control the future growth of the Village in a manner that would not adversely affect existing areas. It was stressed that, if any property owner felt his property was not correctly zoned, he should present a rezoning request to the Council. At this point, Council will consider each rezoning request on its own merits and propose such amendments as is advisable. Mr. Carney also reiterated that this by-law will not affect existing land uses.

A question and answer period followed during which many misunderstandings regarding the proposed by-law were cleared up.

Robert Bancroft thanked Mr. Carney for attending and for the presentation.

HOW ABOUT THE YOUTH?

"Let no one despise our youth, but set an example in speech and conduct, in love, in faith, in purity." (1 Timothy 4:12)

This verse of scripture indicates that youth establish for themselves a reputation. If they expect people to have respect for them then they need to live a life about reproach. A good example is imperative and is reflected by the way they talk, by their conduct, by expressing love (God-like love), by their faith, and by clean lives. Now all parents will agree to that statement with a hearty "Amen!" But how are our children and teenagers to know what is right? All around us they are asking this question: "How can I know?"

Though the apostle Paul, in this verse was speaking directly to a young person, Timothy, the message comes through loud and clear to adults. Our youth can know what is right as we set an example for them. Proper speech, right conduct, loving attitudes, faith, morality are things that are learned as children and teenagers see them exemplified in the adults they live with in their growing years. This verse suggests then, that the adult has a responsibility to set a life-style of good education, proper training, and above all commitment of life to God and His standards for life. God tells us in scripture that this is only possible as His Word is hidden in our hearts and in the hearts of our children.

In Deuteronomy 11:19, Moses instructed the adults concerning the words of God, "And you shall teach them to your children, talking of them when you are sitting in your house, and when you are walking by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise." I can think of no better instruction than this.

Happy is the son or daughter whose parents maintain a steady witness at home. Maybe the father in your home cannot read with perfection, but pity the child who has never heard his father read the Bible. Perhaps words do not come easily for the mother in your home, but it is better a thousand times over to hear a mother pray in faltering words than never to hear her pray.

There is no doubt that the best way to instill faith in our children is by way of example.

On the farm front

On May 12, the Federal Minister of Agriculture, Eugene Whelan announced an Incentive Program to help Ontario farmers who want to be more self sufficient in producing their own livestock feed requirements. The incentive is in the form of a 30 per cent capital grant to farmers who make capital purchases to improve feeding systems.

This 30 per cent capital grant, up to a maximum of $1,500.00 per farmer, will be eligible on the following structures and equipment for storing and processing feed - grain storages, high moisture grain, corn and hay storages, hay and grain drying systems, elevators, augers, conveyors, feed processing and distribution systems, feed scales, electrical and gas installations for feed systems, portable feed grinders and mixers. The grant is not eligible on used equipment or on equipment purchased as part of a farm purchase.

Like the present capital grant program, this new Incentive Program will be handled through the Agriculture Office at Stirling and application forms will be made available in the near future. The maximum grant of $1,500.00 applies to all eligible farm operations, regardless of the number of partners.

A farmer must have a gross farm income of $3000 to or more to be eligible under the program. If a person leases his farm to another farmer who has a farm income of $3000 or more, he could apply for the grant on behalf of the lease provided the lessee wished to make capital improvements on the leased farm.

This incentive grant is available for all eligible expenditures that have been made since January 1, 1977. The program will run for five years or until the 14.5 million dollar allocation runs out, whichever comes first.

More than 800 delegates from across Ontario are expected to attend the 71st annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Association, June 15, 16 and 17 at the University of Windsor.

Agriculture and Food Minister William G. Newman will be the theme speaker at the convention.

"The theme of the convention, 'We're Not Alone,' will deal with the many sources of assistance which can help horticultural societies carry out objectives," says R.A. Gomme, secretary of the Association.

Representatives of universities, the media, the nursery industry and government will discuss services they can provide to assist the more than 250 horticultural societies in the province.

Other activities at the convention will include seminars and demonstrations on tree planting, insects, weeds, soils and diseases.

One highlight of the convention will be a tour of the parks of Windsor, including the famous rose bushes at Jackson Park.

Delegates will also participate in discussions on community services such as youth programs, plant clinics, seed exchanges, shopping mall shows and information services.

There are more than 50,000 members in Ontario's horticultural societies. The societies, financially assisted by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food and local governments, provide a variety of community services and educational programs to help beautify Ontario's communities.

The Second Meeting of the Marmora 4 H Calf Club was held on May 18 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brass.

When everyone arrived the Roll Call was taken and everyone went to the barn where Johnny Brass explained different Nutrients and Minerals which a Calf should have. A short quiz followed.

President Ed Caverly had the Members decide on a fun night.

The Members all had their picture taken. Lunch was served and Carol Sommer-ville gave 4 H signs to each Member.

Ed Caverly thanked Mr. and Mrs. Brass for the use of their Farm.

Two hundred girls from across Ontario will 'learn to do by doing' at the 22nd annual 4-H Homemaking Club Girls' Conference at the University of Guelph, June 21 to 24.

"The theme of the conference, Signposts for the Future, should help girls develop leadership skills and broaden their experience for the future," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food regional home economics supervisor, Lorraine Holding.

The delegates, aged 16 to 26, are senior club members selected by county home economists on the basis of leadership qualities and workmanship as displayed in local 4-H activities.

The delegates attending from Hastings include Katrina Tummon, RR2, Roslin; Debbie Mallory, RR2, Frankford; and Vicki Healey of RR1, Tweed.

Miss Holding says a quota system, based on the number of participants in the homemaking club program, determines the number of representatives from each district.

"The conference is geared toward developing responsible members of local clubs, the community, and the provincial organization."

Miss Molly McGhee, Director of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Home Economics Branch, will be the main speaker.

Other activities will include an address by Dr. W.C. Watson, London, Ontario, on "Medicine and the Modern Ms." career discussions, cooking and specialty workshops, and fitness sessions.

The 4-H Homemaking Clubs are study and work clubs for rural young women aged 12 to 26. They are sponsored by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Home Economics Branch.

In Ontario, about 16,500 girls participate in 4-H Homemaking Clubs.

The Centre Hastings Secondary School was the site of the North and Centre Hastings Achievement Day program. Fifteen clubs participated.

County honours were presented to: Sandra Russell (Coe Hill); June Robinson (Cooper, Remington, Eldorado); and Charlene Reid (Marmora).

Provincial honours were achieved by Valerie Holmes (Chapman); Joyce Brownson (Madoc); and Gerarda Wagenmakers (Maynooth).

Advanced Honours for the completion of 18 projects (or nine years of 4-H work) were captured by Kathleen Ashe of the Crookston club and Lamoine Foley of the Harts-Riggs club.

A special presentation was made to Mrs. Sager, Queensborough club. Mrs. Sager received a certificate honouring her twenty years as a club leader for 4-H Homemaking clubs.

The Achievement Day for West Hastings was held at the Stirling Senior School on Saturday, April 23, 1977. Seventy-three girls began the project, with sixty-nine completing it. There were ten clubs participating from the West Hastings area.

County Honours for the completion of six projects were presented to: Karen Clancy (Harold); Kim Cooney (Harold); Jackie Barrett (Mount Pleasant); Joan Lanigan

Downey, Brenda Hyde, Carol Fleming and Laurie Matchett had perfect attendance for four consecutive years. Beth Wiggins from Marmora had only missed two meetings in the same period.

Several badges were presented to the girls for various achievements such as: Skating, Citizen, Guide History, Backyard Cooking, Camp Leader, First Aid III, Baker, Cook, Birdwatcher, Native Lore, Aquarist and Challenge Badge. These badges were a lot of work for the girls and they were highly commended for their efforts. Mrs. Jean Graham, a Past Commissioner for the Guides, did the actual testing and presenting of the Guide History Badges.

Captain Sheila Matchett presented Beth Wiggins, Joanne Fleming and Sandra Franks with their First Aid III Badge.

Laurie Matchett was the recipient of the Religion in Life Emblem and was presented with this award, very ably, by Rev. E. Hawkes who had given her instructions for approximately 10 weeks. As a result of this achievement, Laurie became a member of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church. After receiving her emblem, Laurie, in turn, presented Rev. and Mrs. Hawkes with a gift and with some well-chosen words expressed her thanks for the help Rev. Hawkes had given her.

Beth Wiggins was awarded The Baden Powell Emblem. To earn this emblem you have to complete the following four badges: Citizen, Emergency Helper, Pathfinder and First Aid III. Beth was also awarded the International Emblem. The four badges to achieve this award are: World Trefoil, Native Lore, Citizen and History.

The patrol with the most points for the year consisted of: Connie Francis, Jane Bonter, Lori Love and Brenda Hyde.

Captain Matchett then presented Lieutenant's Sally Tarrant and Judy Fleming with a beautiful rose in appreciation for all the help they had given her in the past. She then expressed her thanks for the help she received from the Mothers, the girls and everyone who came to help celebrate this big event in the lives of the girls.

Roushorm; Percy Broadworth; Jennie Broadworth; Grace O'Rourke, [President of the Madoc Club]; Mr. Johns; and Mrs. Velma Johns. Members who were not present at the flag-raising, but who were actively involved in the work were Edward Gates, Jim Forbes and Francis Taylor.

Flag-raising held at Booth

By Carol Parannik

After a few weeks of planning and hard work, the Madoc and District Senior Citizens Club 473 is the proud owner of the official flag of the United Senior Citizens of Ontario (U.S.C.O.) Inc.

The new banner was raised in a quiet ceremony following the club's regular meeting last Wednesday afternoon. The pole which supports the flag beside the Information Booth on St. Lawrence Street was chosen, hand-cut and peeled of its bark by some of the members from the farm of Elliott Burris at no cost to the Club.

The raising of the flag marks the end of the Seniors' centennial project, designed to improve the appearance of the Information Booth. They purchased the material and hired the labour for the painting of the exterior of the building and did the work themselves on installing a panelled ceiling inside the building. They also put a finished surface of paneling on the counter at the entrance.

The Seniors are very proud of their work at the Booth and are most pleased to have visitors see their accomplishments.

Wrestling In Madoc

Last Thursday proved to be very interesting and amusing for those who turned out for the season's first wrestling match, held in the Madoc Community Centre.

With five matches on the card the fans were treated to the cries, moans and yells of the likes of Wolfeman, several lady wrestlers, and even a wrestling bear by the name of Smoky.

The bloodiest bout of the evening, agreed one and all, was the match between ex-football player Angelo Moska and Geeto Mongol. You see, Geeto uses chains in his approach to the fine art of wrestling, and, well, Angelo sort of cracked him over the head with his own chains. But alas, justice prevailed and the Moska-Mongol Match was ended when the referee disqualified Geeto.

All in all the fans seemed to enjoy the evening's entertainment, even if the bear seemed to be the star of the beastly event.

"I said I'd lead"

Samantha READS YOUR STARS

If you were born this week: You are hard-working and ambitious. You take life seriously, but you do take time for fun. Family ties and loyalties are high on your list of priorities. You tend to be rather shy and reserved with strangers; but, like Rapunzel, once you let down your hair, you're really something!

ARIES (3/21-4/19): The low-key approach begins week best. Aries. Watch out for one who says what she doesn't mean. Then, personal magnetism is at its peak. You're always charming, my pet, but this week you can lure the birds from the trees! Print an A, for apples, applause, and angles to close week.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): A party is more than a social gathering in week ahead. Utterior motives abound, so mind your step, Taurus! Find constructive outlets for those pent-up energies before you blow sky high. Week ends with decision.

GEMINI (5/21-6/19): Week gets off to a cloudy start, so plan important moves for latter days. Midweek sees you swinging to the sexiest tempo in town. It's something else, and so are you, Gem baby! Later, a contented finale!

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): Week begins with a garden of romance, Moonbaby. No shrinking violets or chilly lilies bloom here; this is the domain of the passion flower! What a spicy scent! Midweek, be prepared for possible clash of wills. Later, a postponed date is finally kept. Yippee!

LEO (7/23-8/22): You can make real progress toward clearing up a certain troublesome relationship. Use your intuition and don't let ego rule you, Leo! Venus is in your corner and the love urge is too strong to deny — not that you ever do; you're no fool, sweetheart!

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): There are some people who cannot take a hint. Therefore, Virgo, you may need to develop a different approach. One with all the subtlety of a ton of bricks! Sam knows that's not your style, but adapt, baby, adapt!

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): You're not betwixt and between, Libby. Open your eyes and you'll see that you're just where you want to be! Pay special attention to mate this week. The benefits you'll reap are unbelievable!

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): Cupid calls the shots as week opens, and they're all right on target! Then, there's work to do, Scorp. Up and at 'em! You're not lazy; but you do tend to wait 'til the spirit moves you and sometimes that spirit gets side-tracked! Week ends with a surprising encounter.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): Matters to take care of on the home front, Sag. Pay special attention to an older relative who needs you. Later, it's Valentine's Day in May just for you! Fantastic! Finally, you do your duty.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): Tie a string 'round your finger, Cappy, or you're liable to forget an important message. Home is a hive of activity; something new and colorful is apt to be added. Week ends with a lot of loving!

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/19): Emotional week, Aquari, runs the gamut from anger to love. Stubborn ones may make you see red, and jealousy may be one of the added ingredients. Iffy week doesn't wind down; it just keeps spinning!

PISCES (2/20-3/20): A fine week is forecast for you, Pisces. Romantic ideas are to the fore. An answer is given — it's not what you expected, but it still holds opportunity. One caution: don't spend more than you can afford on a certain item of beauty. Week closes with an open door.

MIXED FLOCKS — Some duck species frequently demonstrate interspecific flocking behaviour. Most spectacular are mallard-pintail feeding flights to stubble fields each autumn in the morning and evening. They also migrate to breeding grounds in mixed flocks. Mallards also tend to flock with black ducks where their ranges overlap. In spring, blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, shoveler and gadwall feed together and are often seen in mixed flocks. Amongst diving ducks, most notable are greater and lesser scaups, which spend the winter in large mixed flocks, especially in the Great Lakes Region.

TODAY'S HEALTH

Roughage and fluids help eliminate constipation

By David Woods

The mere thought of producing a Today's Health column about constipation is enough to create a seizure of another kind — writer's block.

Yet television advertisers don't seem unduly bashful about discussing this common problem, even though they do it in such genteel and euphemistic terms that one sometimes wonders precisely what they're selling.

So, let's put aside talk of being "regular," "out of sorts" or of "giving nature a little gentle help" and try to discuss the matter of constipation directly.

First, it's common and it affects everyone at some time or other. Second, it's obvious, and therefore, often a source of undue concern. Third, laxatives are big business... people feeling they must bring in a bulldozer to clear a cluttered pathway.

Not only is much of what is called constipation preventable without laxatives, much of what's labelled constipation really isn't. Trouble is, somebody — probably one of those Victorians who believed that the body must be purged of all impurities each and every day — put forth the notion that a bowel movement every 24 hours is not only necessary, it's a constitutional right.

Those professionals who have studied these matters say that a frequency of bowel movement ranging anywhere from three times a day to once in three days is just fine.

To avoid constipation, look to your diet. Dr. W. Harding LeRiche advises in his The Complete Family Book of Nutrition and Meal Planning: "The first step is to increase the intake of fluid... roughage should be added to the diet... eating raw fruits and raw green leafy vegetables will also help... so will a few spoonfuls of bran eaten daily."

LeRiche and others are not keen on the use of laxatives at the drop of a hat. Laxatives tend to be brought in too readily where diet and a degree of patience would be just as helpful, they believe. Moreover, laxatives are powerful, and over-used and over-relied upon, and can eventually severely diminish the normal function of the colon.

So, the best advice one can give about constipation is to try to avoid it by adopting a sensible, varied diet. If the frequency of bowel movement slows up — as it's bound to do occasionally — be patient. It'll probably turn out all right. If it doesn't then a mild laxative might be considered. Continued or repeated constipation should be reported to your doctor.

Stop Junk Mail - Here's How

If you are the same as most people, you often have scads of unsolicited junk, dropped through your letter box. These unwanted advertising missives, not only annoy but clutter up the house. How can you get rid of them? First, you can write "Refused" on the envelope and the Post Office will deliver it back to the sender at his cost. But that does not stop future junk being shoved through the letter box.

Write to Canadian Direct Mail Association, 130 Merton St. Toronto, M4S 1A4 or call 416-484-8554. Tell them in unmistakable terms that you do not want to receive anymore unsolicited junk mail. That should do the trick.

Notice To Vacate

Notices to vacate from a landlord to a tenant are no longer informal. With the amendment of the Landlord and Tenant Act, RSO 1970, c. 236 effective December 1975, much of the ultimate responsibility of resolving disputes between the landlord and tenant has been conferred upon the County Court.

The "Notices to Vacate" must therefore comply exactly with requirements laid down in the Act to allow the court to proceed with the issue of a Writ of Possession, should this become necessary. The multitude of technicalities which must be observed for a Notice to Vacate to become enforceable is confusing. As often as not, they result in involved Notices, which, if contested, can result in unnecessary expenses for the landlord and or tenant.

Any Landlords and Tenants, about to give a Notice to Vacate, should be certain that the "Notice to Vacate" conforms to the specifics of the Landlord - Tenant Act.

Unsolicited Goods

Persons receiving unsolicited goods through the mail, often feel intimidated into paying for them. You have no legal reason for doing anything. Once you have received them, they are yours to do with as you wish. You do not have to pay for or return them.

Care supports self-help

OTTAWA - Over $3,000,000 worth of CARE self-help programs in 21 developing countries will be supported by Canadian funds in the coming year according to Vladimir Kavan, Chairman of the Board of CARE Canada.

At its recent meeting the Board allocated $1,234,298 in undesignated donor funds to 43 projects ranging from safer water systems in Afghanistan, Belize, Honduras and Guatemala, to rural agriculture and community development programs in Bolivia, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Haiti, Jordan and Kenya.

Matching grants from the Canadian International Development Agency are expected to double the contributions of individual Canadian citizens from whom the majority of CARE's funds are received. Since all CARE programs require local input from the recipient governments and people, the value of projects is usually doubled again so that $4 to $5 worth of aid is provided for each donor dollar.

Although nutrition and nutrition education programs are still very important, CARE Canada is now devoting the majority of its resources to projects intended to produce more food and better health conditions.

Natural Resources Introduce Warden Program

More than 150 park employees have received special enforcement training through a new park warden program, Minister of Natural Resources Frank S. Miller said today.

"These men will assist the 100 regular Ministry security staff and the Ontario Provincial Police in enforcing the Provincial Parks Act in our 120 provincial parks," Mr. Miller explained.

"The park wardens will have the authority of a Provincial Police officer within a park and will use these powers to ensure the province that provincial parks will continue to provide visitors with a peaceful place for outdoor recreation."

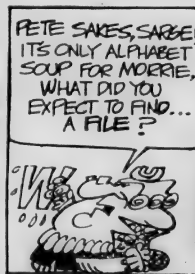

"Although park staff will step up the enforcement of rules and regulations in those parks where problems have existed in the past, emphases will be placed on preventive measures," Mr. Miller added.

Training courses for the new park wardens were conducted by Ontario Police College instructors prior to the May 13 opening of the Ministry's provincial parks.

Identified with special shoulder flashes on their park uniforms, the wardens will be easily recognized by park visitors should assistance be required.

"The new enforcement service to be provided by the park warden program will be an added support for the continuance of the high quality of recreational opportunities that are available in Ontario Provincial Parks," Mr. Miller said.

Rollins Will Continue To Serve Us North Hastings Reeves Proclaim

Mrs. E. Walker,
Editor - Bancroft Times

Dear Madam,

In reply to an ambiguous letter appearing in your newspaper of May 25, 1977, written by the N.D.P. CANDIDATE FOR Hastings-Peterborough, we would like to take this opportunity to set the record straight in regard to Mr. Clarke Rollins' accountability to his constituency.

Mr. Rollins has been a sincere and vigorous representative of this Riding for the past 18 years, he started his career in politics at the grass roots level being the reeve of Wollaston Township and later the warden of Hastings County.

He has always provided the needed representation to his constituent municipalities when he is called upon, thus, in our opinion is fulfilling his obligation and accountability to the public and his electorate.

So, for your record Mr. Buchanan "our former representative" in the Riding of Hastings-Peterborough

(Mr. Clarke Rollins) does not necessarily have to participate in candidates meetings to prove his genuine concern for the people he represents.

On June 9, 1977, "our future representative" Mr. Clarke Rollins, will continue to serve this Riding with the same vigour and sincerity as he has always done in the past.

OTTAWA and Small Business

An Electrifying Situation

by JIM SMITH

In the midst of the universally heralded energy crisis, it comes as some surprise to learn that Canada's energy suppliers continue to function in blythe ignorance of this disaster.

How else can one explain pricing policies of the nation's electric utilities that reward extreme consumption of this increasingly rare and vital energy?

Several decades ago, when there was, in most parts of the country, sufficient water power to generate far more cheap electricity than the nation could use, the utilities devised a pricing scheme to encourage greater consumption. Small-scale consumers were charged a base rate per kilowatt hour; as consumption increased, the cost decreased. Ultimately, the energy-hungry major industrial users ended up with by far the cheapest rate per unit of electricity.

The electrical supply situation has changed dramatically in recent years, of course. For the most part, Canada's hydro potential has been exhausted. Additional electricity means construction of coal, oil, or nuclear generating stations, all of them very expensive to build and enormously costly to operate.

The basic engineering fact of electrical life, however, is that Canada has far more generating capacity on hand right now than we need for the foreseeable future — except for some very brief periods during the day when demand jumps sharply. These brief periods of extra demand are called "peak periods" and the electric utilities plan their capacity to meet the peak demands, not the average demands.

And what causes these peak periods? A few very heavy users of power. The same firms that get the lowest rates because they use the most power. Or, to put the matter another way, the users who are responsible for the highest costs pay the lowest prices.

The small users of electricity — both smaller firms and households — pay much more for electricity than it costs the utility to provide it. The big users pay less than the cost.

The logic may escape you. Certainly it escapes the Canadian Federation of Independent Business which is currently intervening in an Ontario Energy Board hearing concerning pricing by Ontario Hydro. The C.F.I.B. argues that power users should pay the cost of their service. Not only should the subsidies for major users be eliminated, but these users should be charged higher rates equal to the cost of providing their electricity.

The Ontario Energy Board decision will shape pricing policies of virtually all Canadian power utilities. And the major power users have allied to mount a strong defence against loss of their privileged position.

But the real issue is non-negotiable. In an age when energy is increasingly vital and increasingly rare, Canada simply can't afford to reward excessive use of this precious natural resource.

Though soybeans were being cultivated in China before 3500 B.C., they were virtually unknown in Europe and America until 1900.

The people of Northumberland need common sense representation

John Taylor, 39, lives in Gore's Landing with his wife Eva and their two children, John, 3½, and Derek, 2.

And John Taylor will ensure that they get it.

"I am concerned about the steady erosion of the resources of Northumberland — the increasing pollution of our lakes and waterways, the continuing loss of our farmland.
Yet, at the same time, we experience little real growth. Employment opportunities are limited and our economic growth lags behind the average for southern Ontario.

Our farmers should be earning a full and good living on their farms instead of having to work in factories. Many of them would be full time farmers again, if they could, and those factory jobs would be on the market again. The NDP farm income stabilization program would make that possible.
There is much that can be done, and most of it is just common sense."

ELECT JOHN TAYLOR — NEW DEMOCRAT

Because common sense never made more sense than now.

MEMORIALS

DAVIDSON - In memory of Jack Davidson who died June 6, 1976.
 Some day, perhaps, we'll understand.
 When we meet in that better land.
Helen & Buck.

MEMORIALS

BAKER, Walter - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away June 4, 1963.
 God looked around His garden
 And found an empty space
 He then looked down upon this earth
 And saw your tired face.
 He put His arms around you
 And lifted you to rest,
 God's garden must be beautiful
 For He only takes the best.
 He knew that you were weary
 And He knew that you were in pain.
 He knew that you would never be well on earth again.
 He saw the roads were getting rough
 And the hills were hard to climb
 So He closed your weary eyelids
 And whispered "Peace be thine."
 Sadly missed by wife Mary, daughter Bonnie and son Glen.

PACK - In loving memory of a dear husband who passed away June 5, 1976.
 Memory drifts to scenes long past
 Time rolls on but memories last Sunshine passes shadows fall
 Love's remembrance outlasts all.
 Sadly missed by wife Mary.

SEABORN - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Don, who passed away two years ago, June 4th, 1975.
 Your presence is ever near us
 Your love remains with us yet
 You were the kind of a father
 Your loved ones will never forget.
 Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by daughter Cathy and son-in-law Bud and grandchildren.

Summer is for Salad Lovers

The creative combination of ingredients, plus the choice of dressing, makes the salad exceptional. The word "Salad" comes from "Sal", the Latin word for salt. Salad in its original form was nothing more than a combination of herbs, green plants and salt. Easy to prepare, inexpensive and simple, salads were the food of the peasant class. Wealthy people, on the other hand, avoided them for the very reason that they were food of the poor.

Not until more recent times have other ingredients been added to the basic salad. Chicken and seafood were 17th century introductions and fruit was added in the 18th century. Along with these additions, many others have since been added which are familiar to us in the 20th century.

Today salads are high on our priority food list because of their nutritional value in the diet. Careful preparation of greens so all excess water is removed is important. Use a variety of greens for colour, flavour and texture contrast. Create a very interesting dressing for salad lovers. The accompanying recipe for Summertime Salad accomplishes these important points in salad preparation.

Have fun with your salad making. Lawry's Food of Canada Ltd. offer dehydrated blends of salad dressing mixes. These dressings come in laminated foil packages sealed to maintain fresh quality of the ingredients. They are completely moisture and vapour proof. Ideal for summer campers or cottagers.

A wide choice to suit every taste is available - 10 flavours in all. These fall into 2 categories - mayonnaise, creamy style dressings, or oil and vinegar style.

Lawry's creamy style dressing mixes are available in Creamy French, Bleu Cheese, Thousand Island and Creamy Green Goddess. The oil and vinegar style come in Italian, Italian with cheese, Old Fashion French, Caesar, Garlic, Lemon Garlic and Bacon.

Bacon Dressing Mix for salads is the newest flavour addition. Bacon is a naturally flavoured dressing, rich with the taste of Canadian style bacon using real bacon.

The recipe for Summertime Salad uses this new Bacon Salad Dressing prepared with fresh oil and vinegar.

Crisply-fresh lettuce is tossed with endive, watercress, beets and egg, and spiced with Seasoned Salt and Seasoned Pepper. The piquant Bacon dressing is zesty with spices, a touch of garlic and onion. Easy and elegant for the hostess to prepare.

1 small head romaine
1 small head lettuce
1 cup endive, torn in pieces
1/2 cup watercress, torn in sprigs
1 cup shoestring beets, well drained
1 hard-cooked egg, sieved
Lawry's Seasoned Salt
Lawry's Seasoned Pepper
1 pkg. Lawry's Bacon Dressing Mix for salads

Prepare Bacon Dressing Mix for salads according to package directions. Tear romaine and lettuce in 2" pieces into salad bowl. Add endive, watercress, beets and egg. Sprinkle with Seasoned Salt and Seasoned Pepper. Toss with one half - three quarter cup Bacon Salad Dressing Mix.

Makes 6 servings.

SAUSAGE SORCERY

*June's calendar is filled with showers for brides, the mothers-to-be, and parties for graduates. An attractive tray of sliced luncheon meat, assorted bread and condiments makes delicious help-yourself refreshments. It's easy for the hostess and great for guests, says the home economists for Union Carbide.

*If you are getting the boat out for the summer season and planning lunch on-board, try soup on your sloop. You can make it meatier by adding wieners cut crosswise. This tasty addition satisfies ravenous appetites from all that fresh air.

*Is getting back into the bathing suit a bit of a squeeze? You can win the battle by losing. Get acquainted with Breadless Sandwiches. Take your lunchmeat solo - without bread. Wrap it around a pickle or carrot stick and save on calories.

*School is out this month, so make vacation time a happy period they'll remember. Put a little excitement into daily luncheons by planning a picnic at the park. Chop wieners and mix them with grated cheddar cheese and mayonnaise for a protein-rich sandwich spread to take along.

*The Class of '77 may elect you the Hostess of the Year if you're willing to turn over the rec room for their year-end bash. Prepare, in advance, wieners simmering in barbeque sauce, trays of sliced luncheon meats, and a well-stocked refrigerator with their favorite refreshments. Then you can retire from the scene and let them enjoy the memories of another school year.

*It's the season to think of cold meat salads. One that's great this time of year includes diced bologna, apples, hard cooked eggs and cooked potatoes. Season to taste with salt and pepper and moisten with mayonnaise.

*When you are planning meals on the road during summer vacations, remember the camp-out meals are square meals. They should include the Basic Four - Meat, Bread and Cereal, Dairy, and Fruit and Vegetable Groups. Include servings from each to provide nutrition and variety.

'One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd., Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

Trying to educate consumers that food in Canada is a bargain is almost impossible.

Even Gordon Bennett, deputy minister of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food in Ontario, has admitted publicly that his department has failed.

How do we convince consumers at the end of the food chain that they aren't the victims of a rip-off? he told members of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario when he spoke to them recently in Waterloo.

His department has been trying but has not found a convincing method. How do you explain to consumers that some food prices rose because Russia bought huge quantities of grain in 1972 or because there was a drought in Europe last year?

How do you explain that the price of sugar went sky-high a year or more ago because of the great demand when other sweeteners were banned? Or because successive governments allowed the sugarbeet industry in Canada to die and Canadians had to depend completely on imports?

Bennett made a point that this column has been trying to drum into the minds of consumers for 10 years. He said consumers here get a good deal on most food products.

Consumers here pay between 18 and 20 per cent of their disposable income dollar on food, he said. In some countries consumers spend up to 80 per cent of their disposable income dollar on food.

About 20 per cent of the jobs in Ontario — and goodness knows, this province needs all the jobs it can get these days — are linked directly with agriculture. Ontario accounts for a third of all farm receipts in Canada, in spite of the huge amounts paid to Prairie grain farmers. Ontario's gross farm receipts totalled more than $2.6 billion last year.

I read not long ago that approximately 43 per cent of the gross national product is generated throughout the food industry. Without that important aspect of the GNP, Canada would be literally bankrupt.

Which means that the industry itself is of paramount importance. No wonder the Canadian Federation of Agriculture has chastised the federal government for not including farm representation in the so-called tri-partite talks between government, business and labor on the future economic shape of Canada.

Personally, I think farmers have a legitimate complaint when they request equal representation on basic social and economic policy issues.

Statistics Canada figures show that net farm income is forecast to increase by only 11.6 per cent over the depressed levels of 1971. That certainly is not much of an increase in six years. I know of no other sector of the economy which has had such a low return on labor and investment in those years.

Before the Anti-Inflation Board, huge segments of the labor force were getting raises between 10 and 45 per cent, sometimes in one year. Yet farmers have had increases of less than two per cent a year since 1971.

It hardly seems fair that an industry of such importance should be struggling to make ends meet. Thousands of farmers have been forced out of business in those six years. Thousands more will be forced into bankruptcy in the next few years.

It is also tough for a great many farmers — about 42 per cent of them in Waterloo County, one of the most diversified farming areas in the province — who have to work at another part time job just to remain on the land.

Bennett told the Federated Women's Institutes — most of them farmers' wives — to help convince consumers that marketing boards are necessary to improve stability in the farming sector of the food industry, the sector that has traditionally borne the most risk along the food chain.

I can only echo Bennett's statement. This corner has been prodding farmers and farmers' wives for years to come out of the boondocks and stand up for themselves. Nobody else will do it for them.

Parsley has three times as much vitamin A and C as oranges.

INTS FOR OMEOWNERS

Safety Sense For Riding Mowers

It's important to be a good driver—not just of your car but of your power mower. The following is a list of safety tips for handling a riding lawn mower suggested by experts at the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute.

RIGHT DIRECTION — Mow up and down slopes for greater stability.

1. Read the owner's manual. Then test ride the machine, making sure to familiarize yourself with it before engaging the mower.
  2. Never allow passengers.
  3. Before you leave your seat, disengage power to the wheels and make sure the blade has stopped.
  4. When backing up, take extra care. Make sure no one has come into the area.
  5. Mow up and down slopes rather than sideways for greater stability. Don't stop or start on slopes.
  6. Reduce speed on slopes and avoid sharp turns to prevent tipping or losing control.

We Can Fight Together

To Lower Inflation

A vote for Dave Hobson is a strong vote for a responsible and dedicated man.

Your gas bill went up $100.00 this year. Your oil bill went up $160.00 this year. But, your wages stayed at 8 per cent. This issue alone shows poor management. Dave Hobson cares more about people than power. Dave Hobson's policy says no government tax will increase faster than your income. Together you can have an alternative. Vote Dave Hobson on June 9th.

DAVE HOBSON

Bill Smiley Great feelings

By BILL SMILEY

One of the deepest satisfactions in writing a column of this kind is the knowledge that you are getting into print the angers and frustrations of a lot of other people, who have no recourse for their resentments, and consequently take them out on the old man or the old lady.

How do you know this? Well, because people write you letters cheering you on to further attacks, and other people come up to you, perfect strangers, shake hands warmly, and say "By the Holy Ole Jumpin' Bill, you really hit the nail on the head."

This can be a little disconcerting, as you are never quite sure which nail they are referring to. If the congratulator is a woman, I smile weakly and change the subject. Because sure as guns, though she thought you were one of nature's noblemen for your assault on male chauvinism last week, she'll turn on you like a snake when she reads tomorrow's paper, with the column exposing female chauvinism.

Speaking recently to a class of potential writers in a creative writing course, I tried to pass along the personal satisfaction one gets from this type of personal journalism.

I emphasized the "personal" satisfaction because there's a lot more of that involved than there is of the other kind, financial satisfaction. Columnists and freelance writers have no union working for them, nor any professional association, as have doctors, lawyers, teachers.

They have only their own talent and wit and perseverance with which to penetrate the thick heads and thicker skins of editors and publishers.

But it's a great feeling when you vent your wrath, say, about the rapaciousness of mechanics, and you are button-holed six times in the next three days by people with horror stories about mechanics you can scarcely believe.

Trouble is, they all want you to write another column about mechanics, and but some real meat into it. This means, in effect, that they would happily stand in the wings and applaud when you were sued for libel.

Some readers would like you to be constantly attacking whatever it is that they don't like. Capitalist friends are aghast when you refuse to launch an assault on capital gains taxes. Welfarist friends think you are a traitor and a fink when you won't attack the government for not providing color TV for everyone on the take.

I am not by nature an attacker, and I think there is nothing more boring than a writer of any kind who tries to make a career of being a "hard hitting" journalist.

Once in a while my gently bubbling nature boils over. Throwing caution and syntax to the winds, I let my spleen have a field day and try to throw some sand in the grease with which many aspects of society are trying to give us a snow job. And that's one of the finest paragraphs I've ever written, if mixed metaphors are your bag.

Fair game for the hard-hitter are: garage mechanics, plumbers, postal workers, supermarkets, civil servants, and politicians. Most of them can't hit back, and everybody hates them, except garage mechanics and their wives, plumbers and their wives, etc.

Smaller fry are doctors, lawyers, teachers, used car salesmen. They all squeal like dying rabbits when attacked, but nobody pays much attention to them except doctors and their wives, etc.

There are a few areas that even the hardest-hitters avoid. When have you, lately, read a savage attack on greedy farmers, callous nurses, or unloving mothers? And yet, there are lots of them around.

One of these days, perhaps, one of these hard hitting writers will muster enough guts, after about five brandies, to launch an all-out attack on the audacity of women, thinking they're as good as men. Boy, that fellow will learn what real hard hitting is all about.

Personally, I can't stay mad at anybody long enough to be a voice of the people, or a public watchdog, or any of those obnoxious creatures who try to tell other people how they should feel.

The only constant in my rage is the blatant manipulation of self-seeking politicians who will twist and warp and wriggle and squirm and bribe for self-perpetuation in office. Best example at the moment is the Tory government in Ontario, which has called a totally unnecessary election in that province through sheer hunger for greater power.

Otherwise, I get a great deal more joy from touching the individual life than inflaming the masses. When I get a letter from an old lady in hospital, crippled with arthritis, who has managed to get a chuckle out of my column, it makes me feel good.

Recently, I got a letter from a young Scot who has immigrated to Canada. He says: "I have learned more about Canada and Canadians through reading your column than all the accumulated wisdom from the Canadian newsmagazines, novels and TV programs I have absorbed."

Now there is a man with his head screwed on right. If I, as a newcomer, tried to get my impressions of this country from newsmagazines and TV programs, I'd catch the first boat or plane home.

So, I guess I'll just try to go on talking to people, getting sore, having some fun, bragging about my grand-boys, looking for sympathy in the war between the sexes. That's what life is all about, not plumbers and politicians and other horrors of that ilk.

Unemployment doesn't just hurt those out of work.

It effects every last one of you.

We Can combat unemployment and enliven the economy through job creation programs in "all" of the vital sectors of our economy.

As the Liberal member for Northumberland county, the "right of employment" for every willing and able citizen will be my prime concern. I will strive to see that constructive measures are implemented by the next government.

Rollins wins after tough campaign

MADOC - After what he called one of the hardest elections he has ever fought, Clarke T. Rollins retained his provincial seat for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough in last Thursday's election.

Although his lead over second-place Liberal and candidate Dave Hobson was approximately 700 fewer than in the 1975 provincial election, the victory for the 18-year veteran of Queen's Park was seen by most as a show of support for the way he has managed the affairs of the 5,000 square mile riding since his first election as its representative in 1959.

All three big-name parties in the race lost votes in comparison with the 1975 election. The Conservatives, who had received 10,912 votes in that election, only managed 10,288 in last week's voting. This was a drop of 684 votes. The Liberals received 21 fewer votes this time round, with 8,550 as opposed to 8,571 in 1975. The NDP also received fewer votes this time, 2,392, down 587 from the election two years ago.

The other two candidates in last week's voting were not representative of parties entered in the last election.

Bill Hawthorne, Jr., running as an independent candidate, managed to gain the support of 260 voters, while the Social Credit and candidate, Gary Beamish, managed only 131 votes. Beamish was particularly surprised by his poor showing in his home riding of Norwood, where he failed to get any votes at all.

In the battle between the two old-time parties in the local area, Rollins came out on top.

Madoc Village went to Rollins by a margin of 353 to Hobson's 229; an increase in the popular vote for Rollins of 24 over the 1975 election.

Madoc Township also went to Rollins, who had 372 votes compared with Hobson's 265. In the 1975 campaign, Rollins managed to gather 418 votes in the Township polls. The Cooper vote went to Hobson, however, by a margin of one vote, 73 to 72. This was the area in which Rollins refused to show up for an all-candidates meeting, and was the only poll in the Township not won by the Tories.

Marmora Village also went to the Conservatives, who had 322 votes compared with the Liberals' 238.

In Marmora and Lake Township Hobson beat Rollins 296 to 280. In the 1975 election Rollins had received 289 votes in the Township polls.

One significant upset for the Conservatives in the voting last Thursday occurred in Tweed. There the voters favored Hobson over Rollins by a margin of 431 to 385. In the last election the Tories had managed to get 413 votes there.

Voter turnout for the Hastings-Peterborough riding was down compared with the last election. This time, 931 fewer voters cast ballots than in 1975. The chief cause of poor voter turnout seemed to be, here and throughout the province, a chronic lack of interest on the part of the electorate.

Indeed, the provincial election of 1977 may go down as an unnecessary (the results are little different from the standings before it was called) and costly ($23 million and counting) election which should have been called off due to lack of interest.

While his wife Bev held their campaign-weary son, Tommy, Clarke T. Rollins addressed the capacity crowd on hand to greet him at the Kiwanis Centre following news of his success in holding the Hastings-Peterborough riding in last Thursday's provincial election. Mr. Rollins told the cheering supporters in the hall that this had been one of the hardest elections he had fought.

Hobson gets cold shoulder from Tories

MADOC - In what was seen by many as a somewhat less-than-magnanimous gesture on the part of the winner in last Thursday's election in the Hastings-Peterborough riding, Clarke Rollins refused to accept the congratulations of second-place candidate Dave Hobson.

Rollins and his supporters were celebrating the sweet joys of victory at the Madoc Kiwanis Centre when Liberal candidate Dave Hobson and some of his campaign workers arrived to offer their congratulations.

Hobson and his supporters had learned of his second-place finish in the balloting while at their election night headquarters at Centre Hastings Secondary School, about a block from the Kiwanis Centre.

When he learned that he had been defeated by Rollins, Hobson and some of his supporters headed for the Kiwanis Centre to offer their congratulations to the winner.

Upon arriving at the centre, they were greeted by Rollins' campaign manager, Ken Smith, who told them that this was not an all-candidates' meeting, and that they were not welcome.

Among those who were told they were not welcome at the Kiwanis Centre was Ron Powell, who is the president of the Kiwanis Club of Madoc, owners of the building.

Secondary School. Mr. Hobson failed in his second attempt to unseat long-standing Conservative MPP Clark Rollins in last Thursday's voting.

After a brief period during which Mr. Hobson spoke to the crowd of his desire to congratulate the winner, the liberal supporters left the hall.

Rollins said that he didn't want to "get down in the gutter, in the same campaign he ran," when later asked why he didn't respond more favorably to Hobson's presence at the Kiwanis Centre.

Earlier in the evening, when giving his victory address to the capacity crowd at the centre, Rollins had lashed out at Hobson, saying that he would institute an investigation to find out why "this auxiliary MPP or whatever you call it has time to roam this riding of Hastings-Peterborough and draw a paycheck from the Board of Education."

Rollins went on to say that if the school board was unwilling to take the matter up he would bring it out into the open by going to the media "with the facts."

Carnival turned over to Kinsmen

At a meeting last Wednesday evening the Winter Carnival Committee which has been responsible for the running of Madoc's annual winter carnival officially turned responsibility for the function over to the Madoc and District Kinsmen Club.

On a motion by Jim Watson and seconded by Jean Bailey it was decided unanimously by the Committee that the service club could better run the event, next year slated for the weekend of January 28.

The meeting, attended by Jim Watson of the Fair Board, Mary Crawford and Jean Bailey of the Rebekah Lodge, Ron Powell of the Kiwanis Club, Mrs. Margaret Derry of the Eastern Star, and Bob Bancroft of the Kinsmen, saw the formal closing out of the Winter Carnival Committee.

As organizers for the annual winter event, the Kinsmen will be responsible for seeing that all of the clubs, schools, and others interested in holding events during the three-day carnival have an opportunity to do so.

Some of the clubs and organizations which Kinsmen president Bob Bancroft hopes to see get involved in next year's carnival include the Kiwanians, Rebekah Lodge, the IOOF, the Fair Board, all local schools, the Orange Lodge, the various church auxiliary and ladies' groups, the Legion, the Fire Department, and the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary.

Also at the meeting the president of last year's winter carnival, Bob Bancroft, thanked the many volunteers for last year's successful carnival, especially the decorating committee from the public and high schools; the press and television coverage; Floss Kincaid for the organization of the Flea Market; and the many other organizers.

Letter to the editor

Dear Sir:

With the plans to unseat his Liberal Opponent from his teaching position and his refusal to shake the hand of Dave Hobson, M.P.P. Clarke Rollins has shown a behaviour unfit for his position.

To all the DECENT people who voted and supported the P.C.'s, my sincere condolences with your victory. We may end up with a Political Martyr in the Liberal camp. You apparently have got a much greater problem.

How do you clean up a shameful situation like this? Power is corrupting!

Yours truly,

Ken Schultz-Nielsen.

Madoc couple injured in accident

A Madoc area Couple were admitted to Belleville General Hospital following a single-vehicle accident Saturday afternoon. Listed in fair condition with injuries received from the accident were the driver of the car, Sydenham Morgan, 66, and his wife, Kathleen, both of R.R. #5, Madoc. ## Local boys go to track meet

by JAN GRAHAM

Track and Field is an up and coming sport at C.H.S.S. It was evident this season not only by the number of participants on the Track and Field team but also the calibre of the students.

C.H.S.S. sent four students this year to the All-Ontario Track and Field Meet held in Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario. The four boys were Joe Brooks, Kelly Welch, Steve Lawrence, and Blaine Wickens making a strong 4 by 100 relay team. Joe Brooks also entered the high hurdles.

"It was one of the most outstanding All-Ontario meets ever; records were constantly being broken", commented Mr. Barry Pyear, men's track coach. "The facilities offered by the University were excellent including an eight-lane rubber-surface track."

The relay team ran well, however, they did not reach the finals. Joe Brooks in the high hurdles was the only person in the Bay of Quinte area that qualified for the finals in any event. Joe came in 7th in the final race against high calibre competition. Just how high was calibre? Joe's time in 7th place would have taken first place last year.

"The entire track team displayed good leadership, sportsmanship and spirit throughout the season", Coach Barry Pyear commented.

Treasurer: Padre, Canon J. Thompson.

Executive: Don McFadden, A. Jowett, George Hoover and Harry Dennis.

Branch Service Officer, Harry F. McGuire.

Following the installation a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Women's Institute members visit Erland Lee Home

by Carol Paranuik

STONEY CREEK - Nearly 50 Women's Institute members from the Hastings North District enjoyed a trip to the Erland Lee Home at Stoney Creek last Tuesday, June 7. The home is the site of the first formal organization of Women's Institute which took place on February 19, 1897 through the combined efforts of Mr. Erland Lee of the Farmer's Institute and Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless.

The trip tied in with Ontario Women's Institute Week, June 6 to 10, during which items were originally in the Lee family home.

Mrs. Mary Burton of Woodbridge, Ontario, a member of Elder's Mills W.I., was baking whole wheat bread in the old-time iron pans in the kitchen. Samples of the finished product received first-hand approval from the visitors.

Moving into the quaint parlour, an old-time organ, complete with brass candelabra, was first pointed out. Standing graciously against another wall was a what-not, a gift from North York District, holding a display of Canadian glass. At the time special activities took place at the home.

On arrival at the site, the busload was greeted by Mrs. Wm. G. Miller, appropriately attired in costume of yesterday, with a long cotton housedress, matching bonnet and a white cotton pinafore, complemented with a winning smile and pleasant personality. Mrs. Miller invited her guests to browse through the work house, where several craft demonstrations were taking place. These included doll-making from corn husks, driftwood ornaments, carved birds and animals, hand weaving, quilting, spinning, and hooking wall hangings. The ladies were invited to sit in on the quilting that was taking place in the centre of the room.

In the drive shed printed serviettes, hasty notes, silver spoons and quilt blocks were on sale as souvenirs.

The group was then given a tour of the house. Greeting the visitors in the pioneer kitchen was F.W.I.O. President, Mrs. Herb Maluske of Chesley, Ontario, who pointed out several beautiful antiques on display. These included the 'couch' in the corner, still with its original cover, the antique rocker, overhead lamp (now electrified), other lanterns, the dishes, cutlery, a first washing machine, and even an antique mouse trap. Many of these far end of the room stood an ornate mantle fireplace of 1850, on which were several antique ornaments that had been donated by branches and districts throughout the province. The fireplace had been brought to the home by three districts in Lambton County. The original settee and another donated one, several old pictures on the wall, the old-fashioned carpet and a red velvet window seat in the bay window all added to the early period decor. Of special interest in this room was the child's platform rocker, donated by a member of Hart's-Riggs' Institute, Mrs. Mary Trotter.

Upstairs, three bedrooms and a child's room contained a wide variety of antique furniture, bedspreads, washbowl sets, chamber pails, clothing and books. In the child's room were many antique toys, dolls, a dollhouse, as well as an old baby swing and a wooden frame, which resembles those available today. Many members from Hastings County were pleased to see the antique doll carriage, complete with the original lace umbrella, sitting stately in this room. It had been donated by Miss Loreen Connor of Madoc branch, who had spent many hours of her childhood playing with it and the two china dolls that were seated in it. In the dining room, Mrs. Victor Beachin, the official hostess of the home, described the corner what-not, the china cabinet and its contents, the huge table and the desk by the bay window. All were invited to sign the guest book and wished a pleasant day and safe journey home as the tour was completed.

Arena topic of Council meeting

"The Old Arena" was the main topic of discussion at the village council meeting held June 6th. Reeve Barton, Tom Deline, Daryl Kramp, Robert Bancroft and Joe Ash were present for the monthly meeting.

Among the suggestions for the future of the old arena was tearing it down and using the grounds for parking. An objection was raised by Reeve Barton that he didn't feel that the residents of Madoc should be taxed for extra parking space when merchant's cars are still being parked in designated customer lots.

The discussion also included suggestions of selling the lot and building as is, tearing down the building and selling the lot, and selling it to the merchant council. Further suggestions are welcome and may be submitted to the Village Clerk.

The Kiwanis Street Dance for July 16th from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. was approved by the council. However, it is still subject to approval by the ministry of transportation. The proposed dance will be on Durham Street between St. Lawrence and Elgin Streets.

Previous to the stop at the Erland Lee Home, the group had spent an hour at the Botanical Gardens at Hamilton.

Those attending the tour were: from Madoc Branch - Eileen McGibbon, Sharon Phillips, Helen Roemer, Loreen Connor, Keitha Parks, Irene Gordon, Aleatha Woods, Anna Carman, Nell Wood; Cooper

Nina Chapman, Margaret Chapman; Marmora - Bertha Marskell, Eileen Demorest, Ruth Moffat, Percy and Maud Carman; Queensboro - Margaret Rollins, Grace O'Rourke, Marguerite Thompson, Ella Thompson, Evelyn Lynn, Hazel Thompson; Hart's-Riggs - Kathleen Tobin, Vera Burnside, Mary Trotter, Doris Pigden, Carol Paranuik, Pearl Foley; Ivanhoe, Nellie Ross, Mary Sills, Evelyn Pollock, Margaret Haggerty, Mabel Irvine, Tillie Cooke, Florence Wright; Stirling - Emma Sine, Jean Chapman, Dorothy Ross, Helen Fitchett, Mae Clarke; Pine Grove - June Irish; Hastings Junior - Margaret Thompson, Anne Dracup, Linda Richardson, Elaine Wallace and Ruth McCurdy.

Badgely - Peacock wedding

Marmora Penecostal Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Deanna Rose Badgely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Badgely of Marmora, and Kenneth Wylie Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peacock of Madoc.

Reverend James Stevenson performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of nylon organza featuring a deep flounce at the hem flowing into a train. Wide alecon lace adorned her full bouffant sleeves, as well as forming a pinafore on the bodice and ending in an apron effect on the skirt and flounce.

Her headpiece of white silk flowers was complimented by a delicate three-tier silk illusion veil embroidered with tiny silk flowers.

She carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and stephenotis.

The maid of honour was Margie Vance of Madoc, and bridesmaids included Kathy Stalker of Marmora, Angela Badgely and Paula Badgely, sisters of the bride. They were dressed alike in floor length dresses

Goodbye to late nights

Teachers begin early summer hours this week

Teachers at Centre Hastings Secondary School will begin work one hour earlier beginning June 17. The teachers' work day will begin at 8:00 a.m. until June 30.

With examinations over and students gone for the summer, teachers begin the job of making final evaluation of students, conducting promotion meetings, preparing final report cards and a round of housekeeping duties. Included will be two days of work revising courses and planning for next year.

The teachers feel that beginning an hour earlier, when the school is cooler, will make work not only more comfortable but more efficient. If the experiment is successful it will be considered again next year.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC REGARDING PORNOGRAPHIC PUBLICATIONS

Some months ago, the Trustees of the Hastings-Prince Edward County Roman Catholic Separate School Board mounted a campaign against the availability of pornographic publications to children. In December, 1976, the Trustees had published a previous "Open Letter to the Public" and suggested two steps which might be taken by interested people who wished to join with us in our endeavours. Their suggestions were:

1. That letters be sent to your members of Provincial and Federal Parliaments expressing individual anxiety over the availability of pornographic publications to children.

2. That as many people as possible ask the vendors of these books and magazines to remove such publications from the reach of children.

As many people are aware, a similar program has been spearheaded in Toronto and has won the active support of many heads of the different Churches, of many members of Parliament, and of a very large section of the general public.

The campaigns are being effective, and we would ask interested people to continue their support by continuing to voice their objections in the same manner that we have previously suggested, or in other ways that may occur to individuals. We feel that it is only by a continuous co-ordinated expression of opinion that our lawmakers will be encouraged to take a stand against the spread of material which is objectionable to so many.

Your active participation in this campaign would be very much appreciated.
Yours sincerely,

E.J. Neville,
Director of Education.

Knowledge required for safe boating

Inexperience, overconfidence, carelessness, disregard for the weather, lack of responsibility and neglect in taking normal precautions are the general factors that cause the majority of drowning fatalities from pleasure boats.

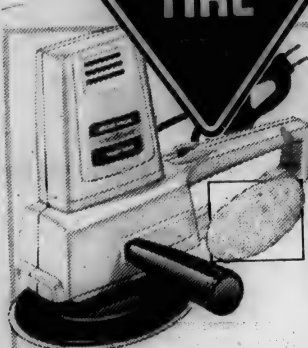

The Ontario Safety League reports that during the 1976 recreational boating season there were 98 drownings from pleasure boats in the province. Almost 90 per cent of those drowned were not wearing lifejackets, 53 per cent were under 30-years-of-age, 44 per cent were canoeists and 70 per cent of the drownings were attributable to capsizing or swamping.

Family reunion held

The descendants of the late Jeff and Mervelline Brough gathered at the Flinton Town Hall on Saturday, May 28, 1977 for a family reunion.

Beginning the festivities was a Social time, followed by a delicious supper. The family then attended Mass for the deceased members of the Brough family at St. John's Roman Catholic Church, Flinton. The High point of the Mass was the receiving of her first Communion of a great-granddaughter, Miss Alysia Sharpe, from St. Catherine's, Ontario.

The families then returned to the Hall for a gala evening of dancing and visiting, at which time several prizes were given out as well as door prizes being won.

The relatives came from as far away as Tampa, Florida, Michigan and all parts of Ontario.

This was a first reunion for the Brough's and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Some members of the family were unable to attend due to ill health and their presence was certainly missed.

At item of interest was a display of snapshots taken over the years of different members of this large family. A family tree was also of great interest to everyone.

Cherished antiques donated

By Carol Parankuk

Two antiques from the Madoc area now form a part of an historical landmark in Western Ontario.

The items, a child's platform rocker and a doll carriage, are both over 70 years old. They have been permanently placed in the Erland Lee Home at Stoney Creek, near Hamilton. The home is the founding site of the women's institute.

Mrs. Mary Trotter, a member of Hart's-Riggs' Institute of Madoc Township, is the owner of the rocking chair. Originally, it had been bought for Mrs. Trotter's aunt (her father's sister). Mrs. Trotter's father was John Finch, who resided in Toronto at the time. His parents were early settlers of that area, then known as York. The chair had been purchased from the Finch Furniture Factory, where it was built. When Mrs. Trotter was six years of age, her grandmother Minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Miss Gladys Martin. Mrs. Albert Harvey was appointed assistant Librarian for the "Travelling Library". Mr. Cecil Robinson, convener of Christian Citizenship opened the program with hymn "Whosoever Heareth" and Miss Grace Robinson gave the devotional talk. Mr. Kenneth Martin delighted all with a solo, "Home on the Range". Mr. Cecil Robinson, convener of Topic, the subject being "What Can We Do About Poverty and Wealth". Mr. Albert Harvey then favoured us with a reading given in his usual interesting way, entitled "Jimmie Murphy and the Owl", which was much enjoyed by all. Miss Freda McCann then staged an interesting "Tree Contest" which brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

A total of $2300 damages resulted from a two-car collision on Highway 62 about a half-mile north of the Ridge Road early Saturday morning.

The investigating officer, Constable Derick Travis of the Madoc Detachment, reported that a 1973 Datsun pulling a boat and trailer was northbound when it was in collision with a southbound 1970 Chev. Driver of the Datsun was Derek Blair, 24, of Weston, Ontario, who also had a passenger with him. Seventeen-year-old Kenneth Ray Stewart of Trenton was driving the Chev., and was alone at the time. Constable Bill Reid of the Madoc O.P.P. was called to the scene of a single-vehicle accident on Highway 7 about four miles east of Madoc early Saturday morning.

The driver of the 1968 Oldsmobile, Elizabeth Gallagher, age 19, of Fairpoint Beach, Ontario, reported that an unidentified vehicle forced her off the highway just west of the Black River Road at about 2:35 a.m. She lost control of the vehicle, went into the north ditch and struck a rock. She was westbound at the time. Damages to the vehicle were estimated at $500, according to the investigating officer. No charges were laid.

No injuries were reported by the driver nor the lone passenger of the car.

Hazzards Community News

Two people from this community interested in genealogy concerning family, church, immigration, etc. recently attended the three-day Ontario Genealogical Society Seminar, Carleton College, Ottawa, with over four hundred delegates in attendance.

Anyone interested in ways and means of learning more about ancestry, begin now to plan for next year's Seminar in Trent University, Peterborough.

The speakers in Ottawa were mainly from the Public Archives of Ontario, or Canada. To name a few — Carl A. Christie, Ph.D., Archivist of British Record and Manuscript Section; Patricia Kennedy, M.A., Head Pre-Confederation Records, etc.; John Mezaks, M.A., A.C.A. Government Records Section of Archives of Canada; Alan Rayburn, M.A. Toponymy; Bruce Elliott, B.A. Honours, Genealogist and Local History Researcher had one hour's time on "Utility and Variety of Ontario Church Records" — "Ottawa's own whiz kid" — researching from age 12 to his present age of 20 years." He inserted good bits of humour among facts — the humour was factual too, of course.

Displays of Family Trees on walls of corridors were works of art. Madoc Township's book, Pilgrimage of Faith, graced the Church Records' table and was welcomed by 'former' strangers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tokley of Stirling and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sim of Sarnia were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ketcheson. Bill and Evelyn Sim left on Monday to call on Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hayton, Foxboro, and Miss Alma Keene, Belleville, former residents of Hazzards.

Fifteen Hill and Dale trail riders arrived at Hazzards Hall for a surprise birthday party for one rider, Keith Kirkpatrick. The G.C. Johnston family supplied the birthday cake.

The seven sons of Mrs. Beaudrow all came to visit Mrs. Beaudrow, Lisa and Krista, over the weekend of June 5.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foley were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Foley and Phillip of Foxboro.

Mrs. Ralph Franklin and daughter, Betty LaPalm called on Hemeke Howard Tuesday evening.

When Edna and Margaret Wright were girls they arrived with their mother in this locality from Saskatchewan. Edna was one of the writers first entrance to high school pupils. Now, Mrs. Bert Miller, and Mrs. M. Cruikshank, of Belleville, pleasantly surprised the residents of "Valley Croft" on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Pitt of Oshawa spent the weekend with Wally's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pitt.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Don McKinnon in the death of Don's only sister Jean, Mrs. Dale Dempsey of Appleton Wisconsin. A Committal Service will be held at Hazzard's Corners Cemetery at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, June 15th.

"BETWEEN OURSELVES"

Modern medicine provides much to ease the acute and growing pain to which, at some time or other, we are all subject. I am sure that tranquilizers intelligently administered have a rightful place. Life, however, is more than tranquility. It could lull us into a false sense of well-being. Without the warning it offers, a child touching a red hot stove could have not only burnt fingers but death.

Man requires not only the sedations that make pain bearable while the causes of pain are being treated, but also, the basic assurance that enables him to handle victoriously the stresses and strains, the bruises and pains of the body, and the anxieties and distresses of the mind.

I once heard of a minister burdened to the breaking point with the cares of his parish. One night after a particularly trying day, he went to bed only to find that he could not as readily unclasp his spirit of care as he could his body of clothes. Dreamless sleep refused to come. He tossed and turned, all the cares of the day moving across the stage of his mind, high-lighted and magnified. Today he might have reached for a tranquilizer but they did not exist then. He resorted to all known devices to woo sleep but to no avail. He recited familiar passages of scripture that speak peace and reassurance but he could not experience their truth. Finally, when at the point of desperation he was about to jump out of bed, he seemed to hear a stern but kindly voice say to him: "Come, come, my son, enough of this. Close your eyes and sleep; there is no point in both of us staying awake." The minister slept.

This is the basic assurance we all need in varying degree in our turbulent and tossing times: that round our restlessness lies God's rest; that in the inadequacy of His never-slumbering love lies our peace. This does not dissolve our care into nothingness. It does renew us in the deep places of the soul making us able for all the day may bring.

In this sense of assurance this poem by Howard Thurman has meaning.

THE THREADS IN MY HAND

Only one end of the threads, I hold in my hand.
The threads go many ways, linking my life with other lives.

One thread comes from a life that is sick;
it is taut with anguish
And always there is the lurking fear that the life will snap
I held it tenderly. I must not let it go...

One thread comes from a high-flying kite;
It quivers with the mighty current of fierce and holy dreaming Invading the common day with far-off place and visions bright...

One thread comes from the failing hands of an old, old friend.
Hardly aware am I of the moment when the tight line slackened and there was nothing at all - nothing...

One thread is but a tangled mass that won't come right
Mistakes, false starts, lost battles, angry words - a tangled mass;
I have tried so hard, but it won't come right...

One thread is a strange thread - it is my
steadying thread;
When I am lost, I pull it hard and find my way.
When I am saddened, I tighten my grip and gladness glides along its quivering path;
When the waste places of my spirit appear in arid confusion, the thread becomes a channel of newness of life.

One thread is a strange thread - it is my
steadying thread.
God's hand holds the other end...

Bagpipe to be feature at CNE

The hills of Nepal, on the northeastern frontier of India, are thousands of miles from the Highland glens of Scotland -- but the bagpipe is a common bond.

This unusual bond will be demonstrated in spectacular fashion at the Scottish World Festival Tattoo, August 18 to 21, at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition.

Flying to Canada to take part in the award-winning Scottish Tattoo will be the famed Pipes and Drums of the 6th Queen Elizabeth's Own Gurkha Rifles of the legendary Brigade of Gurkhas.

The Gurkhas, the tough little hillmen from Nepal, and their world famous pipe band have for many years been star attractions at the Edinburgh Castle Tattoo in Scotland.

This August they will be making a special appearance at the Scottish World Festival Tattoo in honour of The Queen's silver jubilee.

For more than a hundred years, proud Gurkha warriors have been the pride of the British army, always faithful to the crown.

A Gurkha proverb reads: "It's better to die than be a coward."

And thousands of Canadian and American servicemen will remember these famed soldiers for their deeds of glory in Europe, North Africa and Asia during World War 2.

Always cheerful and slight of stature, the Gurkhas nevertheless have slashed their way into military history with their fearsome kukri, the heavy curved knife used to decapitate their foes.

Although never more than a tiny fraction of total British forces, the ferocious Gurkhas have won 26 Victoria Crosses - the highest military honour in the Commonwealth -- and a host of lesser decorations.

"No body of men has a higher reputation than the Brigade of Gurkhas," lauded Britain's Field Marshal Lord Slim.

Rabid cat

bites owner

A Madoc Township farmer is undergoing treatment for the prevention of rabies after he was bitten by a rabid farm pet last month.

Douglas Lee, of R.R. #3, Madoc, first noticed the cat claw at the dog earlier on the morning that he was attacked by it. His wife, Myrna, later observed the cat acting a little strange when she picked it up.

That afternoon, Doug said a visitor walked past the cat just ahead of him and patted it as he went. Just as Doug made a comment to the effect that he (the visitor) should watch that cat as it had been a little snarly that morning, it jumped on him, taking hold of his thigh with its teeth. It took three hard pulls to free the cat from his leg. Doug proceeded to the half-ton truck nearby where he got his gun and shot the animal.

Laboratory tests proved it was rabid. Needless to say, the remaining cats on the farm were disposed of and the farm dog has been placed under quarantine.

father in the business until the latter's death in 1971, sold the business to Larry Stickwood, who has operated his clothing store next door to West's since 1964. Before that time Stickwood's was located from 1935 to 1952 where Brett's is today, and from 1952 to 1964 in the location now occupied by Nickle's Jewellery.

Mr. West's store has been located since it was started in its present location, commonly known as the Wright Block. Until 1964 the company rented the space; however, in that year they bought the block from the Wright estate, and sold the east half to Stickwood's.

Mr. Stickwood plans to have the south side of the new store for ladies' wear and a fabric department, with the north side remaining as a men's clothing store. He said that his staff will remain basically the same. Joe McCaw will remain on staff, along with Mrs. Elvi Brownson, Audrey Townson, Lillian Franks, and the Stickwood family who help in the business. This includes his wife, Jane, his father Howard, and his mother, Norma. The two stores will be connected by an archway cut in the adjoining wall.

Cubs and Scouts wind up year's activities

by JEAN ASSELSTINE

On Tuesday June 7, 1977, the Beavers, Cubs and Scouts gathered together at the Madoc Public School to wind up their year's activities.

The Beavers opened the meeting by repeating their pledge. The Promise, Law and Prayer were said by individual Beavers.

Five boys left the colony. They were as follows: Ivan Herrington, Lenny Hyde, Andrew Powell, Bruce Reid, and Michael Reid. Their Keo, Paul Asselstine, escorted the boys to the Cub circle where they were introduced to their new friends in the Cub Pack. The sixers of the Cub Pack then stepped forward from the circle and led the cubs in the Grand Howl. They then repeated their promise, led by Doug Reid, with the laws of the Cubs being led by John Ostman.

Year bars were given out by: (Akela) Heather Kirkwood, leader of the Cubs with assistant; (Bagheera) Jim Bowry; Beaver Leader, Sonny Osborne, with assistants, Enie Mahoney and Bill Reid; and by Scout Leader, (Hawkeye) Bayden Powell, having the same name as Sir Bayden Powell who so many years ago formed the first Scout Troup.

The cubs, to be eligible to go up to scouts, had to be eleven years old by Christmas. The seven boys in this category were: Harold McQuigge, John Ostman, John Holmes, Brennan Devolin, Richard Masters, Doug Reid and Paul Asselstine.

Kinsmen to host summerfest

The Madoc and District Kinsmen Club will host the 1977 Summerfest to be held at the ball diamond, it was announced last week.

Following discussions at the regular meeting of the Kinsmen Club, held last Tuesday evening, it was announced that two bands and a senior calibre ball tournament will highlight the summer bash, this year slated for July 9.

Also discussed at the Kinsmen meeting last Tuesday evening was the possibility of the club taking over the running of next year's Winter Carnival. It was agreed by all the members present that the club would, if asked to, agree to sponsor the event, tentatively set for the weekend of January 28, 1978.

As a wind-up event for the year, since Kinsmen officially suspends its meetings during the summer months, the members decided to hold a family picnic on Sunday, June 12, at the ball diamond and later at Crystal Beach, where a barbeque was to be held.

Couple hospitalized following accident

A Whitby, Ontario man and his wife are in Belleville General Hospital following a single-car accident just south of Eldorado late Friday evening, June 3rd.

Taken to hospital were 36-year-old Gertrude G. Whitmore, driver of the vehicle, and the only passenger, her 46-year-old husband, Owen, both of 404 Harris Street, Whitby.

The mishap occurred at the crest of a hill when an unknown vehicle passed their northbound 1976 Dodge and apparently cut back into traffic too sharply, causing Mrs. Whitmore to pull to the right to avoid hitting the passing car. The Whitmore car skidded sideways, taking out some guide posts and striking a telephone pole before going down an embankment. Damages to the car were estimated at $4,000 and an additional $300 for the pole and guide posts.

Mrs. Whitmore sustained major injuries and her husband's injuries were described as minimal.

Constable Gerald Rollins of the Madoc Detachment, Ontario Provincial Police, was the investigating officer.

Peterborough rodeo puts cowboys to the test

Morrow Park in Peterborough took on a decidedly western appearance over the weekend as cowboys from across Canada and the north-eastern United States gathered for the Kawartha Internationals Stampede, part of the Belvedere Rodeo Circuit. The circuit began in Whitby June 4 and will be in this area again July 15-17 when Mel Wakefield presents his annual stampede at his ranch on Highway 7, just outside Norwood.

The three-day rodeo in Peterborough featured six events: saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and ladies' barrel racing. The bull riding, the roughest of the six, takes such a toll of riders that an accompanying program for the event included the line, "The rider will be disqualified if he is killed."

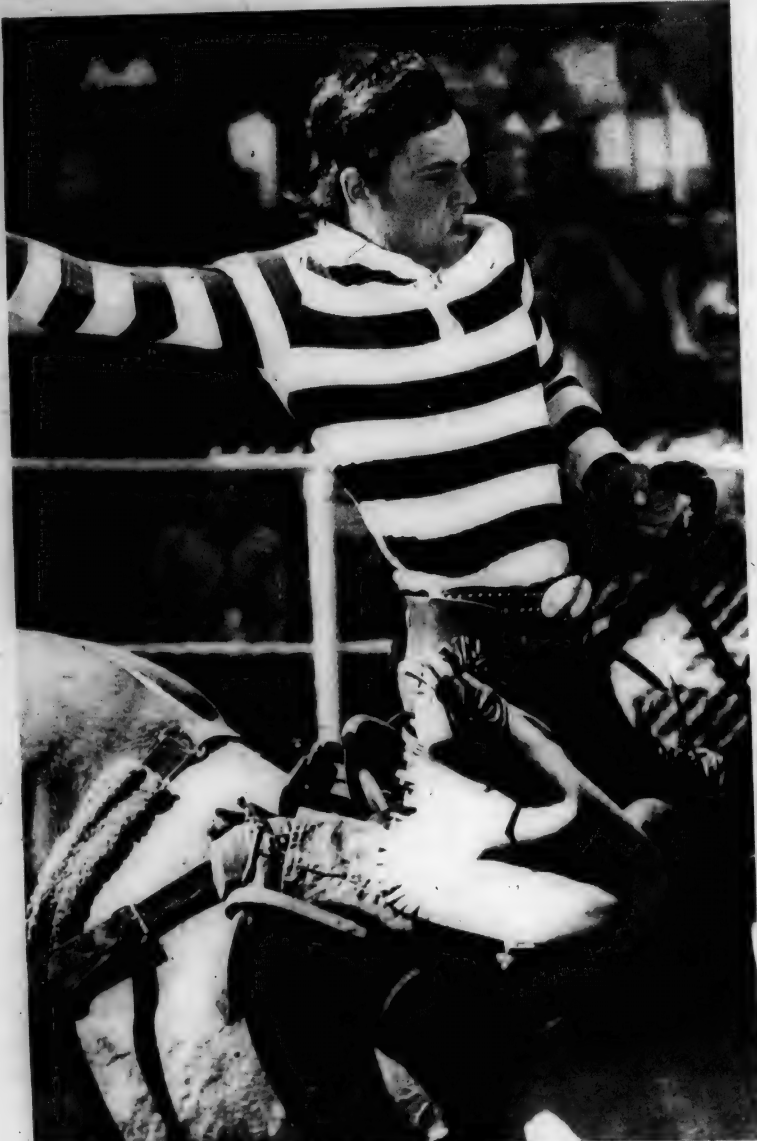

The stampede was sponsored by the Ontario Rodeo Association, the standard-setting body for rodeos in the province. Each cowboy entering one of the events competes for points as well as prize money. At the end of the season, the finals are held, open only to the top 10 point winners in each category. The champions are determined by the total points for the year.

More than one cowboy came close to losing his head during the Kawartha

action saw a lot of spills as riders attempted to last the necessary time

Saddle bronc riding and bareback bronc riding were both included in the rodeo.

Competitions began Friday night and continued on Saturday and Sunday

The rides during bull riding contests must have seemed like a roller coaster to the cowboys. Bull riding was the toughest of the six events.

Garden of Plenty

Backyard gardens, roadside stands are brimming with fresh, colourful vegetables, waiting to be chosen. In the height of salad season vegetables are at the peak of perfection. Ever been tempted to buy or pick more than you can actually use - bushels of tomatoes, baskets of green peppers and cucumbers. What could be better (or more appropriate) than an appetizing refreshing salad to use the plenty of the garden.

Gazpacho, the soup-salad of Spain, uses diced tomatoes, cucumbers, green pepper and onions, combined with oil, vinegar and spices. Served as a salad leave in bite sized pieces. As a salad-soup, puree in the blender and serve with croutons. Well chilled Gazpacho is guaranteed to perk up lagging warm weather appetites. But think ahead to next winter. Since your kitchen is filled with all these fresh vegetables, why not prepare this recipe in quantity and freeze. During the winter you may serve it as a hot soup or with certain menus as a cold soup.

Gazpacho originated in Spain. It has become the national dish and to me is surprising more hot weather climates have not adopted it. It is served cold in warm weather, hot in cold weather in Spain. Traditionally Gazpacho is prepared by taking seeded tomatoes, garlic, oil, salt and crustless bread, grinding them together to form a paste. It is then emptied into a clay pot and a few more tomatoes and sweet green peppers are ground and added with water, wine vinegar and olive oil. It is then allowed to settle for awhile in a bowl to marinate. This has become world famous.

In the test kitchen at Lawry's we are always looking for new and creative uses for our blended herbs and spices. Many ethnic recipes are somewhat lengthy in preparation, so we tend to look to use short-cuts to aid in food preparation time for busy homemakers.

This recipe for Gazpacho uses Lawry's well known Spanish Rice Seasoning Mix - a blend of spices, seasonings and vegetables including red and green bell peppers, sweet white onions and parsley.

Gazpacho (Soup-Salad)

- 1 clove garlic (halved)
- 1 pkg. Lawry's Spanish Rice Seasoning Mix
- 1 cup (8 oz.) tomato juice
- 1-1/2 pounds (approx. 6) fresh tomatoes
- 2 cups (1 medium) cucumber peeled and chopped
- 1/4 cup minced green pepper
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- Lawry's Seasoned Pepper

Rub a salad bowl with cut garlic clove. Empty Spanish Rice Seasoning Mix into bowl, add tomato juice, stir well. Peel tomatoes, remove cores and cube. Add tomatoes, cucumber, green pepper and onion to seasoned tomato juice. Sprinkle with oil and vinegar, stir thoroughly. Chill well before serving, sprinkle with Lawry's Seasoned Pepper. Serves 5 - 6.

Let's go Boating

Boating Guide Ashore

Good boaters obey waterway rules when afloat and also are equally responsible when ashore, says the Allied Boating Association of Canada. There are thousands of places to dock along Canada's shoreline, so there is no need to be an unwelcome intruder and possibly even break a local law.

Signs are usually posted for private property, so watch for these when selecting a campsite or a place for a picnic or rest stop. If you are not sure, try and check locally for permission.

Treat your stopping place as if it were your own property. Obey the law. Before cooking, make sure campfires are permitted. Nowadays many recreational areas prohibit fires, especially during dry conditions. Build your campfire on sand, clay or loam, so it can't spread. Keep your fire small and build it where it is protected from winds and breezes to avoid sparks flying into nearby woods. Never leave a fire unattended and make sure it is completely out. Break up coals and soak them thoroughly with water.

Keep sleeping bags a safe distance from fire and make sure children are always watched if near the fire. Always wear foot-wear around a campsite and keep a flashlight handy.

And, of course, don't litter. Use plastic garbage bags to leave your campsite in an equal or better condition than you found it. Don't bury garbage; store it in your boat until you can dispose of it in approved trash cans.

If sleeping ashore, don't use fuel-burning equipment in a closed tent or trailer without sufficient ventilation. Be sure your stove or lantern isn't too near, or touching the tent fabric. Keep fuel-burning appliances away from combustible materials.

If you do a little exploring in the woods, beware of poison ivy. If exposed, wash the affected areas as soon as possible with a strong laundry soap. Any clothing in contact with the plant should be washed thoroughly, too.

Viewing the news

Are missed opportunities to be the crumpled foundation blocks of Canada's history of the north? Will that large expanse of the far north that makes Canadian children proud to learn their country is one of the largest in the world continue to be a vast nothingness.

Our neighbors in the Arctic are active in tackling the problems of the environment and its people. It's sad to admit that the Russians and the Alaskans have comparatively viable Arctic economics and societies.

And here we are in Canada heading in the direction of again sweeping into a back corner the future of our share of Arctic territories.

I have not yet read the detailed Berger report. The newspaper digests indicate that this report is sensitive and warm toward man and animals -- a sincere compliment to its author's empathy toward the people he met. It is the report's single recommendation that a proposed pipeline project be shelved for 10 years that stirs my feelings of sadness.

There are times when not doing something, when inaction is appropriate. But not doing something of major economic significance in the far north these days is a major error for the people of that part of Canada and the rest of the nation.

If such an attitude prevails, the terrible sordid and economic results of continuing neglect will prevail because it becomes excuseable not to do many other things.

Why bother about a native lands settlement? What's the hurry? Where's the pressure? What good is a 3 per cent royalty of nothing? I understand one of the proposals for a settlement is that negotiating native groups receive a 3 per cent royalty of any oil and gas production. That's probably an acceptable idea. But how can any oil and gas be produced if there is a 10-year moratorium on a necessary pipeline? Why bother looking?

Someone suggests building a rail line. Also a good idea. I suspect the economics and hazards of moving oil and natural gas by rail are considerably worse than by a pipeline. And, there is the consideration of disruption of nature and the lifestyles of people, which seem to loom so large in the conclusion of the Berger report.

Surely construction and operation of a surface rail line will be more disruptive of the environment than a pipeline buried in the ground. As for social conflict, construction crews on rail projects are known to be as rough and tough as any pipeline crew.

If such problems can be solved for a rail line, they can be easier solved for a pipeline. Construction camp anarchy and social problems between the newcomers and the residents as reported to have occurred in Alaska can be handled in a typically Canadian way. Call out the Mounties; or maybe the Army -- whatever strict policing and control is necessary to prevent social upset and still get the job done.

We've done it before in the Klondike and elsewhere.

Problems of the environment, whatever they may be, should also be considered as something to solve -- not to push aside for a decade. No one, least of all pipeline builders, want to garbage up Canada. Tell us how to prevent damage while building a northern economy.

Alaskan native peoples and others in that U.S. state take a different attitude. A friend recently visiting from Alaska reports considerable glee in that state in the expectation that a natural gas pipeline will be built across Alaska. Opposition to a Canadian line has been strong.

Alaska, with the support of powerful native associations, won the oil pipeline from Canada. It is not generally known that an oil line up the MacKenzie Valley from the Arctic coast was found much more attractive financially than one across Alaska. But the Canadian government was so fearful of opposition (the kind now seen on the proposed gas line) that the idea was buried in continuing delays in reaching a treaty agreement with the U.S. assuring no interruptions in the flow of oil. The proposed line would have had room for some Canadian oil, if such oil were found in the far north.

Oil was a missed opportunity -- and now a second somewhat similar opportunity may be missed. In danger of losing the most is the far north as it would again slide into a limbo of inactivity.

DOLLAR SENSE

Tax manoeuvres add strain to separation or divorce

By James N. Beal, CA

When there is some strain between a couple at the time of their separation or divorce, tax manoeuvres by either spouse, whether intentional or not, can be a source of further hard feelings.

These could be avoided with the advice of a professional financial counsellor and fortunately both husband and wife usually engage a lawyer under these circumstances and are able to obtain advice. The tax department also can provide information, and publishes a valuable book, "Income tax and the Single Parent."

Members of The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario answer your questions in Dollar Sense. Mr. Beal is with the firm of MacGillivray & Co., Toronto.

This year's federal budget brought about a change in taxation which can have an effect on couples who are separating. It has to do with Registered Retirement Savings Plans which husbands have purchased for their wives.

Under the old rule, the wife paid tax on the proceeds from such a plan when the money was withdrawn. This allowed RRSP's to be used to split income for tax purposes, since the wife would usually pay tax at rates lower than the husband's rates when he made the premium payments.

Under the change, in rules, certain withdrawals from an RRSP will be taxed as if they were received by the husband. If a couple separates and the wife has such an RRSP, she is entitled to withdraw the money and if she does so, she gets the money but he pays the tax.

This would not apply if the couple is divorced.

Thus, many RRSP's will now be given the same tax treatment as other types of transferred property. The husband should be aware that if he has transferred such valuables as stocks or bonds to his wife and she sells them before a divorce, she keeps the money but he must pay the tax.

However, if the sale takes place following the divorce, she must pay the tax.

Suppose, for example, that the husband had purchased shares in a company for $14,000 and they have become worth $30,000. Before a divorce becomes final, he might transfer them to his estranged wife as part of a divorce settlement and she could consider herself as owning a $30,000 asset.

Needlework in big demand her artistry will be on show

You think at 81 years old, Isabel Irwin would be glad to take life easy.

All her life, she worked at outside jobs as well as running her home and raising her family. Now, she lives in Bendale Acres in Toronto and she could let others do the work.

But she's as busy as ever, doing embroidery and needlework so beautiful that Bendale has a backup of requests for her work.

Why?
"I enjoy working. I don't like to be idle," says Mrs. Irwin, with a smile as young and lovely as it was when she was a colleen in her native Ireland, and a voice that still holds a touch of the brogue.

Mrs. Irwin's picture is on this year's poster celebrating Senior Citizens' Week, June 19 to 25. She is representative of the many senior citizens in Ontario whose busy lives prove that they haven't let their talents retire.

Mrs. Irwin came to Canada in 1930 -- right at the start of the depression. To help keep her family together, she worked as a cleaner, and during the war in a munitions factory. At the same time, she brought up three sons, even making all their clothing.

"I even made their overcoats," she says. "I didn't have a machine so they were all made by hand."

Now, the work she does is much finer, but no less complicated. She can turn her needle to anything, but excels in fine embroidery on linens.

Now, she has found a new love for her talents. She has just completed her first quilt -- a first effort so good that it will hang as part of the arts and crafts display at Queen's Park during Senior Citizens' Week.

"I really enjoyed making that quilt," she says. "I can hardly wait to start another."

Obviously, taking it easy is not on the agenda for Mrs. Isabel Irwin.

For best tax breaks buy home

Unlike other capital gains, all or part of the profit you realize when you sell your principal residence is non-taxable.

Consequently, most homeowners will pay no tax when they sell their homes. If you combine that with the continuing increase in home values, you have a fine investment. On the other hand, if you live in a rented home you have no investment.

Generally speaking, a principal residence is any accommodation owned by the taxpayer, either alone or jointly.

For most of us, shouldering responsibility means shoving it to one side.

Ontario Hydro wins design awards

Arnprior Generating Station

Lennox Generating Station

Hydro Place

Ontario Hydro has won awards for all four of its entries in the American Public Power Association's Biennial Awards Program for Utility Design, it has been announced.

Three of the entries, Lennox Generating Station, Arnprior Generating Station and Lorne Park Substation, were selected to receive honour awards. The awards jury determined the fourth entry, Hydro Place, exceeded the scope of the "Electric Utility Building," category since the head office structure also contains commercial facilities such as restaurants, shops and the like.

The jury, however, decided the entry should receive a Special Award for its architectural excellence and benefit to the community.

The purpose of the APPA design award competition is to "stimulate aesthetic consideration by local publicly-owned electric utilities and to focus attention on projects of APPA members which have achieved excellence of design."

Certificates will be presented to Hydro on June 15 at the APPA annual conference to be held in Toronto.

Busy fingers made tools now they make music

Nick Masymnuk doesn't look 69 years old. And when he's bashing out the beat on his drums, he doesn't act 69 years old.

But he is. He's one of five senior citizens chosen to represent all Ontario seniors on the poster celebrating this year's Senior Citizens' Week, June 19 to 25.

Nick was born in the small village of Sheho, Saskatchewan, about 40 miles northwest of Yorkton. He and his five brothers and two sisters lived on a farm with their Ukrainianborn parents.

When Nick grew up, he farmed for himself until, in the 1930's, the depression forced him to sell out and move to Toronto. During the war he did war work in the shipyards, then turned to precision tool and dye making.

Now retired and living in Bendale Acres in the Metropolitan borough of Scarborough, his talented fingers are kept busy on his drums, and his beloved 172-year-old violin.

"I started playing when I was 14," Nick says. "I play by ear. I love all kinds of music, he's making gaily colored baskets, sculpting animals or painting.

Ever had the first three digits right and then ended up not winning a prize?

Starting June 23rd draw:

You win 5 tickets* for the next draw if you get the first three digits right.

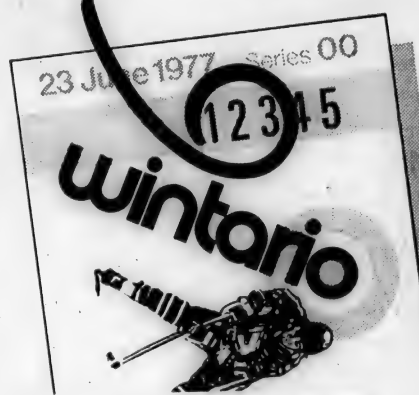

We know how it is. Sometimes you get the first three digits right, and then just as you think you've got it made, you find you didn't even win $25. Well, Wintario wants everyone to win. So we've changed the game a little. We've added more prizes. (There are now more than twice as many — every draw!) And we've given every player more chances to win.

Here's how it works. Starting with the June 23rd draw, if the first three digits on your ticket are identical to, and in the same order as, the first three digits of any of the five Winning Numbers, you win a book of 5 tickets for the next draw — on us. A nice little windfall.

So what are you waiting for? Get a ticket — or a book of tickets — and play the game, every other

Thursday night at 9:00, live on TV.

*These prize tickets must be claimed within two weeks of the draw — and only from designated retailers displaying this sign.

Now more than twice as many prizes. And still just a buck!

Get fit — and turn the clock back. Fitness is fun. Try some.  Let's go Boating Tips On Buying A Power Boat Part I It's fun, and it's exciting but there are a number of things to consider when you're buying a power boat. So arrange your priorities first. Be selective. The Allied Boat- ing Association of Canada says. "Do your homework." It's an important purchase, and your dealer will work with you to make sure you're satisfied with your selection. After all, he wants to stay in business and he needs satisfied customers. The main decision is yours. Be specific about needs. Establish exactly what you want, in speed, power, capacity, stability, range and economy. If you are honest in your assessment, it narrows down the choices and directs all your attention toward the boat you need, want and can afford to buy. Of course, this would also apply to sailboats and other type of craft other than a power boat. Power boats come in three major groups. Outboard, in- board, and inboard outboard which is a boat equipped with an inboard engine, coupled with a drive train much like the lower unit of an outboard motor. Within each group is a wide range of horsepower from ONE horsepower outboards to 475 horsepower inboards. When a manufacturer designs a power boat, he has a specific engine size or range in mind. The whole boat is shaped and built to accomo- date and perform best within a certain range of horsepower. Within each of these power groups are many different types of boats - open runabouts and utilities, cabin cruisers, fishing boats, pontoons, houseboats, racing boats, deep water cruising and fishing vessels. One of these types will suit your power boat- ing plans best. The bottom of a boat deserves a lot of attention. It's shape and width will determine stability and performance. A wide bot- tomed boat is usually a stable boat. The flatter, the faster, and usually the rougher! The deeper the "vee," the smoother the ride you can expect. However, deep- running boats take more power to achieve the same speed. This is one of the choices you'll have to make in terms of your needs. Check for workmanship to be sure that decks, railings, alumi- num moldings, rivets and gaskets are well mounted and secure. If there are flaws in these highly visible areas, it may mean medi- ocre workmanship throughout the entire boat. So check carefull- ly. Sturdy construction is one of the most important factors to consider in your purchase. Keeping A Weather Watch It's a bright sunny day. When suddenly - large and billowing clouds appear on the horizon. Within minutes, you are in the midst of a driving wind and rainstorm. It can happen to any boater. But unless you are within easy distance of reaching shore, you could have problems. And maybe you shouldn't have been there in the first place. Next, to the boat and motor, the most important thing to the pleasure boater is - the weather. According to the Allied Boating Association, a wise skipper watches for weather signs and heeds any warning. So hold respect for Mother Nature and what she can do. Before starting out on a day's boating venture, you should study weather forecasts. Many commercial radio stations broadcast regular marine reports on the weather in popular boat- ing areas. The network of marine weather stations across the coun- try broadcast continuous marine weather conditions over VHF radio bands. Don't ignore the warnings. They are provided for your own protection. Many harbours, particularly those on large bodies of water fly weather advisory flags. These include small craft warnings, storm, gale and hurricane alerts. Learn to read the signs of the flag system, and then act accordingly. If you see them, head for shore and stay there until the signals are lowered. All larger craft should carry a barometer as well. A sudden rise or fall of the indicator predicts unsettled weather ahead. There is a lot to be said for weather "science," but even old proverbs are often reliable. "Red sky in the morning, sailors take warning; red sky at night, sailor's delight." And, "Long foretold, long last; short warning, soon past." Beware of sudden calms too. They often signal that a major weather change is on the way - and quickly. Watch clouds. If you observe a build-up of cumulo-nimbus (puffy, dark clouds) it indicates heavy weather. So head for shore or safe anchorage if the sky is ominous. Learning to read nature will definitely make you a better boater. There are numerous books on the subject, and you can attend special courses

There's a big black cloud hanging over this country, and despite the veritable hurricanes of hot air emitted by politicians, it refuses to blow away. It's name is Unemployment.

If you have noticed that not so many people seem to belong to the curling club or the golf club as there were, don't imagine for a minute that for some reason, there is a drop of interest in the sport and the conviviality of these social oases in the desert of our lives.

It's simply and purely that a heck of a lot of guys and gals can't afford the fees any more, because they are simply and purely out of work.

As a child of the Depression, I grew up under that big black cloud, and I know full well what a brooding shadow it can cast over an individual or a family. It hung over mine for more than a decade, and it left its marks on the soul, if not the body.

Let's take an average family of today confronted by this spectre, without any preparation for it. Jack has worked for 15 years in a plant. Working conditions were good. Pay was good, and got better every time the union growled. Jack belonged to the union, but didn't attend meetings. He had worked up to $14,000 a year as a foreman. Pretty good for a guy with Grade 12.

His wife Jean has been working too, for the past seven years, since she got the kids off to school. She was pulling in $7,000. Between then, they had a good income. Like everybody else, they wanted the good life. Bought a house, with a 30-year mortgage. Traded the car every three years, on a bank loan. Plunged for a boat. Enjoyed a week's holiday in the south each winter, and two week's at a rented cottage in the summer. Even went to Europe last year.

No real financial problem, although spare money seemed rather scanty, with inflation. But all payments met on time.

Suddenly the roof fell in. Jean's job was declared redundant as the small firm she worked for tightened its belt against rising costs. She tried for another, but there were 10 younger women, with more skills, for every job she applied for. With a rather forced laugh, she told friends she'd decided to stay home and be a housewife. And, after all, she was collecting unemployment insurance.

Still no real financial problem. Then the pogy ran out. Canada Manpower, that hunk of bureaucracy as useful as teats on a bull, had nothing for her.

Then - earthquake! Jack's company announced, with utmost regret, that it would be closing permanently within a month. In business double talk, the employees were informed that for some vague reason to do with the parent plant in the States, it was no longer feasible to maintain production at the local plant. Translation: the fat federal subsidies the company got to build the local plant had run out, along with the special local tax deal.

Jack discovered, with horror, that he was 41 years old, that he had fairly limited skills, despite his good reputation as a worker, and that there were hundreds of young guys, who knew more than he did, looking for jobs. He and the other foremen were told that there might be a job for them at the home plant in Waukegan, if they wanted to make the move. Not as foremen, of course. The home plant already had foremen.

Jean and Jack had an income of $110 a week, unemployment insurance. Their mortgage payments were $320 a month, car payments $90 a month, fuel and hydro $70 a month. It cost them $50 a week to put bread on the table. They owed the bank $1,200 for the boat.

That's why they don't show up at the curling club and the golf club. That's why they never throw a party anymore. That's why they don't go on holidays. That's why their kids don't get new clothes on demand. That is unemployment.

Boat is long gone. Transportation is now a beat-up pickup truck that Jack uses for his business. Oh yes, he's working. He scraped up a thousand dollars and, with his knowledge of welding and such, started a small auto body repair shop. The thousand and he owes has increased to $1,500, but business is picking up. A second mortgage, at 18 per cent, saved the house. But there'll be no money to educate the kids. There'll be no more dreams of retiring on a pretty good pension, and buying that place in the country. There may not even be a marriage. Jack and Jean fight a lot these days. Their kids don't like them much these days. Jack gets awful drunk on Saturday night. Jean cries a lot.

A horror story? Nope, just a modern fairy tale, about two babes lost in the woods of our material society, where everybody wants to get quite a bit more, and give quite a bit less.

I feel sorry for Jack and Jean, and all the other people whose grasp exceeded their reach. They're not really to blame. In a society that puts money, things, possessions, status, at the top of the list, and people, thrift, humility, and integrity at the bottom, they're just a couple of casual casualties.

That's unemployment, 1977 style. Show me some bread-lines, soup kitchens, men who would literally sell their soul to the devil and I'll show you some 1930s unemployment.

The Spanish explorers in the New World thought smoking tobacco a headache remedy.

Senior Citizens' Week is June 19-25.

This is what Ontario's Senior Citizens are doing to help all of us, all year.

During Senior Citizens' Week, Ontario is calling everyone's attention to the contributions and needs of our province's seniors.

Talent doesn't retire. Senior Citizens have a wealth of knowledge and experience to share with future generations. They are enriching the cultural life of the province by participating in every aspect of Ontario's artistic activities. They are also coaching sports, teaching, driving other senior citizens to appointments, assisting them to fill out income tax returns, and serving in many other different ways.

Ontario is helping our seniors do things for themselves even while they do things for others.

There are over 1000 senior citizens' clubs and 90 senior citizens' centres in Ontario.

Special grants and other assistance are enabling older people to return to school and university.

Health services, financial benefits, tax credits and alternative types of housing have also been made available to seniors.

A Senior Citizens' Privilege Card entitles them to special privileges at many cultural institutions, tourist attractions, places of business and transportation.

Two free booklets, "Ontario Benefits for Senior Citizens" and "Where to Use Your Ontario Senior Citizens' Privilege Card," offer specific information about where and how to enjoy programs and services available to senior citizens.

Senior's lifestyle thrives

Charles Lillie and his wife Rita live in an art gallery — their own personal art gallery.

The walls of their east-end Toronto home are covered with oil paintings, watercolors, clay sculptures and wood carvings that Charles and Rita have done over the years.

Charles is one of the seven real-life "models" used this year for a poster celebrating Senior Citizens' Week, June 19 to 25. Kimberley Williams, 9, and Robert Gilmore, 12, pictured with him, are just two of the many children he works with regularly through the local lacrosse club.

Born 73 years ago in Toronto, he spent 12 years in the Royal Artillery before turning sailor. He sailed the Great Lakes from then Fort William, now Thunder Bay, to Quebec for another three years, but when war was declared, turned soldier again. He served for six years throughout all the European theatre as a medic with the Toronto Irish Regiment.

After the war, he was a male nurse at Sunnybrook Hospital for 19 years before retiring.

His home is evidence that he hasn't really retired. Rita's kitchen walls are hung with wooden utensils he has carved — spoons, scoops and spurtles. Her table is set with wooden plates carved in shapes of fruits. In the living room, cases are lined (and electrically wired for special lighting) with dolls in their dollhouses, all made by Charles.

"Just give me a penknife and you never know what will come out of a piece of wood," Charles says.

Side by side on the walls throughout the house hang both Charles' and Rita's watercolors and oils, highlighted by a particularly interesting landscape Charlie did in pastels on sandpaper.

"We both work together much of the time," Charles says.

On the floors are hooked rugs he designed and worked himself. They depict woodland scenes featuring swans, animals and birds.

Another facet of their many mutual interests is displayed in ceiling-high bookcases, bulging with books on art, wildflowers, wildlife and birds.

When he's not painting, or carving, or hooking rugs, or at the local lacrosse club, Charles can be found in the kitchen whipping up everything from coffee cake to Sunday dinner.

"I think a man who has no hobbies has no soul," Charles says.

Charles Lillie is a man with lots of soul.

Active senior citizen Charles Lillie spends some of his time with the local lacrosse club, as well as painting, sculpting and wood carving.

Retirement just a word for this busy pair...

The dictionary says "to retire" is "to withdraw from action". Harold Tilbury and Lillian Goodman have retired — but withdrawn from action they haven't.

They are shown on this year's poster celebrating Senior Citizens' Week, June 19 to 25, involved in one of their latest interests — producing and directing television shows for a Toronto cable company.

"We didn't know one end of the camera from the other when we started," Harold laughs. "Now, there's not a job in the studio we haven't done."

Harold and Lillian are just two examples of the busy lives Ontario's senior citizens lead.

During his working years, Harold held down two jobs. By day, he worked in an office. By night, he travelled all over the province, singing light and grand operatic productions, at concerts, banquets, "and probably every high school in the city." He sang with the Mendelssohn Choir, the Toronto Light Opera Company and the St. Clair Light Opera Company.

His singing career is almost as old as he is. He came to Canada with his parents from London, England, when he was three. He started singing as a boy soprano, took a short break while his voice changed from soprano to tenor, then started his operatic training.

Harold Tilbury and Lillian Goodman in the TV studio.

But television and music are only two of this 69-year-old's many interests. He paints in oils, watercolors and acrylics, makes wall hangings, does tooled copper plates, plaques and pots, is an inventive chef, preparing gourmet meals highlighted by his own bread and rolls.

As if this weren't enough he grows his own berries at his west end Toronto home and makes his own jams and jellies. He has also taken on the job of treasurer of the Third Age College at Humber College of Applied Arts and Technology.

He gave up his singing career when he was 60 — but he doesn't miss it. He's been too busy.

Lillian Goodman came to Canada from Poland when she was a small child. She too has held two full-time jobs for most of her life.

During World War One, she became one of the first women teletype operators, taking over from the men who enlisted.

She married and had a daughter and two sons, all the time helping her husband, Ben, in his tailoring shop. When the depression hit the shop hard, they started a cleaning business and Lillian "learned to sew to help out". She also went back to work as a teletype operator — taking the four p.m. to midnight shift so that she could work in the shop, prepare the meals at home and look after her family.

Now that she has "retired" she has even more projects. She is involved with several senior citizens' groups, delivers meals-on-wheels, visits residents of homes for the aged and nursing homes, and is secretary to five different organizations, including the Metro Council of Senior Citizens. She writes for "The Communicator".

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Blacksmiths in most small towns have gone the way of button shoes and celluloid collars but in our area a great many are still in existence.

Most people are aware that the northern part of Waterloo County contains one of the largest Old Order and Amish Mennonite settlements in Canada. These wonderful people still cling to the old ways eschewing modernity as much as possible in this fast-moving world.

Tourists come to the county on Sunday drives just to see the Plain People, as they are known, trotting along the highways and byways in buggies drawn by horses.

Because there are so many horses in the area, blacksmiths are still plying their trade as they did at the turn of the century in other towns. As a child of about 10, I can recall seeing my first dead horse being hauled out of a blacksmith shop. The poor animal keeled over with a heart attack as it was being shod. It almost fell on the smithy. It was a lasting scene in my young mind, seeing that huge animal being ignominiously dragged from the shop by a towline from a wrecking truck. It was hauled out and dragged down the street to the local abattoir.

I've been told blacksmiths are like doctors with many horse-lovers. You find one you like and stick with him through thick and thin.

We have been keeping horses here for more than a dozen years and my favorite blacksmith is John Zieske whose shop is just a couple of miles down the Floradale Road near our place.

The proper term, of course, is farrier. Most people are unaware that a person who specializes in shoeing horses is really called a farrier. A blacksmith may shoe horses but he also works in metal of all kinds whereas a farrier is really a hoof doctor.

We had our two young mares shod a week ago. Mr. Zieske tells me that getting horseshoe nails is no longer a problem. Not too many years ago, farriers had problems getting them. The best came from Sweden but now the Japanese are into manufacturing them. The Japanese nails are a little less brittle but still strong, according to Mr. Zieske. They clinch well and take a good bite into the hoof.

Mr. Zieske puts on a "hot" shoe, a shoe that is fitted exactly to the contour of the foot. It is heated in the forge until it is red hot, fitted to the trimmed hoof and pounded into the right shape before being nailed.

We have tried travelling blacksmiths who have equipment in their vehicles and come right to your barn to do the job. Few of the travelling smiths put on a hot shoe, though, and we have found, for pleasure riding, that a hot shoe stays on much longer than a cold shoe.

Our horses need to be shod about three times a year because they do not get a great deal of use throughout the cold winter months.

Back in those dear, dead days of long ago, farriers would trim and shoe a hoof for 25 cents: a buck a horse. But those days are gone forever. Anyone who has watched a farrier work knows that he earns his money. The price is up to $3 or $4 a hoof now plus the cost of a new shoe if needed.

The price of the shoe depends on the size. Fortunately, our horses are small and we can buy shoes for about $5 each.

We're happy to have such a good farrier so close to us. He can sometimes spot hoof problems before the owner. One of our mares has a slightly splayed front hoof and John takes special care to get the shoe fitting right. A lame horse is not much good to anybody.

Watching him perspire working with our little mares the other day, I couldn't help but think he certainly earns his money, especially if a slightly skittish horse lunges and pulls during the job. And I wouldn't want to work on a huge draught horse that nonchalantly rests its weight on the hoof being held up by the smithy.

It is a great thrill to walk into the shop. The sounds, the smells and the sights bring back fond memories of a care-free youth along the banks of the Scugog River in my home town of Lindsay.

The world's record for karate brick smashing is held by Australian Tom Slaven who barehandedly smashed 4,487 bricks in an hour.

Madoc Review

Wed., June 22, 1977

The above aerial view of Madoc, taken on June 8, will become the cover of the 1978 calendar being prepared by the Madoc Centennial Committee. It was announced at a meeting last Thursday evening. The calendar will also include photographs of twelve of the older homes in the village.

Calendar to feature Madoc homes

The centennial of the incorporation of Madoc as a village will be commemorated with the issue of a special 1978 calendar.

The calendar, being prepared by the Centennial Committee, will feature pictures of twelve of the older homes in the village, with a cover made up of an aerial view of Madoc.

Also featured on the calendar will be the dates of special events being put on by clubs, organizations, and others to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the village. These events will be noted on the day they are to happen.

The calendars are being sponsored by 48 local businesses, with each business having an opportunity to insert an advertisement on one month of the calendar. To accommodate the 49 businesses, four series of the calendar will be issued. However, the pictures will remain the same for all four series of the calendar.

It is expected that 8,000 calendars - 2,000 of each series - will be issued. Most will be sold to the sponsoring businesses for distribution to the public.

AECL backs off on Mount Moriah

by VINCENT DURANT

In a move which caught many people by surprise, Atomic Energy of Canada Limited (AECL), the federal crown corporation seeking a place to store spent fuel from Canada's nuclear generating stations, announced last week that it will give up looking in the Mount Moriah area north of Madoc for such a site.

"Madoc is out", was the way S.A. Mayman, Head of the Chemical Technology Branch at AECL's Whiteshell Nuclear Research Establishment in Manitoba, put it in an interview with a Toronto newspaper last Friday.

The Toronto Star reported in its Saturday edition that AECL was lifting a 'withdrawal' order which it had placed on some 16,000 acres of crown land on Mount Moriah back in March. This order in effect reserved the land for further exploration by AECL, and prohibited mineral exploration by the public. It was registered with the provincial government.

Following the announcement of the rescinding of the withdrawal order by AECL, Ron Vastokas, chairman of the group opposing radioactive pollution in this area, CORP (Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution), spoke with the Madoc Review.

"The interesting thing about that (the lifting of the withdrawal order)", he said, "is that - and this I think no one has brought up - the withdrawal order is dated at 10 a.m., March 16."

March 16 was the date on which officials of AECL came to Madoc to speak with the local citizens on the possibility of Mount Moriah being chosen for a waste storage site for nuclear fuel.

At that meeting, 12 hours after the withdrawal order had been imposed on the 14,000-acre area of Mount Moriah, S.A. Mayman stated in his address to the audience that "Mount Moriah was never let me repeat - never, never, never identified as a site for a nuclear centre of any kind."

"Now Mayman claims in the Star he didn't know about it, when the order was issued for no other purpose than the AECL's use of it," said Mr. Vastokas.

"Now the AECL claims that they are going to immediately lift the withdrawal, and by that they will cancel the withdrawal...put it (the land) back into public domain."

Mr. Vastokas plans to go to Toronto this week to make sure that the lifting of the withdrawal order "is already in the works."

"I'll talk to the Deputy Minister who issued the order...Dr. Keith Reynolds, and simply get this thing straightened out," he said.

"What has happened, obviously," said Mr. Vastokas, "is that AECL has now been caught in simply pulling wool over peoples' eyes, and I think they're very embarrassed. And it's cause for national embarrassment, because on the one hand they...conclude a deal at 10 a.m., and then at night they come and tell 12,000 people that never, never, was Madoc in anyone's mind."

He saw several factors having contributed to AECL's calling it quits in this area.

"One, the cabinet has not given approval for the re-processing of plutonium in Canada...and obviously Mayman and the others are anxious to combine reprocessing and deep disposal; "Two, I think that from our point of view (CORP) there are serious technical reservations about the type of geological formations they've chosen."

"Three is the classification program (which) I think is not finally settled; "And fourth is, of course, the question of public opinion. I think that the AECL is anxious to preserve a good public image."

As well, Mr. Vastokas received a letter from the Honourable Allistair Gillespie, dated June 6, 1977, in which the federal Minister of Energy stated: "The fact is that no facility will be built in any area where there is obviously strong opposition."

The chairman of CORP also felt that the shift of power in Ontario since the June 9 election, in which the Liberals became the official opposition, may have contributed to the government's reticence to back AECL.

"Someone, somewhere, has assessed all of the factors, and has simply indicated that Madoc is really an albatross around (their) necks, and that they should dump it now."

This is an aerial view of Mount Moriah, the site which AECL now says it will abandon in its search for a waste disposal area.

Sidewalk sale planned

At their regular monthly meeting, held at the Madoc Hotel last week, the Madoc Businessmen's association laid down plans for a 'Country' Sidewalk Sale, to be held on Friday and Saturday, July 22 and 23.

Also on the agenda of the meeting was the formation of a delegation to go to the next regular meeting of the Village Council to make known what the Association calls the "poor" condition of the sidewalks on Durham Street in the downtown core of the village.

The association also set the hours of business they will keep during the July 1 long weekend. The stores will be open on Thursday evening, June 30, until 9 p.m. Most stores also plan to remain open on the holiday.

The next meeting of the association will be held at 1 p.m. on July 20 at the Hotel. These meetings are open to all businessmen in Madoc.

Man sentenced

Twenty-seven-year-old Edmund Alexander Ray of R.R. #1, Eldorado was sentenced in County Court at Belleville last Monday, June 13th, by Judge Bernard Hurley. He received one year on a car bombing charge. He had previously pleaded guilty to the charge at Madoc Provincial Court. As well, he was given one year less a day on an arson charge, to which he pleaded guilty at last Monday's hearing. Other sentencing included three months each on charges of bombing a mailbox and on possession of an explosive for unlawful purposes. These terms will run concurrently, which means Ray will serve two years less a day on all charges.

On Tuesday, June 14th, Ray appeared in Madoc Court and pleaded guilty to a charge of intimidation of witnesses. This was laid over for sentencing on June 21st, the results of which was not available at press time.

Plans underway for centennial

Plans are well underway for the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of the village of Madoc.

At the June meeting of the Centennial Committee, held at the new fire station last Thursday evening, it was announced that close to half of the weekends in 1978, the centennial year, will feature some activity commemorating the centennial. And it is hoped that by the first week of July events will be scheduled for the remaining weekends.

So far the committee has slotted everything from dances to firemen's picnics to the summerfest into the special calendar to be issued for the centennial year.

But, according to the coordinator of events for the year, Mrs. Sheila Matchett, many more events should be forthcoming from the various clubs and organizations around the village.

Some suggestions she has include an old fashion picnic, band concerts, bed races, soap box derby, square dances, box socials, men's beauty contests, etc.

All that is needed now, according to Mrs. Matchett, are groups, organizations, or individuals who will be willing to put on activities such as those mentioned during the centennial year.

Anyone interested in sponsoring such activities should contact Mrs. Matchett during the next two weeks.

The way I see it

by VINCENT DURANT

How come Atomic Energy of Canada Limited (AECL) - supposedly an organization set up to serve the public, you and me - saw fit to keep the lid on the fact that they had had a withdrawal order on 16,000 acres of land up at Mount Moriah for the past three months?

Indeed, is it right for AECL to give the people of Madoc assurances that Mt. Moriah was "never, never, never identified as a site for a nuclear centre of any kind", when 12 hours earlier that same agency had registered a withdrawal order, effectively withdrawing 16,000 acres of the area for their exclusive use, with the provincial government?

No, it is not right!

Nor was it right for the Bourassa government in Quebec to keep secret on files on hundreds of what it called its "political enemies".

Nor was it right for the sordid administration of Richard Nixon to plot against, manipulate, and totally hoodwink the people of the United States.

But as long as the people are willing to allow power to go unchecked; whether it be General Motors, the Central Intelligence Agency, the FBI, or AECL wielding the power; that power will eventually corrupt the organization.

Now I am not saying that Stan Hatcher or Alex Mayman of AECL is corrupt. Nor am I saying that there is a nefarious plot to subvert the wishes of every Canadian. What I am saying is that the AECL went over the heads of the local government, and presumably the provincial MPP's and federal MP's in registering the withdrawal order on Mount Moriah.

O.K., so they didn't knock on my door and tell me they were going to explore around Mt. Moriah. That's one thing.

But to deny they had anything but a tourist's interest in the place when they had already registered the withdrawal order, and then to not even inform the three levels of government responsible for the area that they had done so - that is quite another matter!

Who's got the control?

So who controls AECL?

Why, the Atomic Energy Control Board, (AECB) of course.

And who does this AECB report to?

And AECL?

You guessed it, the same federal cabinet minister.

Where was that control board when the AECL was doing one thing the morning of March 16 and telling the people of Madoc another thing the evening of March 16?

Indeed, where was the control board when low-level radioactive waste was being used as land fill in Deloro, Bancroft, Port Hope and Ottawa?

Or, put another way, how effective can a control board be if depends for its existence upon the same minister who is in charge of the function which it is supposed to control?

Probably about as effective as the quality control department of G.M. was in ensuring the safe manufacture of the Corvair automobile before Ralph Nader showed up!

Seven accidents investigated

During the week ended June 15, officers from the Madoc Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, investigated seven accidents. Two persons were charged and two were sent to Belleville General Hospital. Damages amounted to $8,600.00.

Two persons were charged with impaired driving during the same period, while there were two reports of assaults, two reports of break, enter and theft, one report of a theft, two reports of stolen autos, and there were four complaints of wilful damage.

One report was received of a missing juvenile, but the person has been located. Seven persons were charged with having liquor under the Liquor Licence Act.

Approximately thirty-nine other occurrences such as traffic escorts, disturbances, trespassing and property checks were carried out by the force.

Teacher says youth ignored

Dear Sir:

As a teacher at C.H.S.S., I am constantly in touch with the younger generation, and have spent many hours, both inside and outside the classroom, listening to student opinions concerning the proposed nuclear waste repository in Hastings County. Their opinions have varied widely on all the issues related to this proposal, but one common fear they all seem to share, is that in the final analysis their views will be overlooked. They feel and with some justification that parents, town councillors, bureaucrats, and politicians have largely ignored teenagers when making major decisions concerning the future of this county (a good example is shown in the fact that our local M.P.P., Mr. Clarke Rollins, has repeatedly refused to attend student forums and discuss the issues of the day). If this pattern is repeated with the nuclear waste proposal, it will be tragic indeed, for perhaps on no other issue is it more important that the young of this county be consulted and involved in a final decision.

A repository of the nature that the A.E.C.L. has proposed, will because of the danger to human health, have to be monitored and guarded for hundreds of years and will therefore affect future generations for centuries to come. It is a legacy that must be scrutinized very carefully not just by the middle-aged and old but by the young, for it is they and their children who will inherit the benefits and hazards of such a scheme.

I hope this letter will encourage those in positions of power and influence in this county to seek out the young, to engage them in constructive debate and weigh their opinions carefully, for on this particular issue your decision will affect their future on a long-term basis.

Reader wants information

Dear Sir,

It is seventy-five years since the Peace of VEREENING brought the Anglo-Boer War to a close. The Boer War was the occasion of Canada's first major overseas military campaign, and relatively little has been written about the participation of the Canadian contingents.

I am engaged in researching the role of the Canadian forces in this conflict, and I am anxious to get in touch with surviving veterans or with relatives or friends of veterans. Volunteers from Ontario were especially prominent in the Canadian contingents in South Africa. I will be travelling and researching throughout Ontario during the next few months and I would be most grateful if readers could assist me in this project.

I am especially anxious to gain access to papers in private possession pertaining to the War. Should readers be aware of the existence of letters, diaries, scrapbooks, photographs, paintings or any other pertinent material, I would be most appreciative if they would write to me at the address below as soon as possible.

In addition to the troops, there were also Canadian correspondents, doctors, nurses, priests and teachers who went to South Africa. Any information about these participants would also be greatly appreciated.

New position sought for Hobson

To the Editor:

Numerous newspaper articles carry a story that Mr. Clarke Rollins, M.P.P. for Hastings-Peterborough has appointed Mr. Dave Hobson, recent Liberal Candidate in the June 9 election, auxiliary M.P.P.

I understand that there is no pay for the job but the need for an auxiliary M.P.P. is great in the Riding of Hastings-Peterborough.

I am glad Mr. Rollins is at least able to recognize this fact.

For the sake of the people in this Riding I hope Mr. Hobson will accept this position. Mr. Rollins can continue to attend to his speciality, the small problems, and we will at last have someone to consider the larger problems.

Sincerely,
Greg Meehan

Hobson given rules for winning

To the editor, Madoc Review, and Dave Hobson,

Dear Dave Hobson:

I wish to congratulate you with a further cut in your opponents plurality. You fought a hard and clean campaign, as did Mr. Beamish, Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Hawthorne.

Reductions in opponent's plurality, however, does not win elections. There must be other reasons why you have not succeeded yet.

I have noticed certain important features that have provided a recipe for winning elections.

First of all, at all public functions during the campaign you must smile and appear as the epitome of a gentleman and you must require that same ostensible facade from your party workers. When the election is won you can return to your true behaviour again.

Secondly, avoid all controversial meetings. Instead, you should spend your time on important issues such as tea parties with ladies at senior citizen's homes. Should obnoxious candidates require your presence for debates, you must learn to employ the latest in electronic tape techniques. This has the effect that you can make up your speeches in advance and you have no chance of revealing your ignorance of the subject matter from embarrassing questions.

Thirdly, with tape recordings taking care of the issues of the day, you would be free to hold strawberry parties. Strawberries may be expensive, but little old ladies do not eat very many and where can you buy votes cheaper than that?

Spend lots of money on the election campaign. Should you lose the campaign objective, maintain that this money was spent to stimulate the economy. However, refrain from mentioning that the need to stimulate the economy was caused by our own inept economic policies. Should the campaign be won, David, the loss sustained will easily be paid for by all the fringe benefits that are made available to you.

Avoid the trap of having a positive platform. That has several benefits. Should you be elected then you do not have to explain why the promises were not carried out. You have nothing for the opponents to attack. Furthermore, and most important, if you do nothing constructive for your riding during the term of office you will find that your electors' problems start to mount. This is where the vote-gathering can gain momentum. In a stagnant economy, unemployment and business failures become rampant. These victims will need help with their welfare benefit applications, jobs in government and crown corporation offices, etc. Your assistance here can collect gratitude from the families and friends which may, and often do, turn into votes. Further assistance in this vote-gathering can be had if men of the right party colour are employed in influential positions of such offices. Yes, Dave, when such a system is carried through for a fairly long time you can almost be sure of two things: total stagnation of the ceremony, and the loyalty of the unprotected that is tantamount to conditioning.

Have you forgotten the textbooks of history, Dave? King Louis of France was a pioneer in this sort of work with his slogan, give them plays and give them bread and they will be happy.

If you cannot stomach this type of behaviour, Dave, maybe it is time to resign. However, you should be able to perform with a clear conscience in this. The secret there is, don't use your conscience.

Again, should you win an election, do not show magnanimity to your opponents. This old virtue is not longer in vogue. No, you show your strength and contempt openly, because the electorate tends to forget and YOU are victorious. Narcissism is the hallmark of our future.

Dave Hobson, I understand you may be made a martyr for your political activities. If you had gone forward to fight for the right to live free you would be made a hero by those in parliament. However, you must understand that in your own country your rights to attempt to make this country a better place in which to live carry no such rewards.

Slogans do change with time. Now we have a new local version. Many people have asked: "What will my country do for me? How much can I get for the least effort?" This type of people are the lawful

On the farm front

Most Eastern farmers are describing the Alfalfa Blotch Leaf Minor as severe. Up to 75 per cent of the alfalfa leaflet surfaces have been destroyed. With a large first generation, damage to later cuts may be even more severe. Damage to alfalfa started May 16 at Kemptonville with fields now looking bleached. Very early cutting has been underway since the first of June.

Early cutting is the only control since chemicals cannot be legally employed. The use of chemicals at the experimental stage is proving more difficult since the maggots are protected inside the leaf surfaces.

The adult, a dull black humpbacked fly starts by feeding and egg laying in numerous pin hole size punctures. The developing larva or maggots create a mine of tunnel feeding between the upper and lower surface of the leaves. As the insect develops the mine widens into a blotch. After the maggots are fully grown they drop to the ground where they pupate. In a weeks time a new generation emerges. Three generations are expected.

While most fields have been hard hit leaf drop has not occurred resulting in a minimal loss of protein.

Louise Lott and Kendall Clare will represent Hastings County 4-H members at Provincial Leadership Conference. This annual event will be held at Camp Couchiching at Longford Mills from June 19-25.

Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Lott, R.R.2 Roslin and Kendall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Clare of R.R.1 Corbyville.

Each county in Ontario selects two senior 4-H members who have demonstrated leadership qualities. Louise and Kendall will be involved in a rigorous training program to teach leadership skills such as speaking, demonstrations, organizing and social recreation.

Damage heavy

Cars crash in village

Constable Al Borger of the Madoc Detachment, Ontario Provincial Police, was called to the scene of a two-vehicle crash at 11:30 Sunday morning in the village of Madoc.

Apparently, Ronald J. Broadworth, 29, of Bracebridge, Ontario, was driving a 1977 Dodge Aspen station wagon south on Russell Street and stopped at the junction of St. Lawrence Street, before making a left-hand turn. Proceeding onto St. Lawrence Street, the wagon came in collision with a 1969 G.M.C. Suburban driven by Robert C. Derry, 17, of Madoc. Both drivers and the one passenger in the Broadworth vehicle, 24-year-old Janice, wife of the driver, all escaped injury. Damages to the wagon were estimated at $2500 and to the Derry vehicle at $1000.

Mr. Broadworth has been charged with failing to yield, and both drivers were charged with not wearing a seat belt.

Damages to the 1977 Aspen, above, were estimated at $2500 after it was in collision with a Suburban in the village Sunday morning.

New liquor store planned

The Liquor Control Board of Ontario (LCBO) has been looking since March of this year for a site upon which to put a new liquor store in Madoc, it was learned last week.

In an interview with the Secretary for the Committee on Store Development of the LCBO, Miss Stelmashuk, the Madoc Review learned that the Board has been seeking a suitable location within the village.

"I think the area where we are looking at the moment is not too far from our present store," said Miss Stelmashuk.

She said that the present facilities for the dispensing of spirits in the village are too small, and this is one of the reasons for the proposed move.

"Four thousand (square feet) is minimum for most localities", said Miss Stelmashuk.

The Madoc Review later contacted Mr. F.M. Burt, Area Manager with the L.C.B.O. for this region, who had the following to say about the search for a site:

"A number of prospective sites have been inspected for the building of an L.C.B.O. Store in Madoc."

"The Kincaid property on Elgin Street has been found to be quite suitable as it is centrally located in the town's core of the shopping area."

"A legal survey is being made of this property to determine its suitability and confirm the boundary and apparent 10' common right-of-way on the west side of the property."

"The Committee for Store Development has taken no action pending clarification and this property will be given consideration along with alternative locations in due course."

"All properties will be given equal consideration."

Sixteen attend CWL meeting

By Carol Parank

Sixteen ladies were present at last Wednesday evening's meeting of Sacred Heart Catholic Women's League in the Parish Hall.

President, Miss Marion Mahoney, welcomed all and called on Enie Mahoney to lead in the League Prayer to open the meeting.

Following the reading of the minutes and the roll call by Secretary Carol Parank, the Treasurer's report was given by Monica Tobin. Correspondence included a letter from Mrs. Grace Barratt of Belleville Birthright Committee. It was decided to give a cheque for $10 to the card convener, Lillian Nolan, to obtain some supplies.

A motion was made by Enie Mahoney, seconded by Anne Genereaux, that segments of the report of this C.W.L. given at the recent Officer's Conference in Trenton be placed in the Sunday bulletins so others interested might learn more about the League work.

President Mahoney reminded all those present that annual fees are now due and accepted fourteen memberships, including two new ones.

A wedding banquet for August was discussed, and a decision reached to turn down the catering involved, as the hall does not comfortably accommodate 125 persons, the number of guests expected for the event.

A run-down of the Officer's Conference held last month in Trenton, was given by the President, assisted by Mrs. Anne Genereaux, who had attended. Miss Mahoney read a resolution regarding abortions that had been submitted by the National Convener of Christian Family Life for consideration at the Diocesan and Provincial Conventions in 1977. The list of the new Diocesan Executive was also given in the report.

Coming events included the 30th Annual Provincial Convention of the C.W.L. to be held in Kingston on July 5, 6, and 7, and the Regional Meeting coming to Belleville in October.

The possibility of holding a Parish Picnic was brought up and it was unanimously agreed that one should be held this summer.

On motion of Gladys Lahey and Anne Genereaux it was decided to send a donation of $25 to Father Frank Stone for his work in preparing Christian radio messages. It was suggested that a schedule of the air times for these messages on local radio stations be requested when the cheque is sent.

A spiritual reading by Enie Mahoney closed the meeting and a light lunch was served.

WI meets at the Raynsford home

Mrs. Wm. Raynsford was hostess to Madoc Women's Institute on Friday afternoon, June 17. Twenty members answered the roll call, which was an exchange of plants or slips.

The President, Mrs. Raynsford, received reports from the various conveners. The bus committee is to arrange a trip for the members in July.

The program convener, Mrs. Robert Woods, introduced Mr. Gary Barker, who operates Suzanne's Flower Shop in Madoc and Marmora. In his jovial manner, Mr. Barker artistically made three lovely floral arrangements. These were presented to the following members: the corsage to the hostess, Mrs. Raynsford; a table centre to the nearest birthday, Mrs. Emil Wannamaker; and a table centre to the nearest wedding anniversary, Mrs. George Moorcroft.

Mr. Barker was thanked and presented with a gift of cheese by Mrs. Anna Carman.

A social half-hour was enjoyed, during which Mrs. Raynsford and her assistants, Mrs. Roemer and Mrs. Dan Bronson, served ice-cream and strawberries.

The September meeting will be held on September 16th at the home of Mrs. George Moorcroft.

Munro - Peters wedding held

Trinity United Church, Madoc was the setting of a beautiful summer wedding, on June 11, 1977 at 3 p.m. when Dorothy Barbara Alice Peters became the bride of Hector Gregory Munro. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Peters, R.R. #1, Eldorado. The groom is the eldest son of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ian Munro of Devon, Alberta.

The groom's father Rev. Ian Munro officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. G. Adams.

Mrs. Gwen Kingston accompanied by John Murphy at the organ, brother-in-law of the bride, sang "Follow Me" before the service and "Hymn of Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride entered the Church at the arm of her father, to the strain of the bagpipes, played by T.D. Legate of Trenton, Ontario. The petite bride looked radiant in her gown of white nylon over taffeta, fashioned with a lace Chinese collar. The bodice was adorned with pleated scallops and lace. The flared skirt was pleated a foot up from the hemline and was also finished in lace. The long sleeves matched the bodice featuring pleated scallops and lace. Her long trailing train was of nylon trimmed with lace and held in place by a matching Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations, interlaced with fern.

The maid-of-honour was Joan Donaldson, niece of the bride. Her floor-length gown was A-line with a bertha collar, in plain green crepe. She wore a matching green picture hat. The bridesmaids were nieces of the bride: Marie Donaldson, Bonnie Peters, Sherry Peters and Kimberly Munro, sister of the groom. Their dresses were the same style as the maid-of-honour, except they were flowered green, with matching picture hats. The junior bridesmaids were also nieces of the bride: Loreen Murphy, Pamela Peters, Lori Donaldson and Shelly Donaldson. The style of their dresses were the same A-line as the other girls. The colour was plain peach, with each girl wearing a peach carnation in her hair. The flower girls, as well, were nieces of the bride: Andrea Peters, Lisa Murphy and Rhonda Peters wore flowered peach dresses. They were flared from the waist and accented with a matching sash and bertha collar. Each girl wore a peach carnation in her hair. The bride's attendants all carried peach carnations, interlaced with

Cecil Woods, Warden of Hastings County and Reeve of Madoc Township, and Marten Lewis, Director of the Hastings Museum are shown above discussing the new display opened at the Toronto

Dominion Bank in Madoc last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Woods officially opened the display, which depicts the tracing of family trees within Hastings County.

Museum opens display at bank

Last Wednesday afternoon the first in a series new cases in the Hastings County Museum Exhibition Circuit was opened at the Toronto Dominion Bank in Madoc.

The exhibition case was officially opened by Cecil Woods, Reeve of Madoc Township and Warden for Hastings County.

During the opening ceremonies, Marten Lewis, director of the Hastings County Museum, explained that the Exhibition Circuit of the Museum was established in May of 1974 through a Local Initiative Program grant of the federal government. The Circuit, administered during the past three years by the Museum, involves several display cases in which exhibits can be changed on a regular basis.

Earlier this year the National Museums of Canada granted $27,000 to equip the Circuit with ten standardized cases similar to the one located in Madoc. The cases, designed by the Chief Designer of the Royal Ontario Museum, which also manufactures them, incorporate the necessary requirements for the control of heat, light and security.

Until last week, the Museum's Madoc display had been located at the Madoc Public Library. However, due to increasing demands for space at the library, the display case had to be re-located.

Eldorado UCW discuss Presbyterial

by Minnie Moorcroft

Alma, Lois and Marguerite Blackburn; Audrey Chambers; Helen Johnson; Winnie Ketcheson; Mary McCann; Minnie and Alma Moorcroft; Grace Robinson and Blanche Sandford attended the Eldorado U.C.W. Meeting at 8 p.m. at the church on June 7th.

Psalm 146: 1-6 was read by President Lois Blackburn to open the meeting.

The minutes, letters and parts of literature received were read. Some topics announced or discussed during the business period were: Annual Presbyterial meeting for next year in Trenton; Fall Rally, Oct. 12-77 in Madoc; Schools for Leaders at Quin-Mo-Lac and later a mid-week at St. Pauls in Perth; donation to Quin-Mo-Lac re-water supply; sponsor a S.S. student to Quin-Mo-Lac Camp; a wedding in Sept. and a tea and bake sale in September.

The Offering was received and dedicated. The roll call - "Something beautiful seen recently" was really beautiful.

Now - Winnie Ketcheson's programme. The worship service was led by Alma Moorcroft. Everyone participated with the leader and responded with chosen parts of several Psalms in praise of the beauty and wonder of the world about us. Readings by Alma were "The God of Little Things" and a "Farmer's Confession of Faith."

Winnie continued her program on Beauty and Wonder and the business of living involving the many problems that arise. Using controversial subjects from our United Church Observer, of which we need to be better informed. She chose at least five difficult matters for discussion.

These were led in turn by Lois, Blanche Grace, Audrey and Alma.

Minnie M. Told a few more bits about the Conference, particularly mentioning for 1978, "A Festival of Faith," to be held in Belleville Presbytery. The Rev. Wendell Sedgwick is a member of the planning committee.

Minnie chose a motion song for recreation, with Helen leading the singing and action.

Lunch allowed for further fellowship closing a busy and good meeting.

Dr. McCorquodale, Officer in Charge, Health of Animals Belleville advises as follows: New regulations make it mandatory that livestock owners, who wish to dispose of their cattle by public auction held on their premises, have their herds bloodtested for Brucellosis within 60 days of the sale date and that cattle offered for sale must be negative to the test.

The initial test of the herd must be conducted by an accredited veterinarian at the owner's expense. If further retesting is necessary, due to unfavourable test results, this will be done by the Health of Animals Branch.

In particular note that a sale should be planned to have the test done as close as possible to 60 days prior to the farm sale. In most cases this allows for any necessary retesting to qualify the herd for the sale. Auctioneers have been advised of this requirement.

The Hastings County Milk Committee is sponsoring a display at the Quinte Mall, Belleville, on June 23, 24 and 25. The display will feature cheddar cheese produced by the seven factories in Hastings County. The factories have generously donated cheese, which will be available for samples for the public.

The highlight of the display will be a young Jersey Calf from Ron Hamilton, Lorivale Farms, R.R.5, Trenton.

Miss Laurie Sills of R.R.2, Roslin will be the hostess at the Mall, in her role as Hastings County Dairy Princess.

The Hastings County Milk Committee represents the five hundred dairy farmers in Hastings County.

Studies at Agriculture Canada's Swift Current, and Melfort, Sask., Research Stations show rate of gain in calves and yearlings is not consistent during the pasture season.

As the food value of pasture decreases during the season or the amount available is reduced, weight gain falls off, according to Mark Kilcher, pasture management specialist at the Swift Current station.

The studies indicate that in periods of high production costs or low beef prices, calves might be profitably sold earlier than usual. The diet of cows or calves could also be supplemented to maintain gains throughout the season.

Ellencrest Rockman Jill, a purebred Holstein cow in the Herd of Keith Donnan and Sons, R.R.2, Stirling has recently completed a high record for milk production.

In 305 days, Jill produced 21,807 pounds of milk, 997 pound of fat with a 4.55 per cent butterfat test.

In 365 days, Jill produced 22,286 pound of milk, 1015 pounds of fat with a 4.55 per cent test. Jill is classified Very Good for type and is sired by Seilign Rockman. Her breed class average score is 183 for milk and 228 for fat.

Donnandale Starmaker Maureen recently completed a high record for milk production. In 305 days, Maureen produced 23,395 pounds of milk, 913 pounds of fat with a 3.90 per cent test. Her breed class average score is 203-216. Maureen is also owned by Keith Donnan and Sons, R.R.2, Stirling. She is classified good plus for type and is sired by Peel Lodge Starmake.

Glenalcomb Rockette Rockanna, owned by Delbert A. McComb and Sons, R.R.5, Belleville recently completed a high record of performance test for milk production. In 305 days, she produced 22,170 pound of milk, 839 pounds of fat with a butterfat test of 3.78 per cent. Rockanna had a breed class average of 182-189. This five year old cow is classified Very Good for type and is sired by Forest Lee Rockette Centurion.

CORP will not disband

MADOC - "We'll simply keep a vigilant ear to the ground."

That is how Ron Vastokas, chairman of Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution (CORP) views the continuing function of that organization, now that AECL has decided to not go any further with their

Councils not informed

"Nobody knew anything about that," was the reaction Madoc's Reeve Tom Barton had to the news that the AECL had registered a withdrawal order against 16,000 acres of Mount Moriah back in March of this year.

Mr. Barton said that, as far as he knew, none of the councillors or reeves of the three townships involved in the area withdrawn had been informed of the decision of the federal government to have the land set aside for further exploration by AECL.

It was announced last week that the AECL has decided to opt out of any further exploration in the Mt. Moriah area north of Madoc.

This marks a turning point in the struggle, carried on since the crown corporation's interest in the possible location of a nuclear waste disposal site there was announced last February. A growing number of local residents banded themselves together to right the proposal, calling themselves the Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution (CORP), and operated out of the Anglican Church Hall in Madoc.

When asked about the legality of the AECL move in registering a withdrawal order on land within the jurisdiction of Hastings County without first informing the local, provincial or federal government representative, Reeve Barton said: "They're all power."

On whether the provincial MPP or the federal MP had been informed, Mr. Barton said: "I'm quite sure they were as green as the rest of us."

investigations into the possible location of a nuclear waste disposal site at Mt. Moriah north of here.

"It's important to emphasize that we have attempted to steer a completely non-political course," he said.

"I think the problem (with nuclear energy) goes beyond party politics," he said. "Our position is, and had always been, that a facility of these dimensions should not be located in any populated area."

On the structure of CORP, Mr. Vastokas said "it will not disband."

"We're still simply trying to recover from the knowledge that the facility has been unequivocally cancelled in the Madoc area," he said.

I think that for the next few weeks...we'll simply have to reassess our situation. But certainly we'll enter into a phase where, having become familiar with the problems of energy use, energy conservation, alternatives, and so on, we'll put that knowledge at the disposal of the public."

"From the very beginning it was not just a matter of opposing the dump," he said, "but it was very much a question of having everyone realize what an immense problem of whole country's facing if it goes full-scale into the nuclear production of energy. These problems will simply mount, they will not disappear, if the dump goes from Madoc to some other area."

He went on to talk of the contacts which CORP has built up over the past few months - contacts which he sees as invaluable in assisting in the fight against nuclear energy development in Canada.

"We've gathered together an enormous amount of material on radioactive waste disposal," he said, "so that I think we've got material in our hands which we could certainly put to some useful public use."

Books on review

Majesty - Robert Lacey

Biography of Elizabeth II and House of Windsor, a master work of contemporary history. From the end of 1st World War through the present day Lacey provides a brilliant portrayal of a family and their kingdom.

Ways Harsh and Wild - Doris Anderson

A story of adventure and hardship in the Yukon and Alaska of goldrush days. The drama of a pioneering family who learned to respect that land and survive in it.

The Wild Life I've Led - Stuart Trueman

A very funny book about animals and small creatures he has known.

The McCall's Book of Afghans

A treasure chest of 65 great afghan projects to knit, crochet and embroider. Heirloom designs to fit every taste, shown in full color and complete with how-to instructions.

Earth, Water, Wind and Sun - D.S. Halacy Jr.

D.S. Halacy does not see any of the alternative energy sources as magic substitutes for fossil fuel like oil, coal and gas, but hopes they can help provide an energy solution. A vast amount of technical information about the many different possibilities of alternative energy sources has been made accessible in this book.

Green Money - D.E. Stevenson

Green money finds the well-loved author at her most irresistible. A merry tale of light English humour neatly and happily written.

The Jewelled Daughter - Anne Maybury

The Hong Kong palace where she was

A large number of people turned out June 11 for the opening ceremonies of Tom Deline Ltd. The afternoon activities included listening to John McCann's staying was called the pavilion of Apricots. It was a beautiful palace filled with an extraordinary art collection. But for Sarah Brent it had become a prison which threatened to overwhelm her career, her love and even her life.

Come to Grief - Helen Foley
A death has happened, but Helen

Foley's novel is a study, not of murder, but of the impact of its violence on the structured complexities of family relationships.

prey of the politician. Then, Kennedy arrived with his famous slogan: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

As of late, Hastings County has become Progressive Caterers to political developments. Who else can claim to be first with political representation by a tape recorder? Now we may have another first by a modification of Kennedy's famous statement, to read: "Ask not what your country will do for you, but ask your political incumbent what you are allowed to do."

There are people who are not able to do certain things in this world due to physical impediments. One thing that it is impossible to do is to enter the gutter if you have already placed yourself there. You cannot go there twice unless you have come out once.

Mr. Diefenbaker once took offence to the use of the word, fuddle-duddle. Maybe some of our local politicians are trying to copy the success of its author! However, use of this term to an opponent's wife accompanying her husband to concede defeat should be a NO - NO! I am sure Mr. Diefenbaker would agree.

Yours very truly,

Ken Schultz-Nielsen.

P.S. Please excuse me for my verbosity. However, I am so alarmed with the latest development that I felt compelled to take a stand. I am sure Mr. Davis is proud of the good work carried out by his local deputies, or he should openly apologize for this detestable and infamous behaviour spreading like a Progressive Cancer over our region! Dave, should your political days end with martyrdom for political activity, that is, in my opinion, far more noble than to have been unofficial Minister of inactivity in the Progressive Conservative government for 18 odd years.

This group's decisions can affect your life

For years, a group of technicians from the federal department of fisheries and the environment has been carrying out surveys and making decisions that can dramatically affect local municipalities — and has gone virtually unnoticed in the process.

The 48 engineers, technical experts and administrative support personnel of the Ottawa-based Water Survey of Canada have been constantly monitoring the water levels in the country's lakes and rivers. Their findings and recommendations are available to any organization upon request.

The information they submit is used in a variety of ways. University research and power generating stations rely heavily on the data collected. Land use, zoning, flood plain mapping and flood forecasting are also directly affected by water levels. By learning the characteristics of each river, the engineers can offer vital information in the planning stages of bridges and dams.

In charge of the water survey in this area is Marinus J.W. Abrahamse. His territory takes in the Moira, Black, Skootamatta, Trent and Rideau River systems, as well as those in Prince Edward County. A gauge at Point Petrie near Picton gives a reading on the level of Lake Ontario.

The survey teams must locate their monitoring stations in such a way as to get the most accurate readings of the water level. The position of the equipment is determined by such factors as weeds, ice and even beaver dams.

The monitoring machines are set up to record the levels continually. The data is instantly retrievable by dialing a special telephone number in the community. A series of beeps will tell the technician the exact level of the water at that moment.

Abrahamse usually checks each monitoring station three times a year and has found that each river has its own "personality". His travels across the province often find him driving as many as 2,000 miles a month, especially during the busy springtime when the levels must be closely watched.

His station on the Crowe River, flowing through Marmora, shows that the levels this spring are the lowest since 1960. The figures show the river is flowing at 64 cu. ft. per sec. and the level is 582.8 feet above sea level.

Readings are taken from a machine that records the water levels automatically on paper

The water level readings must be so accurate that even the position of the station itself is checked

Abrahamse takes a reading from a "box gauge" — a weight on a metal tape that is lowered into the river. Above, he is checking the levels of the Crowe River, which flows through Marmora

His real name was Temujin, but his followers called him Genghis Khan, meaning "greatest of rulers, emperor of all men."

The heat of the moment

By BILL SMILEY

This was supposed to be a probing inquiry into what laws Canadians break most, and why they break them. But it's too danged hot.

What a country! Just a few weeks ago, you could get free ice-cubes from those 10 foot icicles hanging from your roof. Today the refrigerator can't keep up with the demand for them.

That horrible heat wave we've experienced coincided with a visit from The Boys. The combination practically put Gran and I on our knees, and we're just now recovering gingerly from an ordeal that would have put us in our graves, had we been 10 years older.

It's not that we can't stand the heat. And goodness knows, The Boys are a treat. But because you can stand driving doesn't mean you want to drive 800 miles a day. And because you enjoy ice cream doesn't mean you want to eat nothing else for two weeks.

Mother of The Boys, our Kim, was in the process of writing the last of her university essays and thought she'd pop up home, have a visit, get some free babysitting and finish her essays. A nice thought.

But The Boys had other ideas. After being cooped up in a city apartment for the winter, they wanted some action, and there's always action at Grandad's, at "the big house", as it's known.

Little Balind, the younger was supposed to be quiet and convalescent after a serious illness. Little Balind, after about one day, was as quiet and convalescent as a Mack truck with Dr. Jekyll's alter ego at the wheel.

After about three days, he had pulled a lamp over on himself, put a permanent gouge in the coffee table, knocked over the fire screen (twice), fallen off a bed on his face, lost a knob off the TV set, sprinkled a can of talcum powder over the entire upstairs with a triumphant grin, and smashed several dishes by hurling them to the floor from his high chair, his signal that the meal was over.

Of course, after his illness he had practically no appetite, so feeding him was no problem. It only took the three of us adults, one cooking, one shovelling it in, and one cleaning up the debris, to stave off his hunger.

He'd start off a banana to keep him from perishing while you were cooking his bacon and eggs. Then it was a scramble to get his toast and honey ready while the eggs were vanishing. Licks off the honey, hurls toast on the floor, stands up in his high chair and wipes hands on Gran's newly-decorated wall. Then out of the chair and on to Grandad's knee for a few more bites of egg or muffin or whatever. This would go on all day, punctuated by apples, cookies, swigs of apple juice and bits of cheese to keep his stomach from rumbling.

I made the mistake of sticking my finger in his mouth once. Thought he was getting some more teeth and that I'd give the gums a little rub to ease the pain. He dam' near took the end right off my finger. That kid is a natural for the wrestling ring or the football field.

No such problem with the other guy, Mikov. He is a dainty eater, can feed himself, and sits up at table, propped on a fat book. No problem at all. Except that he won't eat. Meal time is a game. If he gets wieners and beans, he wants milk on it, then it's too cold. If you're out of scrambled eggs. If you have apple juice and fresh grapefruit juice, the only thing he can stomach is orange juice. He can make a half-hour ceremony out of eating one strand of spaghetti.

There's no malice in it. He just enjoys manipulating three fairly intelligent adults, like three puppers, one cajoling, one threatening, and one furious. We took turns.

Occasionally whisked off to bed without any dinner, he'd be quiet for a few minutes, then paddle downstairs and say he wanted his supper. But he wanted chicken, and you'd had stew.

At first they were a little peeved that Grandad had to go off to work every morning. The old one wanted me to take him to the car wash, one of our favorite excursions. The little one just wanted me to take him and yelled. So I instituted "Kiss Time." I lined the whole gang up, wife, daughter, two grandboys, got them to pucker up and went down the line with a kiss off each. Very popular routine. You have to be craft with kids.

For a few days, the weather was cold, and all they could do was make the inside of the house look as though Attila and his Huns had just laid waste a village.

Then the heat wave struck. Their mother is one of those new-fangled ones who think

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd., Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

I'm angry again this week.

Six months ago, this reporter took potshots at tradesmen for pump troubles. We have had at least three pumps in our drilled well since moving here less than 10 years ago.

We have had at least three sewer pumps installed in that time as well.

Six pumps in less than a decade.

This past month, it was the roof. It leaks. Big brown splotches all along the livingroom ceiling in a relatively new home.

Phone a roofer. He says the entire roof needs replacing. The asphalt shingles are brittle, the corners are curling up, a couple of hunks have already blown off one side of the roof.

You think to yourself that somebody, surely somebody, has a legal obligation about such a sorry state. The roofer, a quietly competent man in appearance, says the one section — covering an overhang with very little pitch — has rolled roofing paper on it and that section is leaking seriously.

He is eager to get the job. You phone the contractor and ask him to come. He tells you they have never heard of a roof leaking so badly in 10 years. Fifteen or 20 perhaps, but not 10. Will they come? In a day or two.

The day or two passes and nobody shows up. The painter is coming to paint the ceiling. He has to wait. The contractors arrive after three more telephone calls and a personal call to the office less than five miles away.

They wander around, take a look, and tell you that the rolled roofing should have been tarred or feathered or gunked up with something every three years.

Why didn't they tell us that when they built the house?

I'm stupid in such matters. My father used to tell me that I couldn't make a plug for a rabbit's rectum if I had the manure for a model. He was right. I didn't know. Why didn't someone say something when the house was built?

But, no. The contractors, after shuffling around for more than a week, disclaim any responsibility. The asphalt shingles, perhaps, but not the overhang; not the rolled roofing. In disgust, I hang up on him in an impolite snit.

But there it is: A section of the roof needed on a new home, a home not 10 years old.

I have said it before and it is worth repeating: As a newspaperman for more than 20 years, I was often accused of inaccuracy and sometimes accused of a lack of professionalism. But many of today's tradesmen and contractors in general — one in particular — have indicated a lack of concern in dealing with me.

So maybe he had no legal obligation. The portion leaking did not come under any guarantee. But wouldn't you think he would admit to a moral obligation? Would it not have been fair to suggest that, since the owner of the home had never been informed of what to do with the overhang, some help in repairs could have been forthcoming?

Nope. Get it built. Get the money and get out.

In 10 years, we have had the side door fall right out of its frame. It had never been anchored down. We have had the eight-foot sliding patio doors crash into the livingroom and break two chairs.

I shudder to think what might have happened if they had fallen on a child.

And now, a leaky roof.

To readers contemplating building a house, take it from one with experience: Be sure you know your contractor. Be positive that it is a reliable firm even if costs are a little higher. If any changes are made in the original contract, find out what obligations you have as an owner before the contract is complete.

Get a guarantee on your home if at all possible. It is the biggest single investment most of us ever make. If the builder is confident, I can see no reason why a 10-year guarantee would not be reasonable to suggest.

As for our contractor, I hope his patio doors fall on him someday while he is worrying about his leaking roof.

Why should YOU have a KITCHEN AID DISHWASHER?

The all-new
KitchenAid
DISHWASHERS
See them NOW

KitchenAid.
the brand that people who own dishwashers say is the best is now even better!

Saves Time

Load dishes straight from table to dishwasher. Little hand rinsing needed except for bones and paper, because of KITCHEN AID'S stainless steel filter and soft waste disposer.

More Sanitary

Water reaches 180 degrees F. during sani-cycle. Average person washes dishes in 115 degrees F. water. More sanitary means less germs and therefore less chance of catching a cold.

No more Dishpan Hands

Just think of the work, the scrubbing, the drying, the time you save.

Actually uses less water in many cases

Most people only use a complete wash cycle once a day with a dishwasher. Breakfast and noon dishes can be put through a rinse cycle only until night. Washing dishes by hand is usually done after each meal.

CREDIT AVAILABLE TERMS EASILY ARRANGED!

Get one of Bennett's Revolving Charge Accounts. Pay as Much or as Little as you like.

Minimum Payment $15.00 or 5% of the unpaid balance per month, whichever is greater.

you can count on many years of reliable and quality automatic dishwashing.

MEMORIALS

BAILEY, Douglas - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away
June 24, 1976.
A light is from our household gone.
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home.
Which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten.
Though on earth you are no more.
But in memory you are with us.
As you always were before.
Always remembered and sadly missed by wife Helen and family. 11

BRONSON - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Thomas, who passed away June 24, 1975.
"Love's greatest gift - Remembrance".
Lovingly remembered by Donna, Glenn and family. 11

BRONSON - In loving memory of a father and grandfather, Tom, who passed away June 24, 1975.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping.
Sweetest rest that follows pain.
We who loved him sadly miss him.
But trust in God to meet again.
Always remembered by
Ivan, Marlene and family. 11

BRONSON - In loving memory of a dear husband,
father and grandfather,
Tom, who passed away
June 24, 1975.
In memory, a daily thought,
In heart, a silent sorrow.
Sadly missed by wife Alice
and family. 11

LOBB - In loving memory of Dave Lobb, who passed away June 17, 1975.
What I would give to clasp his hand.
His happy face to see.
To hear his voice and see him smile.
That meant so much to me.
Always remembered by his wife Viola. 11

MEMORIALS

DAFOE - In loving memory of a beloved son and brother, Dick, who left us so suddenly fourteen years ago
June 22nd.
You have not really left us,
Dick,
Nor have you travelled far;
Just entered God's beautiful garden
Our family chain is broken And nothing seems the same.
But as God takes us one by one,
That chain will link again.
Still loved and missed by Mom, Dad, brothers and sisters. 11

WEBBER - In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webber - Dad, who passed away June 23, 1934; Mother, who passed away Aug. 3, 1942.
God looked around his garden
And found an empty place
He looked upon the earth below
And saw your tired faces.
He put his arms around you
and lifted you to rest.
God's garden must be beautiful
For he only takes the best.
Sadly remembered by Robert and Vera Webber, Blanche and Wilbert Ellis and families. 11

that children should be allowed to express their creative faculties regardless. The Boys poured into the back yard like the Saracens pouring into Spain, and created.

I'll say one thing for them. They didn't set fire to the stoop, or the fence. They couldn't have. They discovered Grandad's hose, and where to turn it on. Everything was so wet after a few minutes, you couldn't have started a fire with gasoline.

I'd come home from work, and there'd be two naked tots, soaking, mud from head to toe, watering each other, their mother, the lawn furniture and any stray animal, human or otherwise, that came in range.

It took only half an hour to clean up. That, along with two hours at feeding time, and about two hours at bath and story time, and an hour to recuperate, took a fair chunk out of the day.

Now there're gone and I miss them terribly. Nobody to run over, jump on my arthritic foot and butt me in the stomach. Nobody to make me read the longest fairy story in the entire book. I can hardly wait to see them again. Maybe Christmas? For a day?

Manpower opens office at CHSS

In an attempt to alleviate the chronic student unemployment situation this summer, Canada Manpower has opened a Student Employment Office at Centre Hastings Secondary School.

The office, which will be staffed by Jennifer Staveley, a Student Employment Officer with Canada Manpower, will serve the communities of Marmora, Stirling, Tweed, Eldorado and Madoc. It will be open each Wednesday until July 27.

Miss Staveley, herself a University student studying sociology, said that currently there are 145 students registered with the employment office; and that most of those registered are high school students.

However some 45 of those registered are post-secondary students; that is, they are university or college students home for the summer and looking for work.

Besides the office at CHSS, Manpower has set up an office in Bancroft to serve North Hastings and maintains a permanent office in Belleville.

Miss Staveley said that she plans to visit several of the farms in the area covered by her office in an attempt to encourage the hiring of students during the summer.

The type of work which she would like to see people provide for the students includes farming, house painting, gardening, cutting grass, and any other odd jobs which people in the area might want to have done.

She said that the office will be open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. each Wednesday; and would encourage any unemployed students or people wishing to hire them to call her there at 473-4251.

Teachers hold conference

About 225 presidents and executive of the Women Teachers' Associations that make up the 33,000 member Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario met at the Park Plaza Hotel, Toronto on June 3 and 4, 1977.

The title of the conference was "Look Ahead" and the programme was designed to assist incoming presidents.

Topics discussed included political action, leadership, public relations, professional development and negotiation procedures.

Attending from this area was Mrs. Bernice Armstrong of Bridgewater School.

Mrs. Armstrong will be president of the Elementary Women Teachers' Association of Hastings County for 1977-78.

huge collection of Ontario fossils captured the interest of all.

When the Centennial Museum was built of modern architecture in 1967, it replaced the old Victorian Museum which was originally located in Inverlea Park in the former of the late Judge Robert Dennistown. The home was given to the Peterborough Town-County Historical Association in 1897 to be used as a museum. It was used for this purpose until 1911, when the Peterborough Public Library was built and the museum artifacts were moved from Inverlea to the new library.

Then the Centennial Museum established a permanent home for Peterborough's rich and lively past.

During lunch, roll call and a short business discussion took place, at which a strawberry social was planned.

After eight years at C.H.S.S.

After five years of teaching and three years in the position of Vice-Principal at Centre Hastings Secondary School, Wally Moffat has accepted the appointment of Co-ordinator of Communications at the Board of Education office in Belleville.

Mr. Moffat, son of Mrs. Moffat and the late Mr. T.C. Moffat of Tweed, was raised in Tweed where he attended High School. For the next thirteen years he managed various finance companies before going into the teaching profession. After one year, Mr. Moffat was offered the assistant headship of the business department, then headship of the business department at Centre Hastings Secondary School, and in another five he was appointed Vice-Principal.

Mr. Moffat resides in Belleville with his wife, Kathryn and children Mike, Sharon and Terry. ness. He will also assist in Professional Development, Communications and Leadership workshops.

Mr. Moffat was highly regarded with the students of C.H.S.S. His assistance to the school government on administrative affairs was invaluable. Mr. Moffat will not be easily replaced nor his personality soon forgotten at Centre Hastings.

Pioneer church service held at O'Hara Mill

by Jan Graham

It was in the atmosphere of our Pioneer ancestors, surrounded by the natural beauty of O'Hara's Mill, that the second annual "Old Fashioned" church service was held last Sunday. Although provisions had been made in case of rain, it was under a clear sky that the service took place.

Reverend Donald Himelman of the Lutheran Church in Belleville opened this special service with a call to worship, together in the spirit of our forefathers who had worshipped at the Mill before us. Rev. Lawrence Mack of the Wesleyan Methodist church in Madoc then lead the opening hymn, "Fairer Lord Jesus."

The sermon, given by Rev. Himelman, was appropriately based on the "Sermon on the Mount".

Excerpts from the history of the Mill's first settlers and passages from the book "Pilgrimage of Faith" were interesting additions to the sermon.

Rev. and Mrs. Mack sang two beautifully harmonized duets, followed by Rev. Arnold Creaser of the Queensboro-United Church leading the congregation in prayer. The closing hymn was directed by Rev. Mack and a collection was taken up to assist in the operation of future church services at O'Hara's Mill.

WI members visit museum

It was an educational day for fifteen members of Hart's-Riggs' Women's Institute when they travelled to Peterborough last Tuesday to visit the Centennial Museum and Archives. The day was arranged by Mrs. Wanda Franks, convener of Canadian Industries, who had the program for the June meeting.

On arrival at Peterborough, the ladies first saw a boat travelling through the lift locks.

At the museum, several interesting displays were on view. These included doll collections, jewellery, china sets, a biscuit jar collection, household furniture, farm equipment, guns, a phonograph, organs, a taxidermy collection, the old-time bi-cycle with the huge front wheels, and many other interesting items. Attracting the attention of many was the antique coffee grinder from an old Hamilton grocery store that was established in 1858 and closed in 1953. Also of special interest were the small clocks from the early 1900's made by Westclox of Peterborough. An extensive display of minerals, both local and world-wide, as well as a

Holmes reunion held in Queensboro

The 53rd annual Holmes Reunion was held on June 18th, 1977, in the Queensboro W.I. Hall, with about 70 people attending.

After a bounteous pot-luck dinner, Garnet Holmes, President, opened the afternoon's program with a short address.

Elmer Holmes of Tweed played his guitar and sang several solos, which everyone enjoyed.

A minutes silence, in memory of those who had passed away since last year's reunion was observed. Those remembered were John Holmes, Arthur Wartman, Goldwin Holmes and Karen Dean. Arthur Manchester rendered a prayer.

An elimination contest was given by Goldie Holmes. Those winning were: Men's, Ken Cassidy; Women's, Pauline Hamilton.

Something new was added this year to the program in the form of an amateur talent. Jeannie Martin tap-danced and Wanda Holmes gave a solo. These added greatly to the program and it is hoped that it will be kept up through the years. Jeannie is the daughter of Don and Barbara Martin and Wanda is the daughter of Wayne and Brenda Holmes.

Other prizes were awarded as follows: The man with the smallest waistline, Allan Hamilton; The woman with the largest waistline, Jean Bailey; The man with the most coppers in his pocket, Arthur Manchester; The woman wearing the most jewellery, Mrs. Arthur Manchester; The couple who came in the oldest car, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Holmes; The door prize, a Queen's Silver Jubilee Plate, was won by Mrs. Ken (Bernice) Cassidy.

A card, signed by those present, was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmes, who were celebrating their 47th Wedding Anniversary. Two Wintario tickets were with the card.

Mrs. Bernice Cassidy was elected as Secretary-Treasurer with Mrs. Shirley Holmes as her assistant. As there were no other resignations, except Goldie Holmes who had resigned as Secretary-Treasurer, the slate of Officers remained as before.

Next year's reunion is to be held on the third Saturday in June in the Tweed Park.

Antiques shown

The members of Cooper and Remington Women's Institute and 15 visitors enjoyed a display of antique glass dishes and bottles at their regular monthly meeting in the Cooper Community Centre last Tuesday evening.

Special guest speakers for the meeting were Rudolph Dungan and Fernando Espinosa of the Golden Era Antiques of Madoc. They gave several interesting descriptions of the antiques they brought for the display and then gave a value on each.

For the roll call, each member brought an antique item to be evaluated and aged by the guest speakers. This proved most interesting.

The visitors were members of Hart's-Riggs' and Queensboro Branches, who had been invited for the special program which had been arranged by Doris Rollins and Lorraine Trotter, conveners of Cultural Affairs.

To open the meeting, Mrs. Bernice Clark read two poems pertaining to Father's Day. The treasurer's report included a financial statement on the recent weddings that had been catered to by the institute.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white interlock jersey of empire waist styling enhanced with lace applique around the neckline and on the sleeves. A fingertip veil and flowing train completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses in the shape of a cross.

Around the Village

By Jean Asselstine

The Madoc Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary, joined together in a Church Parade that took them to St. John the Baptist Anglican Church on Sunday, June 26th. They joined with the congregation to commemorate the Silver Jubilee of the Queen. In addition they visited 10 graves in the area, depositing a wreath in each cemetery, in memory of the Legionnaires buried therein.

Nine members were present at the regular meeting of the Madoc and District Figure Skating Club on June 20th held at the Madoc Council Chambers. The secretary's report stated the Chinese Cooking School held at Centre Hastings Secondary School on June 8th was a success due to the efforts of Sally Tarrant and Kay Peacock for the hard work they put into the event. The members discussed several proposed projects for raising funds for the Club. It was decided to put a food booth in the Madoc Sidewalk Sale to be held July 22-23. The next regular meeting will be held at the Madoc Council Chambers on September 12th at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McCann of Peterborough and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pigden recently returned from a two-week trip to London, England. In London they rented a car and drove to Wales, followed the coast of Wales to the coast of Scotland on the Irish Sea. They then went across to Dundee and Perth, down the coast to the North Sea and inland to Edinburgh. They were able to leave their car in Edinburgh and take a train which took them five and a half hours back to London, England.

Tracey Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Simpson, Elgin St., Madoc, recently graduated from Sir James Whitney School in Belleville. ## Hazzards Community News

by MINNIE MOORCROFT

Marie and Doug McGowan, Ann and Jimmy; also Myra Cotton spent the weekend with Helen, Elmer and Ross Chambers.

Later Helen and Elmer had a pleasant trip to La Chute and Lakefield in P. of Quebec enjoying their drives in the Laurentians.

Visitors at the Chambers' home enjoy drives on this side road past 'Valley Croft' with Elmer's new driver on the open buggy. We too, enjoy seeing this handsome means of travel.

A retirement party was held for neighbour Macpherson (Mac) Hubbell in Toronto recently. Soon he will have more leisure time at their home on what was years ago "the George Bacon" farm.

The 4-H Potato and Corn Club met on Monday evening on the farm of Harold and Pauline Harris. Dayle and Heather are members. Heather and Dayle H. and Anna McKinnon attended the 4-H Calf Club Thursday evening at the Belleville Animal Hospital.

Alma Moorcroft, accompanied by Mary Taylor and Sadie Burnside, called on Olive Ashe on Thursday afternoon.

The transformation which has been taking place on the old Diamond farm on Road 12, has been interesting to watch - the demolition of the old big frame house built in 1845, repairing the barns, making vegetable garden, and now the completed brick house, and recently renewed lawn and garden with a miniature lake to grace the background. This has been the work of Mr. and Mrs. Gunter Lierich formerly of Toronto, happy in their work here and this rural life.

A short distance south of his home is the recently built house of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid. A bit north of Hazzards on the west side of the Blakely Hill is the new home of David and Carol Paraniuk who also have been landscaping their grounds. These two have been built on land free of older buildings. However there may have been a house at an early time on the site of the Reid home; as indicated by lilac trees. If space permitted many others would be named who have made recent improvements.

Defence Minister Barney Danson finds morale high among Canadian troops in W. Germany because of new Leopard tanks, NATO trophy

Morale of Canadian troops in West Germany has never been higher, Defence Minister Barney Danson discovered on a recent one-day visit to Canadian Forces Base, Lahr.

There he saw his troops with Leopard tanks on loan from the West German government and the marksmanship trophy they won after training with the tanks for only three months.

The Leopards are on loan while new ones are being built for the Canadians.

The marksmanship trophy is a silver model of a tank, the prize offered each spring in NATO marksmanship competitions.

The high morale of Canadian troops was also evident to West German Defence Minister Herr Leber, who accompanied Defence Minister Danson to Lahr, after they had attended the NATO Defence Ministers' meeting at NATO headquarters in Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Leber had hosted his Canadian counterpart on a one-day visit to Bonn.

ENVY

Winning the NATO marksmanship trophy made the Canadians the envy of all NATO forces in Europe, which is an about-face for them after having been equipped with World War II Centurion tanks. And to keep a few of them operating others had to be cannibalized for parts, until now only a handful are operational.

But the new German tank with British 105mm gun, plus other modern equipment, makes it the best NATO allies have, and is reported to be superior to Warsaw Pact Nations' tanks.

After viewing the troops, their tanks and other support equipment, being given an insight into the Leopard's best features, talking with members of many crews, Defence Minister Danson commended them for winning the NATO trophy and bringing honor to themselves and their country.

Two CF104 fighter planes were on the base for the ministers to view, while others flew over, or landed and took off.

While the plane flies twice the speed of sound it was built in the '60s, with the Defence Minister now looking for replacements.

SGT. DENNIS ARSENAULT OF SUMMERSIDE, PEI, explained the good features of the Leopard tanks to Defence Minister Barney

Danson and West German Defence Minister Herr Leber, when they recently visited Canadian Forces Base at Lahr, West Germany.

PRESS CONFERENCE

The ministers concluded their visit with a press conference for Canadian, German, British and newsmen from other NATO countries.

In it Defence Minister Leber assured he and his country are happy to have Canadian forces training and living there, and he said it has been obvious their morale has greatly improved since receiving improved equipment. In addition, their fighting capability has greatly increased.

Defence Minister Danson replied that it is gratifying the way Germans work so well with Canadians, both in the armed services and on Civvy St., and he thanked Herr Leber for loaning the Leopard tanks to the Canadians while their new ones are being built.

By Lynn Lashbrook

He assured his West German counterpart that Canadians are happy with their new German-built tanks and had proven they had mastered them by winning the gunnery competition with such short training.

Farther standardization of NATO equipment is one goal of the two defence ministers, as well as closer co-operation and training between Canadian and West German troops.

Herr Leber pointed out that his country's troops train with their equipment at Camp Shilo in Manitoba, as Canadian train in Germany, with the goal being for soldiers of both countries' forces to be able to take their places effectively in either army.

At the NATO Defence Ministers' conference it was decided to increase each member country's financial commitment, because of the growing threat from Warsaw Pact Nations' arms build-up.

CANADIAN LEOPARD TANK CREW OF Trooper Dieter Dodge of Kingsville, Ont., Corp. Ernie Carroll of Oromocto, NB, Corp. Brain Ward of Sackville, NB, and Corp. Gar

Baronbridge of Saskatoon, Sask., waited recently at Canadian Forces Base, Lahr, West Germany, for Defence Minister Barney Danson to view them and their Leopard tank.

CAPT. MARTIN ABBOTT OF CALGARY, was interviewed recently by Defence Minister Barney Danson, West German Defence Minister Herr Leber, and others, when they visited Canadian Forces Base, Lahr, West Germany. Capt. Abbott is a pilot of one of Canada's CF104 fighter planes which flies twice the speed of sound.

It's baby time at the Zoo

There is an explosion in the animal population at Metro Toronto Zoo. This spring, all indications suggest that the animal collection will increase by 10% -- to about 3,500 animals -- and all within the Zoo gates.

A Grevy's zebra was born on April 7, the day of the first home game of the Toronto Blue Jays. The filly was named, of course, "Blue Jay", and she may be the first Grevy's zebra born in Canada. She can be seen with her mother in the African paddocks at the Zoo. A little Nile hippopotamus is out in the hippo pool with her four-ton mother. A hippo weighs about 70 pounds at birth, is born underwater, swims immediately and suckles underwater.

In the North American Pavilion, you can see beaver kits in their lodge through one-way viewing glass. The Eurasian Pavilion boasts a young hog-nosed badger from China, born to parents acquired in a series of exchanges with the Peking Zoo. A family of white-faced barn owls flutters about nearby. Two ostrich chicks are on exhibit just outside the pavilion. In the adjoining paddocks are Bactrian or two-humped camels, some with little calves looking just as saucy and arrogant as the adults.

A train trip down into the Canadian Domain in the valley is free, and an especial treat at this time of year. You will find white-tailed deer with fawns; Dall's sheep from high mountains of the Yukon; with lambs; plains bison with calves; and, by the time you read this, perhaps a litter of coyote pups.

Most of the animals fortunately have uncomplicated births, and require no assistance in delivery. If there is a difficulty, the Zoo's two full-time veterinarians are on hand to help. Sometimes even a hatching may not go smoothly -- once a Mangrove snake had to have help in "pipping" its shell. Assistance was given gingerly -- a Mangrove snake is fully venomous from the moment it's hatched. Often pregnant females are separated from the rest of the group to give them privacy and rest, and allow the vets easy access in case there is a problem. Zoo mothers usually take care of their young beautifully, but there is always the occasional one who refuses to let the baby suckle or does not produce adequate milk. These babies have to be taken from their mothers and hand-reared in the Health Unit's nursery. When you visit the Zoo this summer, however, you will see some dozens of Zoo parents successfully rearing their young in the natural park-like setting of Metro Toronto Zoo.

The Zoo is open every day of the year except December 24 and 25, and from now on until Labour Day, it will be open at 9:30 a.m., close at 8 p.m. (last admissions at 6:30). Admission is $3 for adults, $1.50 for teens and seniors; children 50¢, under 5, free. The ride is free.

Young Blue Jay and her mother are stylish Grevy's zebras, distinguished by the handsome black stripe down the back. Blue Jay may be the first Grevy's zebra born in Canada and she's on exhibit in the African paddocks at Metro Toronto Zoo.

GOOD PSYCHOLOGY

Many psychologists agree that parents should accept childishness in their children. It's natural for youngsters to fidget when they have to sit still for long stretches and to run instead of walk.

Experts have also found that too much regimentation may cause children to rebel. For instance, schools that take candy machines out of their lunchrooms to cut students' intake of sweets may find the youngsters boycotting the lunchrooms and going outside for what they want.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd. Elmira Ont. N3B 2C7

The story two weeks ago about the sights, the sounds and the smells of a blacksmith shop prompted half a dozen people to write letters.

A reader from Walkerton commented that farrier schools are again opening up because of the renewed interest in horses both for pleasure and for racing. He even intimated that, if this energy shortage gets to the crisis stage, perhaps more farmers will be resorting to horses and the trade of the farrier could become important again.

A woman from the Dresden area, in a long and interesting letter, said her father was a blacksmith for many years when she was a child and she will never forget watching him shoe a wild stallion one day. It took three men to get the brute into a special stall made of metal bars, designed by her father for just that purpose. It took the men three hours to do the job but her father emerged victorious.

From Hastings County, in the Brighton area, another man sent a copy of a story I wrote more than 20 years ago about farriers. I had forgotten all about writing that story so many years ago and I have pasted the copy in my scrap book.

A large colony of horse lovers must live in the Goderich-Kincardine area because four letters came from there. One man said he hasn't smelled the peculiar odor caused by a hot shoe being placed on a hoof for more than 40 years. He said he intends to make a special trip to the Elmira area this summer just to stand inside the door of a smith again.

I suggested in my reply that he had better make an appointment because John Zieske is one of the busiest men in the county. A smithy who enjoys company is Jon B. Martin in the village of St. Jacobs, just a few miles north of Waterloo on Highway 85. Jonathon is semi-retired now but if you are ever travelling through the town, watch for his sign on the main street which will indicate if he is shoeing horses. He has been at it for more than 50 years and is as lean and strong as most men half his age.

Stratford and New Hamburg readers also wrote short but nostalgic notes. A Milverton reader said the Baer family in his area have been farriers for more than 60 years. Out of the shop came a design some years ago for an artificial leg for a horse. It did not get much popularity and he says he cannot remember if it worked on the pregnant mare it was meant for.

Drayton must also be a community of horse lovers because a letter came from that area asking for the telephone number of our blacksmith. The writer said he had three or four horsemen in mind who would come to Elmira for shoeing because the closest farrier in that area was too busy to take on new customers.

A letter from Brussels, near Seaforth, stated that modern farriers no longer use the old-fashioned bellows to get shoes red hot.

"They have a switch on the wall which runs a fancy fan in the forge and the fan forces the coals to become hot which, in turn, makes the shoes hot. My father used to tell me about working in the smithy as a boy and having to work the bellows for the smith."

Shoeing horses has not changed much over the years but if a fancy fan helps lessen the work for the farrier, then I'm all for these modern touches.

We have our horse shoes tipped with borium, an extremely hard compound that gives them a grip on asphalt and even ice. These borium tips or corks are applied with a welding torch and are a special safety factor for our girls when they are riding on the highways.

Another letter suggested a column on the marvellous odors that emanate from a harness shop. Maybe I'll get around to writing about them in a week or two when I have time during the summer holiday to interview a few harness makers.

In any event, the column on farriers sure prompted a great many people to write. Nostalgia is the "in" thing in 1977.

Tomorrow's energy?

A recent issue of the Imperial Oil "Review" says that the problem facing Canada is not a shortage of energy; Canada has large potential resources in conventional oil and gas, heavy oils, coal, hydro and uranium. The problem, says the Imperial Oil magazine, is turning this potential resource into actual energy reserves, and it has two main parts.

The two parts of the energy problem are economics and the long time it takes to develop potential resources. All energy supply systems face eight to 12 year lead times.

Lead times for nuclear plants run about 10 years. It takes almost a decade to bring a new coal mine into production, the Imperial Oil "Review" article says.

Renewable sources of energy - the sun, the tides, the wind, the earth's own heat - are promising. But to turn the promise into production, if the promise can be met at all, might take 30 years. The task, the Imperial Oil "Review" says, compares not to walking on the moon but to colonizing it.

Affectionately called Beefeaters by the world, the Tower guards are officially named Yeoman Warders. A companion order of Yeomen of the Guard officiates at royal ceremonies. Today the colorfully uniformed Beefeater has come to symbolize England.

When people speak of Beefeater, throughout the Commonwealth and around the civilized world, they are even more likely to be talking about a certain premium quality London distilled dry gin than about Tower guards. So God save the Queen, in her Silver Jubilee year. And God protect her Beefeaters - every man and bottle.

Homesy-folksy hints from the White House on meal-stretchers somehow get us right in the indigestion.

What happened to all that jazz about high cholesterol? We'd welcome it right now, from a well-marbled steak.

TRAVEL TIPS AND TRICKS

This year Queen Elizabeth II celebrates the 25th year of her reign, and the people of the British Isles are in a Silver Jubilee mood. A particularly warm welcome awaits visitors from the Commonwealth and cousins from America.

Visitors to London invariably head for the Tower of London, to see the Crown Jewels and absorb 900 years of history. The best times to avoid crowds are first thing in the morning and late in the evening. Just before 10 o'clock you can watch the guards lock up for the night with the Ceremony of the Keys.

Elderly, obese most susceptible to heat

St. John Ambulance warns that elderly and obese persons and those with chronic debilitating disorders are most susceptible to heat disorders. The following information on heat disorders is provided by Dr. W.J. Warren Gamble, Eastern Area Surgeon of the St. John Ambulance Brigade:

1. Heat Exhaustion (heat prostration)
This condition is due to inadequacy or collapse of the peripheral circulation secondary to salt depletion and dehydration. The symptoms are weakness, dizziness, stupor, headache with or without muscle cramps. The skin is pale and there is profuse perspiration. Other symptoms may be a decreased urinary output, rapid heart rate, mental confusion and muscular inco-ordination.

Treatment of Heat Exhaustion: 1. Put patient at rest in a cool place. 2. Elevate feet. 3. Massage the legs. 4. Avoid immediate exposure to heat. 5. Medical care for proper salt replacement.

2. Heat Stroke: This is a rare disorder but a true medical emergency, characterized by sudden loss of consciousness and by failure of the heat regulating mechanism. When the heat regulating mechanism fails to function you get high fever, cessation of sweating and collapse. People with heat stroke may have a few warning signs such as headache, dizziness, nausea, visual disturbance and even convulsions. The skin is hot, flushed and dry. The pulse is rapid, irregular and weak.

Treatment for Heat Stroke: The aim is to reduce the high temperature. 1. Place patient in a shady cool place. 2. Remove adequate clothing. 3. Cool by fanning after sprinkling with water. 4. Use cool soothing packs of ice or water. 5. Massage extremities to maintain circulation. 6. Maintain an adequate airway. 7. Medical aid as soon as possible. An interesting fact should be noted. These people should avoid re-exposure to heat as much as they can because hypersensitivity to high temperatures may remain for a considerable length of time.

3. Heat Cramps: These are painful spasms of the involuntary muscles of the abdomen and extremities due primarily to salt depletion. The skin is moist and cool and muscle twitchings may be present. The temperature is normal or only slightly increased.

Treatment of Heat Cramps: 1. Place patient in cool place. 2. Massage muscles gently. 3. Rest. 4. Medical attention for salt replacement. In summary, to prevent heat disorders you should advise people to avoid unnecessary exposure to heat. They should maintain an adequate fluid and salt intake. This can be accomplished by salt tablets and adequate water. Activity should be increased slowly until acclimatized. Clothing should be loose fitting, preferably white and permeable to moisture. Avoid alcoholic indulgence, excessive fatigue and infections. Maintain good nutrition.

OTTAWA and Small Business

Foreign Intrigue

by JIM SMITH

The Senate, according to popular belief, is the burying-ground of the almost-dead politician. Which makes it difficult to understand the widespread lack of enthusiasm for this institution. After all, most Canadians seem to feel that the only good politician is a dead politician.

However, some politicians appointed to the Upper House refuse to bow out quietly. Certainly the members of the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs seem determined to contribute some useful direction to the Canadian scene.

The Committee meets regularly to mull over vital international issues. Currently, the topic is Canada-U.S. trade relations. And, as Senate committees tend to do, its members have spent most of their time listening to representatives of big business explain why bigness is goodness.

But this Committee turns out to be rather different. Although big business spokesmen have been through, making their pitches about the value of concentrated commerce to Canadian life, the Committee also invited the Canadian Federation of Independent Business to appear.

The Federation, given the opportunity to intervene, proceeded to tear down the false economic idols of big business. We do not need, it emphasized, more corporations of so-called world scale in order to compete in international markets.

Japan, the Federation pointed out, is the world's most successful international trader. Yet it depends on small, independent business for 40 per cent of its exports. And this is from the nation which also has the world's most highly developed big business. The lesson is self-evident.

Then the Federation turned its attention to statistics supplied by big business to demonstrate that small business is inefficient. Many of the most efficient small Canadian firms are very involved in sub-contracting with bigger companies; the efficiencies of these firms show up in favour of the big business when the statisticians go to work, however. And, of course, since small businesses are very innovative and operate in creative ways, it just isn't possible to measure their productivity in the usual ways.

The Federation had much more to say. A great deal of ground can be covered in three hours. And the Federation used that time to build an impressive case for more small business.

The senators listened. They questioned. They argued. And, ultimately, they agreed with the Federation. Senator Deschatelets called the Federation's suggestions "some of the most imaginative projects to deal with the problem of unemployment that I have seen for many years."

The senators acted, all told, like men far removed from the grave. The Senate, in fact, may be more active than the House of Commons. Don't buy any lilies for your favourite senator yet.

Bill and Susan Seaforth Hayes

Peter Marshall

Bill Hayes and his wife, Susan Seaforth have won awards as Best Actor and Actress of the year, and their program, "Days of Our Lives," (NBC), was voted Best Serial, according to the July, 1977, issue of Daytime TV Magazine. Its readers cast more than a million votes to select the Best Actor, Best Actress and Best Serial.

The poll, now in its 8th year, is the oldest public-opinion barometer of daytime TV programs. It draws an average of 7,000 ballots a month, each ballot containing 15 possible votes in 5 categories.

For Bill and Susan Hayes, it is their second consecutive victory. They are the soaps' undisputed King and Queen today. For "Days of Our Lives," on the air since 1965, it's three annual wins out of a possible seven as the Best Serial.

Since game, talk and variety shows also share the daytime network hours, the same voters selected Dinah Shore as Best Host of a Talk/Variety Show, and Peter Marshall's "Hollywood Squares," as Best Game Show, the third time on top for Marshall.

Bill Hayes, who began as a singer back in Harvey, Ill., and had his first hit record when he was featured on the old Sid Caesar TV show, is gratified to be acknowledged as a fine actor. And his bride of two years, Susan Seaforth, a former child actress born in San Francisco, says Daytime TV Magazine's Readers' Poll is the first award she's ever won. But for Dinah Shore, award-winning is old stuff.

Health and Welfare Canada Minister Marc Lalonde has released an extensive report on cancer patterns in Canada which points to cancer as the leading cause of loss of life expectancy for Canadian women and the third most frequent cause for men.

The report, prepared by the department's Health Protection Branch includes data collected for the period 1931 to 1974.

Breast cancer, the most frequently occurring type among Canadian women, is responsible for about 3,000 deaths per year and 23 per cent of the loss of female life expectancy due to cancer. Lung cancer, the most frequent type in Canadian men and the third most in women, was responsible for all of the large increase of the cancer death rate for Canadian men during the past 25 years. Cancer of the large intestine ranks second in frequency for both sexes.

The cancer death rate for adult men is lowest in Saskatchewan (184 per 100,000) and highest in Quebec (263); for adult women, the rate is lowest in Saskatchewan (141) and highest in Nova Scotia (188). Similar variations were observed for specific types of cancer. The death rate for lung cancer in men varies from 51 in Saskatchewan to 84 in Quebec and for breast cancer in women from 33 in Newfoundland to 46 in Quebec.

During the period 1964-1974, significant increases in adult death rates occurred for the following types of cancer:

- a) Men - lung, large intestine (except rectum), and total cancer;
- b) Women - mouth and throat, pancreas, lung and cancers of the immune system.

Decreases were observed for the following adult cancers:

- a) Men - stomach and rectum;
- b) Women - stomach, rectum, gallbladder, cervix, uterus and bladder.

"Ontario farmers are sponsoring a two-year, $20,000 foreign aid project in Sierra Leone to share our practical agricultural experience," announced Bill Benson, Chairman of the Foreign Aid Committee of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Ontario's largest farm organization.

"This is something completely new," explained Mr. Benson. "We were approached by the World University Services of Canada on behalf of the project leaders in Sierra Leone. They want Ontario farmers to help Sierra Leone establish its own chicken hatchery industry."

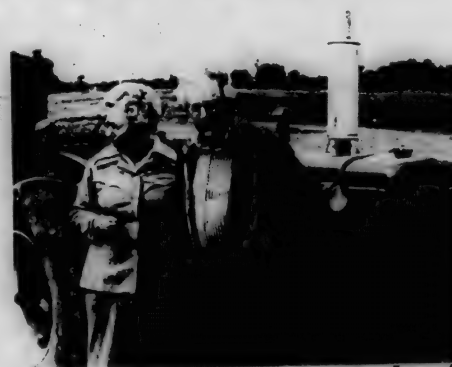

"There is an increasing demand in Sierra Leone for both eggs and poultry. Yet all their chicks must now be flown in from Europe -- at great expense. If we can help them establish their own hatcheries, this will no longer be necessary. Costs will decrease; jobs will be created; protein should be less expensive and more plentiful," explained Mr. Benson.

OFA has assumed the leadership in finding a farm manager for the project and raising the money to support him. Mr. Benson said: "The big challenge is to find the money. It will cost $10,000 a year for the next two years."

"We have found an excellent man to do the job -- Roland Stalker, a Bath, Ontario, farmer with over 40 years experience mostly in poultry."

"I gained a lot of experience during the depression, before farming became mechanized. To survive as a farmer then you had to improvise and make do. I am delighted to be going to Sierra Leone and hope my experience and knowledge will be valuable," said Mr. Stalker, 66.

Mr. Stalker will be accompanied by his wife, Grace, and their youngest son, Kevin Andrew, 18.

Roland and Grace Stalker are going to Sierra Leone for two years. Roland is to be the farm manager for a foreign aid project sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. OFA has assumed the leadership in raising the $20,000 needed to support Roland and his family over the next two years.

Mrs. Stalker has had a long history of involvement in community and farming organizations. For the past five years she has been on the OFA executive.

*****

Sierra Leone is a small country in West Africa whose population is primarily engaged in subsistence farming. There is very little industry and their main source of foreign exchange is the exporting of small quantities of diamonds.

The people of Sierra Leone speak a great many dialects but English is widely used.

The true North, strong and free... and together. How do we keep it that way?

Well, the first step is for each of us to begin to understand our fellow Canadians. They may live a thousand miles away. They may speak a different language. They may be Canadians, not by birth but by choice. And the more different they are, the more understanding they need. That's easy to say. But how do we do it? It's not easy to understand the other fellow. Especially if sometimes it seems as though he doesn't understand you. Yet one thing is sure. There are a lot more people who want to understand and want to keep Canada together than those who would tear it apart. But it's going to take time and we've got to start now. If we don't, what will we ever say to our children and their children when they ask us, "Where were you when there was still a chance to save Canada?" Well, if we want to keep our country together, we have to understand that some Canadians need more help than others. That we cannot solve our problems unless we help a lot of Canadians to catch up. Is that too much to ask? Maybe we're stretched so thin from east to west that all we're capable of is caring only about ourselves in our own little backyard. But you know something... if we ever let our country come apart our own little backyard may be left standing there pretty lonely and confused. And then where are we?

Beware of fires in air conditioners

With the arrival of warmer weather, Ontario Hydro wants electricity users to be aware of fire hazards linked with air conditioners.

Jack Dicker, manager of electrical inspection, warns that air conditioners should be installed and operated according to instructions. A number of complaints have been received and, in past years, a number of fires have occurred in various parts of the province.

He says, "the most common cause is using overloaded extension cords and plugging them into unsuitable receptacles."

Each air conditioning unit should have a separate circuit capable of carrying 15 amperes. Placement of extension cords is important, too. Avoid keeping them beneath rugs or chesterfields where any flaw would be hidden.

Receptacles should also be checked to make sure they are appropriate for the type of wiring in the house.

Elegant Strawberries

Elegant Strawberries

Ontario strawberries look so beautiful and taste so good that they need very little dressing up to make them elegant. A shower of Ontario sauterne, a dip into sugar and yogurt or even a dunk into melted chocolate - that's all the strawberries need!

Food specialists at the Ontario Food Council, Ministry of Agriculture and Food say that our strawberries are so good this year that they plan to serve them often - and hope you will too - but without extensive preparation. Try their novel ideas.

Eat'n Drink Strawberries

Place prepared, hulled Ontario strawberries in pretty dessert dishes or stemmed glasses.

Champagne glasses are super for this. Pour chilled Ontario sauterne over the berries. Garnish with fresh mint. Serve immediately.

Dipped Strawberries

1 quart Ontario strawberries
1 cup commercial sour cream
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice
brown sugar

Rinse strawberries. Leave hulls on, (they're pretty!) Place in a bowl. Combine sour cream, lemon rind and juice in a small bowl. Put brown sugar in another bowl.

To serve, pass the bowls. Allow each person to dip his own strawberries in the sour cream mixture, then in brown sugar, then eat individually, hulling each one.

Strawberry Fondue

6 ounces semi-sweet chocolate chips
20 large marshmallows
1/2 cup 35% cream
1 tablespoon brandy

Place chocolate chips, marshmallows and cream in the top of double boiler. Set over hot, not boiling water and heat, stirring until chocolate and marshmallows melt and blend with cream. Stir in brandy. Keep warm. To serve, transfer to ceramic fondue dish. Place in centre of table. Pass a pretty bowl of rinsed, stemmed Ontario strawberries. Let each person serve himself to strawberries. Ask each person to dunk one strawberry at a time into the chocolate. Yummy!

WHAT TO EXPECT

T-Shirt Tips For Cheap Chic

Good quality cotton T's survive endless washing, fit into any lifestyle, move easily from morning to night, and provide an inexpensive way to achieve the look you want. While tank tops and camisoles are bareer than ever this year, classic T's are softer, less structured, and sport loosely rolled up sleeves.

At least one of these new tops is going to find its way into your summer wardrobe, so here are some tips from Tric-Trac designer, Phyllis Keitlen:

- Slide it over slim pants, a skirt, or a bikini.
- Wear it loose or rope-belted.
- Accessorize it with a thin gold chain, or a cotton scarf.
- Layer it over a tank top or turtleneck.

Bill Smiley Why I hate June

June is not my favourite month of the year. Maybe it's because on the second day of that month, about 80 years ago, it seems like, I was ushered into the world, somebody gave me a slap on the bum, I started to cry, and I've been a bit jaundiced about June ever since.

It certainly has some advantages over, say January. There are no ten-foot icicles hanging from the roof. You don't have to fight your way through snowdrifts to get to the car. But it has its own plagues.

As I write, a three-inch caterpillar is working his way across the windowsill to say hello. I know he'll be a beautiful butterfly any day, but last night I stepped on his brother, in my bare feet and the dark, on the way to the bathroom. Ever try to get squashed caterpillar from between your toes?

No, I don't live in a treehouse. The little devils come up from the basement, or through a hole in the screen. And they have friends and relatives. Just as I typed that sentence, a black ant, about the size of a mouse, scuttled across the floor and under a chair. He looked big enough to carry off one of my shoes and masticate it in a quiet corner.

Insolent starlings strut about my back lawn, scaring the decent birds away, when they are not trying to get into my attic through a hole the squirrels have made, or pooping all over my car, as it sits under a maple tree, which is also making large deposits of gook and gum on the vehicle.

Wasps and bumble bees are as numerous and noisy and welcome as gatecrashers at a cocktail party, if you dare take a drink into the back yard for a peaceful libation.

If it's humid and stinking hot, as June so often is, it's like courting carnivorous, whatever that is, to sit out in the evening. The ruddy mosquitoes turn you into a writhing, slapping, squirming bundle of neurotic frustration in ten minutes.

Go up north into cottage country and you wish you were back home with the mosquitoes. The blackflies up there can be heard roaring with laughter as they slurp up that guaranteed fly dope you've plastered yourself with, and come back for more. They'll leave you bloody. And not unbowed.

I have never yet seen, or heard of, a June when the weather was right for the crops. It's either too wet and hot for the hay, or too dry and hot for the strawberries, or too cold for the garden to get a good start.

Only dang thing in June is any good for is the grass you have to mow. Stick your head out some evening, with your mosquito net firmly in place, and you can hear the stuff growing.

June is murder for young mothers, trying to get their infants to go to sleep at their usual hour. What kid of two in his right mind is going to settle down in bed at eight o'clock, with the sun streaming through the drapes, the birds yacking at each other, and the teenagers, who have come alive after a six-month's torpor, squealing their tires at the corner?

For mothers of slightly older kids, it's even worse. On a nice, cold, January night, they can feed the kids and stick them in front of the TV set, or nag them toward their homework. No problem.

On an evening in June, those same kids, from six to sixteen, take off after supper like salmon heading up to spawn, and have to be hollered for, whistled for, and sometimes rounded up physically, with threats, after dark.

In January, even the hardy teenager will hesitate to venture out into the swirling black of a winter night. In June, the same bird will hesitate to venture in from the balmy black of a summer night, where sex is as palpable as the nose on his face, and probably a better shape.

June is a time when the land is infested with not only tent caterpillars and other pests, but an even worse virulence of creeps: politicians, with instant remedies for old-age ills. I'll take a plague of tent caterpillars any day.

June is also the time for another of the institutions that tend to maltreat the inmates: marriage. Why anybody, of either sex, wants to get hitched in sticky old, sweaty old June, with all its concomitants, I'll never know. But they do, and people go around with vacuous looks talking about June brides and such. (No offence to my niece Lynn, who is getting married this month. Boy, that'll cost me.)

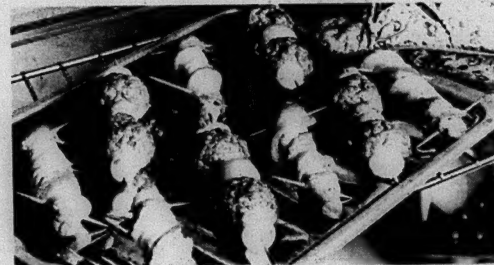

June is a month when all the ridiculous organizations with which we surround ourselves have their last meeting before the summer break. It's too hot. The turkeys who always talk too much at meetings seem to go insane because they'll have to shut up for two months, and go on until midnight.

June is a time when people go out of their minds and buy boats and cottages and holidays they can't afford and new cars for the big trip and fancy barbecues that will rust in the backyard all winter.

June is the month when I have to sweat in a boiling building through my most unproductive work as a teacher: counting books, ordering books, fiddling marks, planning course outlines, when I could be playing golf or drinking beer or doing something worthwhile.

Holland cheese barbecue ideas

FRESH air in the summer can make for hearty appetites. Here are some ideas that are easy to prepare and good to eat. Because imported Holland Cheese is completely sealed by a protective coating of wax, it will travel well to the cottage, camping trips and family picnics.

SURPRISE KABOBS

1 pound lean ground beef
salt and pepper
1/2 pound imported Gouda cheese cut in 1 inch cubes
Cocktail onions
Cherry tomatoes
Mushrooms
Wooden skewers
Season ground beef with salt and pepper. Take about 1 tablespoon in your hand. Push cheese cube in centre and mold meat around, shaping well. Place two balls on skewers alternately with vegetables. Make sure cherry tomato is between meat for faster cooking. Makes 6 kabobs. Great with baked beans and tossed green salad.

FANCY FRANK

1 medium tomato, peeled and chopped
1/4 cup shredded imported Edam or Gouda
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1/4 teaspoon basil
8 slices side bacon
Slit wieners lengthwise, cutting almost to ends and only 3/4 of the way through. Combine tomato, cheese and seasoning. Stuff wieners, wrap each securely with a bacon strip. Hold in place with toothpicks. Place, filling side down, on grill. Barbecue over medium low coals, turning often for about 10 to 15 minutes or till filling is hot and bacon crisp. Serve in hot dog buns or small submarine rolls. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

TIPS ON RE-SIDING YOUR HOME

If you are getting tired of the effort—and expense—of repainting the outside of your home every three or four years, consider giving it a facelift with new siding that goes on right over your old peeling walls.

In addition to eliminating periodic painting costs, insulated aluminum siding can also reduce your fuel use in most parts of the U.S.

But, put as much thought into redecorating the outside of your home as you would put into furnishing the inside.

Color is in these days—shades like avocado, barn red, chocolate brown, colonial blue, and autumn gold will make your home look cozy and snug. If you have a ranch-type home, you might want to accentuate its long and low lines by using horizontal siding in a color lighter than the roof.

Play down the architectural extravagances of your Victorian gingerbread castle, but keep its charm—use white horizontal siding and accentuate with chocolate brown shutters.

Decorators advise never to use more than three colors on the outside of your home. For instance, if you have a brown roof, you might think about re-siding with a barn red siding, brown shutters, white trim around the windows, and a brown-and-white front door.

decorate your home, while vinyl plastic is available mostly in white and pastels.

Aluminum siding has been on the market for 30 years and is today the best-selling siding available. More than 10-million homes have been re-sided with aluminum. Six-times more aluminum siding is sold than any other re-siding material.

There are a number of reasons for this. Probably its biggest selling point is its time-proven low maintenance and its wide range of styles, colors, and accessories. Aluminum siding comes in durable baked-on finishes and is easy to clean.

A new siding on the market is vinyl, a plastic material that has been used as plumbing pipe for many years. Because vinyl plastic has only recently come from "underground" plumbing into siding, the full effects of the brittleness caused by sunlight exposure of vinyl plastic are not yet known.

Remember that, although siding looks attractive for many years, all types may change a bit in color over a period of time once they are on your home and exposed to the elements. This is called normal weathering.

This is true of vinyl plastic siding (which is a "solid color coating") as well as of color coating applied to aluminum, hardboard, and steel. Most siding is warranted by the manufacturer for 20 or more years. Be sure to ask your dealer for a copy of the warranty and read it carefully.

For a free copy of a new 16-page booklet to help you pick the best type siding for your home write to the

Siding Information Bureau at 750 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10017 and ask for a free copy of "A Homeowner's Guide to Choosing Siding."

Fitness is fun. Try some.
